Meditations from the Classics David R. Denny,2023-12-08 There s a delightful melody in the ancient voices as they travel through time s narrow door I hear them best on my front porch rocker that faces an ocean marsh There beneath curious stars the orchestration emerges mingling with moonlight tides Sometimes Socrates sings the high notes while Thucydides pulls the bass line Aristophanes rallies his chorus and Caesar charges over a hilltop near the dark Teutoburg Forest There are times when I struggle with the faint lyrics but with patience the scenes begin to breathe again Hurry It s midnight and the curtain is opening The actors twirl their swords and fluff their flowing robes Sophocles is quieting the theater requesting our attention Oedipus now an aged actor leans upon his daughter Antigone His face glowers from twenty years of wandering beneath ghastly burdens and past failures Slowly they climb a rocky path that leads to the edge of a forest His words still resonate for us today with a vibrant relevance as do all thirty three ancient authors in Meditations from the Classics

quantity but also their diversity and interest Fine art and architecture here combine unpredictably with the functional the curious and the naïve from prehistory to the present day to form an unsung national museum which presents its contents in an everyday setting without curators or formal displays Because church treasures usually remain in the buildings they were created for properly interpreted they tell from thousands of local perspectives the history of the nation its people and their changing religious observance John Goodall's weekly series in Country Life has celebrated particular objects in or around churches that are of outstanding artistic social or historical importance to underline both the intrinsic interest of parish churches and the insights that they and their contents offer into English history of every period Parish Church Treasures incorporates and significantly expands this material to tell afresh the remarkable history of the parish church It celebrates the special character of churches as places to visit whilst providing an authoritative and up to date history at a time when the use and upkeep of these buildings and the care of their contents is highly contentious
