Guidelines For Protected Area Management Categories

Karadeniz N., Yenilmez Arpa, N.

Guidelines For Protected Area Management Categories:

Guidelines for Applying Protected Area Management Categories Nigel Dudley, 2008 IUCN's Protected Areas Management Categories which classify protected areas according to their management objectives are today accepted as the benchmark for defining recording and classifying protected areas. They are recognized by international bodies such as the United Nations as well as many national governments. As a result, they are increasingly being incorporated into government legislation. These guidelines provide as much clarity as possible regarding the meaning and application of the Categories. They describe the definition of the Categories and discuss application in particular biomes and management approaches.

Guidelines for Protected Area Management Categories IUCN World Commission on Protected Areas, IUCN Commission on National Parks and Protected Areas, 2000 Management Guidelines for IUCN Category V Protected Areas Adrian Phillips, 2002 Protected Landscapes IUCN Protected Area Category V are lived in working landscapes. In the past, there has been a tendency to see them as a rather Eurocentric approach to protected areas, but increasingly the category is being designated in other parts of the world, including in a number of developing countries. The Guidelines include sections on the background and on the planning of such areas and chapters on the principles, policies, process, and the means for their management. The text includes more than twenty case studies from more than fifteen countries in every region of the world.

Guidelines for protected area management planning Karadeniz N., Yenilmez Arpa, N., 2022-07-01 Management planning guidelines represent the second major step in the process for planning protected areas following implementation of the Establishment Guidelines. This publication was developed as a part of the Conservation and Sustainable Management of Turkey's Steppe Ecosystem Project. It is the one of seven sets of guidelines designed for the development of recommendations and strategies for the management of the country's natural assets. These guidelines are based on international and national standards and are divided into 15 steps for successful management. A fundamental pre-condition for any form of management planning is clear definition of the overall management objectives to be achieved. These management objectives are linked to the IUCN protected area categories which form the basis for the guidelines. Important recommendations for successful management include the creation of thematic preparatory maps on topography, habitats, borders, and zones, and habitat-based planning. The guidelines provide basic recommendations for the integration of global trends and requirements connected with nature conservation and protected areas into the protected area management process. A central element of this process is the management plan, which sets out the management approach and goals together with a framework for decision-making to be applied in the protected area over a given period of time. The management plan is usually valid for a period of 10 years but may include a mid-term review. Changes can only be made to the plan on the basis of ecological or natural reasons.

Forests and Protected Areas Nigel Dudley, 2006 Protected areas are the cornerstone of virtually all national and international conservation policies About 10% of the world's forests are to be found in protected areas and Forest Protected Areas make a critical contribution to conservation The purpose of this publication is to address two questions both of which are strategic complex and politically significant What is and what is not a Forest Protected Area What other forms of forest protection are there and how do they relate to Forest Protected Areas Guidelines for Protected Areas Legislation Barbara J. Lausche, 2011 The central aim of this publication is to consider the key elements of a modern comprehensive and effective legal framework for successful management of protected areas They provide practical guidance for all those involved in developing improving or reviewing national legislation on protected areas be they legal drafters and practitioners protected area managers interested NGOs or scholars These guidelines include fifteen case studies eight dealing with the protected area legislation of individual countries and six cases dealing with specific sites providing fundamental solutions that stand the test of time Guidelines for Protected Areas Legislation Barbara J. Lausche, 1980 Speaking a Common Language Kevin Bishop, 2004 Guidelines for establishing protected areas Jungmeier, M., Arpa, Y.N., 2022-04-22 Protected areas can be found in a wide variety of environments ranging from mountains to the sea deserts forests and freshwater lakes and even traverse borders They differ in almost every respect including the purposes for which they are managed their size the types of sites and resources they protect and their management In recent decades the number of protected areas has increased rapidly Although there has been good progress in expanding the coverage of terrestrial protected areas 14.9% the further areas are needed for a full representation of areas of particular importance for biodiversity and ecosystem services UNEP WCMC IUCN and NGS 2018 In general this rapid and recent growth in protected areas has not been accompanied by commensurate expansion in management capacity The designation of protected status both on land and water has often failed to resolve and in some cases has heightened conflicts over access use or control of the areas concerned Economic recession and hardship have thrown such issues into sharper focus in recent years Protected areas will not survive unless they enjoy broad public support which is dependent on people's fundamental needs being met Land use and resource management conflicts inequities or impacts do not cease to exist simply because an area is granted protected status When established by nation states or related entities protected area boundaries often reflect considerations of sovereignty governance and tenure as much as the environment types they seek to protect For all these reasons the planning and management of protected areas must be coordinated with the use and management of other areas rather than treated in isolation The long term success of protected areas must be framed by the search for more sustainable patterns of development in general The present Guidelines are intended to support the establishment process for protected areas
