Humanity in God's Image Claudia Welz, 2016-08-18 How can we in our times understand the biblical concept that human beings have been created in the image of an invisible God This is a perennial but increasingly pressing question that lies at the heart of theological anthropology Humanity in God s Image An Interdisciplinary Exploration clarifies the meaning of this concept traces different Jewish and Christian interpretations of being created in God s image and reconsiders the significance of the imago Dei in a post Holocaust context As normative counterfactual notions human dignity and the imago Dei challenge us to see more Claudia Welz offers an interdisciplinary exploration of theological and ethical visions of the invisible By analysing poetry and art Welz exemplifies human self understanding in the interface between the visual and the linguistic The content of the imago Dei cannot be defined apart from the image carrier an embodied creature Compared to verbal visual and mental images how does this creature as a living image refer to God like a metaphor a mimetic mirror or an elusive trace Combining hermeneutical and phenomenological perspectives with philosophy of religion and philosophy of language semiotics art history and literary studies Welz regards the imago Dei as a complex sign that is at once iconic indexical and symbolical pointing beyond itself

Projected Art History Doris Berger, 2014-05-15 Biopics on artists influence the popular perception of artists lives and work Projected Art History highlights the narrative structure and images created in the film genre of biopics in which an artist s life is being dramatized and embodied by an actor Concentrating on the two case studies Basquiat 1996 and Pollock 2000 the book also discusses larger issues at play such as how postwar American art history is being mediated for mass consumption This book bridges a gap between art history film studies and popular culture by investigating how the film genre of biopics adapts written biographies It identifies the functionality of the biopic genre and explores its implication for a popular art history that is projected on the big screen for a mass audience In-visibility Anna Vind,Iben Damgaard,Kirsten Busch Nielsen,Sven Rune Havsteen,Christopher B.
