

Expanding Prospective and Practicing Teachers' Mathematics and Pedagogical Content Knowledge at CSU Long Beach

CSU Long Beach—Final Report
Dr. Babette Benken: October 2021

Overarching Goal and Primary Outcomes of the Project

CSU Long Beach (CSULB) focused their use of EdReady on teacher preparation and development. The goal was to enhance prospective (pre-service) and practicing (in-service) secondary mathematics teachers' content and pedagogical content knowledge, as well as their understanding of how digital resources might enhance student learning in practice.

For this project three EdReady learning modules were developed, two of which were embedded in courses at CSU Long Beach (secondary mathematics student teaching seminar - EDSS 473; mathematics education technology course - MTED 301). Approximately 440 students experienced the two course-based modules.

OUTCOMES: The overwhelming majority of these students believed the units helped them to expand and/or review their understanding of grades 6-12 mathematics and they enjoyed exploring this content in EdReady. Further, over 90% of students (EDSS 473) could envision how to utilize EdReady as a learning tool in a secondary mathematics course.

Specific Project Goals

The project goals focused on the development, pilot, revision and evaluation of three types of prospective and current teacher learning modules (EDSS 473, CSET, MTED 301).

Detailed descriptions of these modules are provided below.

Never Give Up Sharon A. Schwille, 2016-04-01 Never Give Up is an amazing true story It is a case study of an experienced elementary school teacher who was motivated to change her teaching practices from teacher centered transmission approaches to student centered transformational approaches in the context of a Professional Development School You would think she would have accomplished her goal with support from the PDS participants in a year or two Instead she spent seven years encountering struggles set backs and occasionally small triumphs until she achieved bone deep change in her teaching practices What was she aiming for and why did it take so long How did she finally achieve her goals This book is about her journey of change On one level this is a story of a teacher as she struggles to change her teaching practice in ways that center on children s learning rather than on teacher centered rote learning On a deeper level it is a look at how innovative reform movements and wellmeaning professional development efforts fall short of bringing about deep seated change in teaching methods It raises weighty questions such as how teacher preparation programs should begin the process of instilling habits of exploration experimentation research and learning in their pre service teachers so that they continuously work at updating and upgrading their teaching practices It is a message to curriculum developers policy makers and the public at large that lasting teacher professional development takes more time and support than the more immediate workshop approaches It raises many questions about how teachers learn and how they can keep their practices fresh and innovative throughout their careers A study guide designed to elicit deep thought and discussion of the many issues raised by this story accompanies the book The book and study guide are a valuable supplemental text for courses addressing teacher learning professional development workplace learning teacher change constructivist teaching practices mentoring educational administration and educational policy The study guide is also a tool to stimulate discussion among groups of readers such as pre service and practicing teachers school and district administrators educational policy makers and the public at large who are interested in educational reform
