Dept. of Mechanical and Industrial Engineering, 1994 A Guide to Undergraduate Science Course and Laboratory Improvements National Science Foundation (U.S.). Directorate for Science Education, 1979 Annual Report North Dakota. Board of Administration, 1928 Writing Like An Engineer Dorothy A. Winsor, 2013-11-05 Comprised of a study spanning over five years this text looks at four engineering co op students as they write at work Since the contributors have a foot in both worlds work and school the book should appeal to people who are interested in how students learn to write as well as people who are interested in what writing at work is like Primarily concerned with whether engineers see their writing as rhetorical or persuasive the study attempts to describe the students changing understanding of what it is they do when they write Two features of engineering practice that have particular impact on the extent to which engineers recognize persuasion are identified a reverence for data and the hierarchical structure of the organizations in which engineering is most commonly done Both of these features discourage an open recognition of persuasion Finally the study shows that the four co op students learned most of what they knew about writing at work by engaging in situated practice in the workplace rather than by attending formal classes Lifelong Learning for Engineers and Scientists in the Information Age Ashok Naimpally, Hema Ramachandran, Caroline Smith, 2012 The book provides a comprehensive review of lifelong learning information literacy and internships including assessment techniques for lifelong learning teamwork and information literacy as defined by the ABET criteria It also discusses critical thinking skills for scientists and engineers and their role in lifelong learning in the information age It will be invaluable for Engineering educators including librarians interested in developing programs to satisfy the ABET criteria for lifelong learning and teamwork Engineering librarians developing programs and assessment tools for information literacy using online databases and the Internet Engineering educators and career advisors interested in developing internship programs in engineering An internship is defined as work performed in an industrial setting that provides practical experience and adds value to the classroom and research learning processes This book will cover all aspects involved in administering internship and cooperative education programs Employers of interns will find useful information on needs assessment program development evaluation and the importance of lifelong learning and Science and engineering educators interested in developing critical thinking skills in their students as an aid to developing lifelong learning skills especially given the challenges in the digital age Provides information on how to develop programs and assessment tools for information literacy Describes how to set up an internship program Develops critical thinking skills
