EBOOK: Working With Older People And Their Families Mike Nolan,Nolan Davies,Gordon Grant,2001-02-16 Addressing the needs of older people and their carers is an essential element of both policy and practice in the fields of health and social care Recent developments promote a partnership and empowerment model in which the notion of person centred care figures prominently However what person centred care means and how it can be achieved is far from clear

Working with Older People and their Families combines extensive reviews of specialist literatures with new empirical data in an attempt at a synthesis of themes about making a reality of person centred care. Uniquely it seeks to unite the perspectives of older people, family and professional carers in promoting a genuinely holistic approach to the challenges of an ageing society. Working with Older People and their Families is recommended reading for students on health related courses such as nursing, medicine and the therapies. It is also of relevance to students of social work and social gerontology, researchers, managers and policy makers.

Enhancing Social Work Management Jane Aldgate, Janet Seden, Wendy Rose, 2007-01-15 This book looks at the nature of management in the human services sector and examines the prevailing issues affecting both the UK and USA. In this book contributors present both the problems and opportunities associated with the growth of management in the social care sector. This will be essential reading for social workers.

Public Management in Britain David Farnham, Sylvia Horton, 2015-12-31 This wide ranging text analyses the key developments and changes in the management of the major public services in Britain during the 1990s. Designed as a successor to the editors' highly successful Managing the New Public Services, the book places public management and in particular the Third Way as adopted by New Labour in its economic, political and historical context, including the impact of globalization and European integration. Extended case studies illustrate and highlight key stages in the transformation of management and the book concludes with an evaluation and critique of two decades of managerial reform and a discussion of the way forward in the new millennium.

Collaboration in Social Work Practice Jenny Weinstein, Colin Whittington, Tony Leiba, 2003-07-15 New or experienced social workers who are developing their collaborative practice will find this book to be an essential source of knowledge, skills and issues for reflection. The authors explain how practitioners in social care, health and related sectors can work more effectively together in line with current developments in policy and practice.

Building Relationships and Communicating with Young Children Karen Winter, 2010-12-03 This book provides a timely, invaluable resource and practical guide for social work students specialising in family and child care and for practitioners who have young children on their caseloads. Packed with real life examples of in depth interviews conducted with young children known to social services, it outlines what can be done to improve practice in this challenging and demanding area.
