Going Where Im Coming From Memoirs Of American Youth:

Going where I'm Coming from Anne Mazer, 1995 Fourteen young immigrants and individuals from minority cultural backgrounds describe what it is like growing up in America Going Where I'm Coming From Anne Mazer, 1995 No More "Us" and "Them" Lesley Roessing, 2012-06-07 It is imperative that teachers build community in their classrooms and across their academic teams and grades in order to make school a safe and supportive place for adolescents Teachers must help their students acknowledge that they belong to a group together that they are part of a we or us and that any differences divergent talents backgrounds experiences cultures and skills only make us stronger and better No More Us and Them delineates what steps educators can take to create an atmosphere where adolescent students feel accepted included and valuable to themselves and to their peers The goal of this book is to change adolescent attitudes to lead to not just acceptance and tolerance but toward an expansion of us and respect for their classmates that will serve to spread an even wider net of respect This book provides ideas for lessons and activities that can be integrated into existing curricula and that meet a variety of content area standards in language arts social studies science mathematics foreign languages physical education art and music while also proposing ideas for advisory or homeroom periods and class team and grade gatherings to build respect in our classrooms our schools and our communities Reading Programs for Young Adults Martha Seif Simpson, 2015-11-16 School and public libraries often provide programs and activities for children in preschool through the sixth grade but there is little available to young adults For them libraries become a place for work the place to research an assignment or find a book for a report but the thought of the library as a place for enjoyment is lost So how do librarians recapture the interest of teenagers This just might be the answer Here you will find theme based units such as Cartoon Cavalcade Log On at the Library Go in Style Cruising the Mall Space Shots Teens on TV and 44 others that are designed for young adults Each includes a display idea suggestions for local sponsorship of prizes a program game to encourage participation 10 theme related activities curriculum tie in activities sample questions for use in trivia games or scavenger hunts ideas for activity sheets a bibliography of related works and a list of theme related films The units are highly flexible allowing any public or school library to adapt them to their particular needs Bridging the Gap Lesley Roessing, 2014-07-30 One of the most popular literary genres memoir can provide literary and literacy access to reluctant adolescent readers and writers and help bridge the achievement gap by motivating students to read more critically and write more meaningfully about what matters most to them The introspective nature of memoir helps students learn about themselves and connect with their environment or community while also meeting a variety of Common Core standards In this way memoirs and creative nonfiction can provide a bridge between fiction and nonfiction reading narrative and informative writing reading and writing and can afford a way in to literacy for all adolescents Special features of the book examples of multiple mentor texts in each chapter teacher examples with think aloud exercises a variety of student samples from diverse learnersactivities to engage all learnersan appendix of teacher resources a reference list of over 150 full length memoirs for grades 5 12 for whole class book club or independent readinga list of writing resources for students and teachers12 full size reproducible materials for teacher and student usea variety of reading writing speaking and listening strategies and activitiesacross disciplines applications and adaptations for diverse learnersdaily writing focus lessons in gradual release responsibility formatCommon Core State Standard connections at the end of each chapter

Indigenous Cities Laura M. Furlan,2017-11 In Indigenous Cities Laura M Furlan demonstrates that stories of the urban experience are essential to an understanding of modern Indigeneity She situates Native identity among theories of diaspora cosmopolitanism and transnationalism by examining urban narratives such as those written by Sherman Alexie Janet Campbell Hale Louise Erdrich and Susan Power along with the work of filmmakers and artists In these stories Native peoples navigate new surroundings find and reformulate community and maintain and redefine Indian identity in the postrelocation era These narratives illuminate the changing relationship between urban Indigenous peoples and their tribal nations and territories and the ways in which new cosmopolitan bonds both reshape and are interpreted by tribal identities Though the majority of American Indigenous populations do not reside on reservations these spaces regularly define discussions and literature about Native citizenship and identity Meanwhile conversations about the shift to urban settings often focus on elements of dispossession subjectivity and assimilation Furlan takes a critical look at Indigenous fiction from the last three decades to present a new way of looking at urban experiences one that explains mobility and relocation as a form of resistance In these stories Indian bodies are not bound by state imposed borders or confined to Indian Country as it is traditionally conceived Furlan demonstrates that cities have always been Indian land and Indigenous peoples have always been cosmopolitan and urban
