College Voices Clare Davidson,2018-11-30 College Voices tells the story of Christ s College Aberdeen a theological college of the Church of Scotland from its beginnings in the 1840s to the present day This is a rich and colourful story vividly told and peopled with many fascinating characters and stories Written by the College s administrator who saw how the personalities of teachers and students alike shone through the formal language of minute books and other records College Voices relates how the College grew and evolved alongside the history not only of Scotland but of the world It demonstrates the effects on ministerial training of two world wars and is honest about times when the College was threatened by closure and scandal Dying from Improvement Sherene Razack,2015-01-01 Razack s powerful critique of the Canadian settler state and its legal system speaks to many of today s most pressing issues of social justice

The Songs of Sappho Sappho,Marion Mills Miller,1925 Carbon Management National Research Council,Division on Earth and Life Studies,Board on Chemical Sciences and Technology,Chemical Sciences Roundtable,2001-08-15 Considerable international concerns exist about global climate change and its relationship to the growing use of fossil fuels Carbon dioxide is released by chemical reactions that are employed to extract energy from fuels and any regulatory policy limiting the amount of CO₂ that could be released from sequestered sources or from energy generating reactions will require substantial involvement of the chemical sciences and technology R D community Much of the public debate has been focused on the question of whether global climate change is occurring and if so whether it is anthropogenic but these questions were outside the scope of the workshop which instead focused on the question of how to respond to a possible national policy of carbon management Previous discussion of the latter topic has focused on technological economic and ecological aspects and on earth science challenges but the fundamental science has received little attention This workshop was designed to gather information that could inform the Chemical Sciences Roundtable in its discussions of possible roles that the chemical sciences community might play in identifying and addressing underlying chemical questions Implications of the Euro Mark Baimbridge, Brian Burkitt, Philip Whyman, 2006-05-02 To date critical analysis of the EMU project has largely been advanced from the centre right spectrum of British politics Comparable questions from the centre left have failed to find a coherent voice Although the European fault line cannot be characterized as a neat Left Right issue there are noticeable divisions in opinion across British business the trade union movement and within the Labour Party Offering a unique insight into this key debate from the centre left eurosceptic view point this book provides a rigorous analysis of all the salient economic and political issues of concern such as the economics of a single currency employment and social implications sovereignty political determination The arguments presented in this volume highlight the emergence of a coherent alternative to deepening economic integration as a platform to build a just and equitable society Contributions are drawn from leading academics trade union leaders and prominent politicians both from the Labour Party and the wider progressive Left in British politics This informative and thought provoking book will be indispensable reading for students and practitioners in economics politics and international relations as well as those interested in this highly contentious topic

"The" Historians' History of the World Henry Smith Williams, 1907 Breaking the Surface Douglass Whitfield Bailey, 2018 In Breaking the Surface Doug Bailey offers a radical alternative for understanding Neolithic houses providing much needed insight not just into prehistoric practice but into another way of doing archaeology Using his years of fieldwork experience excavating the early Neolithic pit houses of southeastern Europe Bailey exposes and elucidates a previously under theorized aspect of prehistoric pit construction the actions and consequences of digging defined as breaking the surface of the ground Breaking the Surface works through the consequences of this redefinition in order to redirect scholarship on the excavation and interpretation of pit houses in Neolithic Europe offering detailed critiques of current interpretations of these earliest European architectural constructions The work of the book is performed by juxtaposing richly detailed discussions of archaeological sites Etton and The Wilsford Shaft in the UK and Magura in Romania with the work of three artists who cut Ron Athey Gordon Matta Clark Lucio Fontana with deep and detailed examinations of the philosophy of holes the perceptual psychology of shapes and the linguistic anthropology of cutting and breaking words as well as with cultural diversity in framing spatial reference and through an examination of pre modern ungrounded ways of living Breaking the Surface is as much a creative act on its own in its mixture of work from disparate periods and regions its use of radical text interruption and its juxtaposition of text and imagery as it is an interpretive statement about prehistoric architecture Unflinching and exhilarating it is a major development in the growing subdiscipline of art archaeology Ancient Food Technology

Most,2022-09-01 Studies on the Derveni Papyrus volume II brings together two new editions of the first fragmentarily extant columns of the Derveni Papyrus and seven scholarly articles devoted to their interpretation The Derveni Papyrus is by far the most important textual discovery of the 20th century regarding early Greek philosophy religion exegetical theory and practice linguistic ideas and a host of other areas and issues But the editorial and interpretative history of this extraordinary document has been very checkered While the interpretation of the better preserved later columns is still highly controversial in many regards at least the text of those columns has by and large found a scholarly consensus but the editorial and interpretative situation with the worse preserved first columns is quite different This volume offers not one but two editions of the first columns by Richard Janko and by Valeria Piano given that it is not currently possible to agree upon a single edition and it explains clearly and in detail the papyrological problems and doubts that lead to these two editions making it possible for readers even non papyrologists to form their own informed judgment about the most likely readings to be adopted Furthermore it contains a number of articles by leading scholars on the Derveni Papyrus above all offering original solutions to the question of the relation between the earlier and the later columns but also
