Freya Stark In Persia The Freya Stark Archives Series:

Freya Stark in Persia Malise Ruthven, Freya Stark, St. Antony's College (University of Oxford). Middle East Archives, 1994 Unlike Syria and Iraq where Europeans were well protected Persia in 1930 was an independent country only recently recovering from years of lawlessness Despite its apparent dangers Freya Stark's romantic soul found an affinity with people who seemed to prefer poverty with freedom to sub colonial affluence Before venturing into Mazanderan Dame Freya spent a month in Hamadan She set out for Alamut in the middle of May heading for the castle of Hassan i Sabbah She returned to the valleys the following year in August 1931 to explore the castle of Lamasur one of the last of the Ismaili strongholds She sojourned briefly in Tehran in September 1931 before the prospect of buried treasure took her to Luristan In March 1943 while employed by the Ministry of Information she was invited to spend her leave with Lord Wavell in Tehran She received permission to use an official car to make the journey from Delhi and set off from Quetta She travelled for several days across Baluchistan to Meshed from there a detour of some 1200 miles took her to Tehran by way of Kerman and at last allowed her to visit Isfahan

The Historian, 1994 Britain, Egypt, and Iraq during World War II Stefanie Wichhart, 2021-08-26 This book explores the tumultuous war years through the lens of the British Embassies in Cairo and Baghdad demonstrating the role that the Second World War played in shaping the political and social map of the contemporary Middle East The war served as a catalyst for seismic changes in Arab society and the emergence of new movements that provided powerful critiques of British intervention and of the governments that facilitated it making the war a critical turning point in Britain's empire in the Middle East

Conversations on Cinema De Gaetano Roberto, Slavoj Žižek, Paul Schrader, Jacques Rancière, Jean-Luc Nancy, Paolo Jedlowski, Werner Herzog, Angela Ricci Lucchi, Yervant Gianikian, Roberto Esposito, Georges Didi-Huberman, Jean-Louis Comolli, Julio Bressane, 2013-09-18 Eleven conversations taken from as many issues of Fata Morgana Eleven conversations which synthesize the project behind the journal which was born in spring 2006 At the time it was decided against having an editorial comment because of the conviction that if the journal was going to succeed it would speak for itself However the time has come to say a few words A journal is first and foremost a collective gesture whose outline creates a field The gesture made by Fata Morgana which at the beginning was only an intuition and then it slowly developed is the same one that makes cinema a place and an opportunity to think about contemporaneity It is not simply about what happens around us it is what emerges from within the events which gather around a concept from the concept of B o s issue No 0 to the concept of the Sacred issue No 10 In this perspective cinema needs to be interpreted and understood as having its own un specific specificity It needs to be interpreted and understood in its principal form where it is capable of categorizing its un specificity in other words its autonomous form where it can categorize its heteronomy This means thinking about a concept starting from cinema and thinking about cinema starting from the concept Thus cinema becomes a special place and an opportunity to think about the universality of the concept as a marker of contemporaneity and the concept becomes the perspective from which to conceive cinema By avoiding the double edged sword of a sterile specificity or of a self serving un specificity cinema becomes the quintessential way of thinking about modernity where autonomy of aesthetical form is affirmed in its heteronomy and its individuation imposes itself as a dis individuation Shots in the Dark Jadwiga Biskupska,Sara B. Castro,2025-09-02 Brings together geographies and methodologies often kept apart by the difficulties of researching such a broad ranging topic as the war Shots in the Dark offers cutting edge scholarship across different subfields in World War II history revealing new insights into how this crucial conflict was planned experienced and fought Twelve chapters demonstrate the broad scope of wartime innovation and how the war functioned as a global turning point driving change at all levels of human society from government institutions to individual identities Contributors collaborated in a vibrant workshops series sponsored by the North American branch of the Second World War Research Group SWWRGNA an organization that emerged to nurture scholarship on the global war and unite scholars fragmented in narrower regional and methodological stovepipes to consider the war as a whole The SWWRGNA and this volume showcase the work of diverse historians across subfields operational cultural gender social intelligence and diplomatic history This approach exposes the Second World War as a catalyst for overlapping global changes that revolutionized the world after 1945 These scholars reveal continuities and parallels in wartime experiences that would remain invisible in narrowly focused projects The volume establishes three frameworks for understanding and interpreting changes the war provoked 1 institutional adaptation 2 totalization or the militarization of civilians and 3 cultural transformation Each of the three frameworks is explored from four vantage points Geographies are deliberately contrasted within each framework to examine the broad scope of that level of war driven change

Women in Photography International Archive ,1997 British Missions around the Gulf, 1575-2005 Hugh Arbutnott, Terence Clark, Richard Muir, 2008-07-17 Recent events have once again focused international attention on the volatile politics of the Gulf region This new book by three former British ambassadors all with long service in the region demonstrates the importance of the Gulf for Britain from the days of Elizabeth I to the present It tells the story through the life and works of the British diplomats and consuls and the missions in which they worked of Britain's involvement first for trade and later for strategic purposes in the four key regional states of Iran Iraq Kuwait and Oman With wit and insight the book traces the origins of today's problems from the Ottoman and Persian empires to the 1991 Gulf War and its aftermath Those who know the region will find this a refreshing new slant on an old story while those new to the subject will enjoy the mixture of politics and personalities ably described and analysed

Blood, Oil and the Axis John Broich, 2019-05-07 An almost absurdly colorful history of the WWII battle for the Levant In places the material is like Casablanca meets The English Patient The Wall Street Journal In the spring of 1941 the Allied forces had one last hope that the Axis would run through its fuel supply In Blood Oil and the Axis historian John Broich tells the vital story of Iraq and the Levant during this most pivotal time of the war Four Iraqi generals staged a pro German coup in Iraq they established military cooperation between the Axis and the Middle East The Allies responded with an improvised and unlikely coalition Palestinian and Jordanian Arabs Australians American and British soldiers Free French Foreign Legionnaires and Jewish Palestinians All shared a common desire to quash the formation of an Axis state in the region Taking readers from a bombed out Fallujah to Baghdad to Damascus this definitive chronicle features numerous memorable figures including Jack Hasey a young American who fought with the Free French Foreign Legion Freya Stark a famous travel writer turned government agent and even Roald Dahl a young Royal Air Force recruit and future author of beloved children's books

Playing the Game Penelope Tuson, 2003-10-24 The lives of the Western women who lived worked and travelled in Arabia in the first half of the 20th century have been largely ignored by historians Penelope Tuson tells the stories of these women Sometimes flamboyant and unconventional sometimes conservative and conformist all of them wanted in some way to be a part of British imperial life Some were prepared to play the game others were not and could even be regarded as difficult and dangerous Playing the Game explores how these women negotiated power and position in the Empire and how conventional female roles were defined by the masculine perspectives and hierarchies of imperial authority often with the collusion of the women themselves actively but also sometimes despite their attempts to subvert the stereotypes
