Private Standards in the United States and European Union Markets for Fruit and Vegetables Cora Dankers, 2007-01-01 Over the past 20 years the number of standards and certification programmes for agricultural production has grown rapidly Producers who want to export are confronted not only by a plethora of import regulations but also within import countries by different niche markets for which specific requirements have to be fulfilled This report gives an overview of standards and certification programmes relevant for fruit and vegetable producers and exporters in developing countries with a focus on the markets of the United States of America and the European Union In addition it gives an overview of current analytical work on standards and trade reviews major assistance programmes related to standards and provides recommendations for further research OECD Trade Policy Studies Environmental Requirements and Market Access OECD, 2005-11-28

Investigating over twenty cases this OECD report examines how environmental requirements can become trade barriers for developing countries Standards and Agro-food Exports from Developing Countries Steven Jaffee, Spencer Henson, 2004 Successes in African Agriculture Haggblade, Steven, Hazell, Peter B. R., 2010-01-01 Sub Saharan Africa is one of the poorest regions of the world Because most Africans work in agriculture escaping such dire poverty depends on increased agricultural productivity to raise rural incomes lower food prices and stimulate growth in other economic sectors Per capita agricultural production in sub Saharan Africa has fallen however for much of the past half century Successes in African Agriculture investigates how to reverse this decline Instead of cataloging failures as many past studies have done this book identifies episodes of successful agricultural growth in Africa and identifies processes practices and policies for accelerated growth in the future The individual studies follow developments in among other areas the farming of maize in East and Southern Africa cassava across the middle belt of Africa cotton in West Africa horticulture in Kenya and dairying in East Africa Drawing on these case studies and on consultations with agricultural specialists and politicians from across sub Saharan Africa undertaken in collaboration with the African Union s New Partnership for Africa s Development the contributors identify two key determinants of positive agricultural performance agricultural research to provide more productive and sustainable technologies to farmers and a policy framework that fosters market incentives for increasing production. The contributors discuss how the public and private sectors can best coordinate the convergence of both factors. Given current concerns about global food security, this book provides timely and important resources to policymakers and development specialists concerned with reversing the negative trends in food insecurity and poverty in Africa.

The Global Governance of Food Sara R. Curran, April Linton, Abigail Cooke, Andrew Schrank, 2013-09-13 Food provides a particularly exciting and grounded research site for understanding the mechanisms governing global transactions in the 21st century. While food is intimately and fundamentally related to ecological and human well-being, food products now travel far-flung trade routes to reach us. International trade in food has tripled in value and quadrupled in volume since 1960, and tracing the production, movement, transformation, and consumption of food necessitates research that situates localities within global networks and facilitates our capacity to see the trees and the forest by zooming from the global to the local and back to the global. Our need for food is a constant; how we acquire food is a variable, and the production, commercialization, and consumption of food therefore offer an invaluable window onto the globalization of the world we inhabit. Food provides an ideal site for answering the fundamental questions of governance of central concern to globalization debates. This book presents recent and interdisciplinary scholarship about the variety of mechanisms governing global food systems and their impacts on human and environmental well-being. This book was previously published as a special issue of Globalizations.

Food Safety Standards in International Trade Onsando Osiemo, 2016-09-15 Food safety has become a major concern for consumers in the developed world and Europe in particular. This has been highlighted by the recent spate of food scares ranging from the BSE mad cow crisis to Chinese melamine contamination of baby formula. To ensure food safety throughout Europe, stringent food safety standards have been put in place from farm to fork. At the same time, poor African countries in the COMESA rely on their food exports to the European market to achieve their development goals yet have difficulty meeting the EU food safety standards. This book examines the impact of EU food safety standards on food imports from COMESA countries. It also critically examines both EU and COMESA food safety standards in light of the WTO SPS Agreement and the jurisprudence of the WTO panels and

Appellate Body The book makes ground breaking proposals on how the standards divide between the EU and the COMESA can be bridged and discusses the impact of EU food safety standards on food imports from poor African countries Food Safety and Quality Systems in Developing Countries André Gordon,2016-11-28 Food Safety and Quality Systems in Developing Countries Volume 2 Case Studies of Effective Implementation begins with a general overview of some of the issues and considerations that impact effective implementation of food safety and quality systems and put this in the context of some of the more noteworthy foodborne illness incidents in the recent past This book is a rich source of information about the practical application of food science and technology to solving food safety and quality problems in the food industry Students researchers professionals regulators and market access practitioners will find this book an irreplaceable addition to their arsenal as they deal with issues regarding food safety and quality for the products with which they are working Explores the keys to effective implementation of Food Safety and Quality Systems FSQS with a focus on selected specific food safety and quality challenges in developing countries and how these can be mitigated Provides a treasure trove of information on tropical foods and their production that have applicability to similar foods and facilities around the world Presents case studies examining national industry wide or firm level issues and potential solutions Food Security and Environmental Quality in the Developing World Rattan Lal,David O. Hansen,Norman Uphoff,2016-04-19 Can developing countries meet the food requirements of their growing populations without jeopardizing a natural resource base that is already under great stress Can increases in food production achieved in the past two decades be sustained in the next two decades Can developing countries achieve freedom from hunger and malnutrition Food Safety, Market Organization, Trade and Development Abdelhakim Hammoudi,Cristina Grazia,Yves Surry,Jean-Baptiste Traversac,2015-05-13 This book provides an economic perspective on the effects of food safety standards on international trade Focusing on food safety regulation at an international level and private food safety standards the authors use contemporary methodologies to analyze supply chain structures and organization as well as food chain actors strategies They also evaluate the effects of these on both consumer health and developing countries access to international markets The book provides ideas suggestions and policy recommendations for reconciling economic interests with consumer health which will be of special interest to academics as well as to practitioners Sustainability Standards and Global Governance Archana Negi,Jorge Antonio Pérez-Pineda,Johannes Blankenbach,2020-07-02 This open access book focuses on the issue of sustainability standards from the perspective of both global governance frameworks and emerging economies It stems from the recognition that the accelerated pace of economic globalization has generated production and consumption patterns that are generating sustainability concerns Sustainability standards and regulations are increasingly being used in a bid to make global consumption and production more sustainable Given the dense inter connectedness of economic affairs globally the use of sustainability standards has become a concern of global governance who face the challenge of achieving a balance between the use of standards for genuine sustainability objectives and not allowing them to turn into instruments of protectionism or coercion The emerging economies given their increasing engagement with the global economy are most impacted by the use of sustainability standards The emphasis of emerging economies in this book is retained both by using case studies from these economies and by collating perceptions and assessments of those located in these economies The case studies included span sectors such as palm oil forestry food quality vehicular emissions and water standards and address the problems unique to the emerging economies including capacity building for compliance with standards adapting international standards in domestic contexts and addressing the exclusion of small and medium enterprises etc Complex interfaces and dynamics of a global nature are not limited to the thematic of this book but also extend to the process through which it was written This book brings together insights from developed as well as emerging economies Germany India Mexico Brazil Indonesia Pakistan Mexico and China It also brings together scholars and practitioners to jointly ponder upon the conceptual aspects of the global frameworks for sustainability standards This book is a very useful resource for researchers and practitioners alike and provides valuable insights for policy makers as well

Cross-Continental Agro-Food Chains Niels Fold,Bill Pritchard,2005-04-25 Filling a gap in contemporary food and globalization scholarship this timely book presents recent case study research on the globalization of food systems and the impacts for communities around the world It covers debates on new structures and food products as well as detailed accounts of fresh horticulture tropical crops and livestock Drawing together contributions of twenty six leading international social scientists from eleven countries this book will interest researchers in geography development studies agricultural economics and political science as well as professionals in the fields of trade and food policy

Quality Systems and Standards for a Competitive Edge ,2007 This book responds to the challenge of providing a comprehensive account of quality systems for private sector development what works and what doesnt on the ground and why This volume provides a thorough analysis of the diversity of institutions linkages and arrangements involved in quality systems identifying success factors in countries quality strategies It explains why quality and standards matter for export growth for productivity for industrial upgrading and for diffusion of innovation all central ingredients in improving economic growth and generating real gains in poverty reduction It provides a detailed blue print for implementing effective National Quality Systems Quality and Standards Matter is a valuable tool for policymakers confronted with the challenges of building trade competitiveness in the new global economy
