Author Joni M Hand sheds light on the reasons women of the Valois courts from the mid fourteenth to the mid sixteenth century commissioned devotional manuscripts Visually interpreting the non text elements portraits coats of arms and marginalia as well as the texts Hand explores how the manuscripts were used to express the women's religious political and or genealogical concerns This study is arranged thematically according to the method in which the owner is represented Recognizing the considerable influence these women had on the appearance of their books Hand interrogates how the manuscripts became a means of self expression beyond the realm of devotional practice She reveals how noblewomen used their private devotional manuscripts as vehicles for self definition to reflect familial political and social concerns and to preserve the devotional and cultural traditions of their families Drawing on documentation of women's book collections that has been buried within the inventories of their fathers husbands or sons Hand explores how these women contributed to the cultural and spiritual character of the courts and played an integral role in the formation and evolution of the royal libraries in Northern Europe      Flemish Manuscript Painting in Context Elizabeth Morrison, Thomas Kren, 2007-01-08 A companion to dress during the reign of Charles the Bold Texts include Lorne Campbell's research into Rogier van der Weyden's work as an illuminator Nancy Turner's investigation of materials and methods of painting in Flemish manuscripts and trenchant commentary by Jonathan Alexander and James Marrow on the state of current research on Flemish illumination A recurring theme is the structure of collaboration in manuscript production The essays also reveal an important new patron of manuscript illumination and address the role of illuminated manuscripts at the Burgundian court A series of biographies of

In the Shadow of Burgundy Gerard Nijsten, 2004-02-26 In recent years the study of medieval courts has become a flourishing field The courts of kings and popes or of the Burgundian dukes have usually attracted most attention This book offers by contrast a wide ranging study of a little known medium sized court that of Guelders in the Low Countries Guelders offers an excellent vantage point for the study of European late medieval court culture It was surrounded by the vast territories of the dukes of Burgundy and it felt the growing power of the Valois dukes yet the duchy managed to remain independent until 1473 Rich archival sources including a long and virtually unbroken series of ducal accounts reveal much about the rise of territorial or proto national awareness and about the role of the court in this process The book also conveys the striking cultural and political richness of the court poised between French and German spheres of influence

Medieval Iconography John B. Friedman, Jessica M. Wegmann, 2021-11-18 First published in 1998 the present volume aims to help the researcher locate visual motifs whether in medieval art or in literature and to understand how they function in yet other medieval literary or artistic works Rubrics, Images and Indulgences in late Medieval Netherlandish Manuscripts Kathryn M. Rudy, 2016-11-28 What role did images play in the mania for indulgences during the decades prior to the Protestant Reformation Rubrics Images and Indulgences in Late Medieval Netherlandish

Manuscripts considers how indulgences the remission of time in Purgatory were used to market certain images Conversely images helped to spread indulgences such as those attached to the Virgin in sole and the Mass of St Gregory Images also began depicting the effects of indulgences souls escaping Purgatory Drawing on numerous unpublished sources Kathryn M Rudy demonstrates how rubrics modified behaviour and expectations around image centred devotion Her work is the first to analyse systematically the way that indulgences and images interacted indeed shaped each other prior to the Reformation

The Use of Models in Medieval Book Painting Monika E. Müller, 2014-06-02 Until recently the phenomenon of copying in medieval book painting has been considered mainly in terms of the reconstruction of pictorial sources used for the composition or iconography of miniatures initials or decorative elements Although historic sources only rarely mention the circumstances of manuscripts production one particular widely accepted hypothesis has prevailed until now according to which artists used model drawings or sketch books with the aim of facilitating the production of copies and the creation of new picture cycles However it is no longer sufficient to regard medieval book painting in its diachronic dimension only through these lenses Rather one should consider Robert W Scheller s critique that When using the model hypothesis one must always be mindful of other factors which are known to have played a part in the transmission of art in the Middle Ages The contributions of this volume deal with these issues by focusing on book painting between the 10th and 16th centuries

Landscape and Religion from Van Eyck to Rembrandt Boudewijn Bakker, 2017-07-05 Offering a corrective to the common scholarly characterization of seventeenth century Dutch landscape painting as modern realistic and secularized Boudewijn Bakker here explores the long history and purpose of landscape in Netherlandish painting In Bakker s view early Netherlandish as well as seventeenth century Dutch painting can be understood only in the context of the intellectual climate of the day Concentrating on landscape painting as the careful depiction of the visible world Bakker s analysis takes in the thought of figures seldom consulted by traditional art historians such as the fifteenth century philosopher Dionysius the Carthusian the sixteenth century religious reformer John Calvin the geographer Abraham Ortelius and the seventeenth century poet Constantijn Huygens Probing their conception of nature as the first Book of God and art as its representation Bakker identifies a world view that has its roots in the traditional Christian perceptions of God and creation Landscape and Religion from Van Eyck to Rembrandt imposes a new layer of interpretation on the richly varied landscapes of the great masters In so doing it adds a new dimension to the insights offered by modern art historical research Further Bakker s explorations of early modern art and literature provide essential background for any student of European intellectual history

Reading in the Wilderness Jessica Brantley,2008-09-15 Just as twenty first century technologies like blogs and wikis have transformed the once private act of reading into a public enterprise devotional reading experiences in the Middle Ages were dependent upon an oscillation between the solitary and the communal In Reading in the Wilderness Jessica Brantley uses tools from both literary criticism and art history to illuminate Additional MS 37049 an illustrated Carthusian miscellany housed in the British Library This revealing artifact Brantley argues closes the gap between group spectatorship and private study in late medieval England Drawing on the work of W J T Mitchell Michael Camille and others working at the image text crossroads Reading in the Wilderness addresses the manuscript s texts and illustrations to examine connections between reading and performance within the solitary monk s cell and also outside Brantley reimagines the medieval codex as a site where the meanings of images and words are performed both publicly and privately in the act of reading
