Although recent scholarship has examined gender issues in Judaism with regard to texts rituals and the rabbinate there has been no full length examination of the education of Jewish children in day schools Drawing on studies in education social science and psychology as well as personal interviews the authors show how traditional mainly Orthodox day school education continues to re inscribe gender inequities and socialize students into unhealthy gender identities and relationships They address pedagogy school practices curricula and textbooks as along with single sex versus coed schooling dress codes sex education Jewish rituals and gender hierarchies in educational leadership Drawing a stark picture of the many ways both girls and boys are molded into gender identities the authors offer concrete resources and suggestions for transforming educational practice Washington Education Journal ,1926 Lilith ,1995 Women Who Would Be Rabbis Pamela Susan Nadell,1999-10-10 1998 National Jewish Book Award finalist Pamela S Nadell mines a wealth of untapped sources to bring us the first complete story of the courageous and committed Jewish women who passionately defended their right to equal religious participation through rabbinical ordination Bulletin - Bureau of Education United States. Bureau of Education,1906 Creativity and Conflict. Jews in Interwar Poland. Gershon C. Bacon,2025-07-29 Creativity and Conflict reexamines interwar Polish Jewish history through the author s collected essays and scholarly responses of leading academicians The work covers Polish Jewish relations Orthodox Judaism and the rabbinate women s history social history and historiography challenging prevalent myths about Jews in Poland Addresses and Proceedings - National Education Association of the United States National Education Association of the United States,1908 Vols for 1866 70 include Proceedings of the American Normal School Association 1866 69 include Proceedings of the National Association of School Superintendents 1870 includes Addresses and journal of proceedings of the Central College Association The Journal of Education Thomas Williams Bicknell,Albert Edward Winship,Anson Wood Belding,1876 Proceedings of the Annual Meeting - National Education Association of the United States National Education Association of the United States,1908 Jewish Sunday Schools Laura Yares,2023-08-01 73rd National Jewish Book Awards Finalist Charts how changes to Jewish education in the nineteenth century served as a site for the wholesale reimagining of Judaism itself The earliest Jewish Sunday schools were female led growing from one school in Philadelphia established by Rebecca Gratz in 1838 to an entire system that educated vast numbers of Jewish youth across the country These schools were modeled on Christian approaches to religious education and aimed to protect Jewish children from Protestant missionaries But debates soon swirled around the so called sorry state of feminized American Jewish supplemental learning and the schools were taken over by men within one generation of their creation It is commonly assumed that the critiques were accurate and that the early Jewish Sunday school was too feminized saccharine and dependent on Christian paradigms Tracing the development of these schools from their inception through the first decade of the twentieth century this book shows this was not the reality Jewish Sunday Schools argues that the work of the women who shepherded Jewish education in the early Jewish Sunday school had ramifications far outside the classroom Indeed we cannot understand the nineteenth century American Jewish experience and how American Judaism sought to sustain itself in an overwhelmingly Protestant context without looking closely at the development of these precursors to Hebrew School Jewish Sunday Schools provides an in depth portrait of a massively understudied movement that acted as a vital means by which American Jews explored and reconciled their religious and national identities
