Modernist Novel Elizabeth Pender,2024-09-30 Considers relationships between modernist literature and literary criticism and argues that new modernist fiction can bring with it new modes of reading Considers how close reading may change as the study of modernism changes to include recently recovered fiction Asks what reading meant for selected critics of modernist literature around 1930 and around 1960 Offers readings of three new modernist novels Djuna Barnes s Nightwood John Rodker s Adolphe 1920 and Mina Loy s Insel Considers key cultural moments of the novels composition and reception Extends the questions about reading raised by these novels to Samuel Beckett s Comment c est How It Is and Jean Rhys s short stories Since the late twentieth century new understandings of modernism have come with new attention to a range of writers Yet if the academic study of modernism took shape around an older narrower selection of writers and works how can its modes of reading be relevant to newly recovered modernist writing This book considers how close reading may change as the subjects of literary study change Elizabeth Pender asks what reading meant for critics of modernist literature around 1930 and around 1960 and then what close reading might look like now for three new modernist novels Djuna Barnes s Nightwood John Rodker s Adolphe 1920 and Mina Loy s Insel tend to resist some of the strategies of reading that helped construct a narrowed modernist canon at mid century such as the pursuit of coherence These novels offer new thinking about the temporality of reading style and the ethics of narration Reading these novels now suggests that other new modernist fiction too may require revisions to vocabularies with which modernist literature has sometimes been read Edmond Jaloux Marthe Rosenfeld,1972 The Lyrical Novel Ralph Freeman,2015-12-08 The author in defining the genre of lyrical fiction separates a type of fiction that can be legitimately viewed as poetry from other narrative types The lyrical novelist uses fictional devices to find an aesthetic expression for experience achieving an effect most frequently seen in dreams picaresques and allegories Analyzing representative novels by Hermann Hesse Andre Gide and Virginia Woolf Ralph Freedman focuses on the problem of self consciousness His findings are directly applicable to much twentieth century fiction

Columbia Dictionary of Modern European Literature Jean Albert Bédé, William Benbow Edgerton, 1980 With more than 1800 critical entries on the writers and literatures of 33 languages this work presents the entire range of modern European writing from the symbolist and modernist works rooted in the last decades of the nineteenth century through the avant garde and existentialist movement to Barthes Blanchot Breton and continental thought pertinent today

The French Writers' War, 1940-1953 Gisèle Sapiro, 2014-04-23 The French Writers War 1940 1953 is a remarkably thorough account of French writers and literary institutions from the beginning of the German Occupation through France's passage of amnesty laws in the early 1950s To understand how the Occupation affected French literary production as a whole Gis le Sapiro uses Pierre Bourdieu's notion of the literary field Sapiro surveyed the career trajectories and literary and political positions of 185 writers She found that writers' stances in relation to the Vichy regime are best explained in terms of institutional and structural factors rather than ideology Examining four major French literary institutions from the conservative French Academy to the Comité national des écrivains a group formed in 1941 to resist the Occupation she chronicles the institutions' histories before turning to the ways that they influenced writers' political positions Sapiro shows how significant institutions and individuals within France's literary field exacerbated their loss of independence or found ways of resisting during the war and Occupation as well as how they were perceived after Liberation
