How Deaf Children Learn Marc Marschark, Peter C. Hauser, 2011-12-01 How can parents and teachers most effectively support the language development and academic success of deaf and hard of hearing children Will using sign language interfere with learning spoken language Should deaf children be placed in classrooms with hearing children Are traditional methods of teaching subjects such as reading and math to hearing children appropriate for deaf learners As many parents and teachers will attest questions like these have no easy answers and it can be difficult for caring adults to separate science from politics and fact from opinion in order to make informed decisions about how to help deaf children learn In this invaluable guide renowned authorities Marc Marschark and Peter Hauser highlight important new advances in scientific and educational research that can help parents and teachers of students with significant hearing loss The authors stress that deaf children have strengths and needs that are sometimes very different from those who can hear Consequently if deaf students are to have full academic access and optimal educational outcomes it is essential that parents and teachers learn to recognize these differences and adjust their teaching methods to them Marschark and Hauser explain how the fruits of research conducted over the last several years can markedly improve educational practices at home and in the classroom and they offer innovative strategies that parents and teachers can use to promote learning in their children The result is a lively accessible volume that sheds light on what it means to be a deaf learner and that provides a wealth of advice on how we can best support their language development social skills and academic success

Deaf Education Beyond the Western World Harry Knoors, Maria Brons, Marc Marschark, 2019-01-16 If teachers want to educate deaf learners effectively they have to apply evidence informed methods and didactics with the needs of individual deaf students in mind Education in general and education for deaf learners in particular is situated in broader societal contexts where what works within the Western world may be quite different from what works beyond the Western world By exploring practice based and research based evidence about deaf education in countries that largely have been left out of the international discussion thus far this volume encourages more researchers in more countries to continue investigating the learning environment of deaf learners based on the premise of leaving no one behind Featuring chapters centering on 19 countries from Africa Asia Latin America and Central and Eastern Europe the volume offers a picture of deaf education from the perspectives of local scholars and teachers who demonstrate best practices and challenges within their respective regional contexts This volume addresses the notion of learning through the exchange of knowledge outlines the commonalities and differences between practices and policies in educating deaf and hard of hearing learners and looks ahead to the prospects for the future development of deaf education research in the context of recently adopted international legal frameworks Stimulating academic exchange regionally and globally among scholars and teachers who are fascinated by and invested in deaf education this volume strengthens the foundation for further improvement of education for deaf children all around the world

Education of Deaf Children Edward Miner Gallaudet, 1892

Deaf Children in Public Schools Claire L. Ramsey, 1997

In this pioneering book Ramsey assesses the progress of three second grade deaf students by first pointing out that they were placed in two different environments with the general population of hearing students and separately with other deaf and hard of hearing children Her study reveals that although both settings were ostensibly educational inclusion in the general population was done to comply with the law not to establish specific goals for the deaf children In contrast self contained classes for deaf and hard of hearing children were designed especially to concentrate upon their particular learning needs This cohesive book offers educators scholars and parents a remarkable stage for assessing and enhancing the educational context for the deaf children within their purview

Raising and Educating a Deaf Child National Technical Institute for the Deaf Rochester Institute of Technology Marc Marschark Director and Professor, 1997-04-17

Over 90% of all deaf children are born to hearing parents For most of these mothers and fathers their own child is the first deaf person they have ever met Raising a child who can hear is a challenging and difficult task but raising a deaf child can seem like an overwhelming responsibility especially with the mass of conflicting information and advice offered by professionals and well meaning friends and family members In Raising and Educating a Deaf Child Marc Marschark offers parents and teachers a readable and comprehensive summary including everything a parent would want to know about growing up deaf Parents of a deaf child like the parents of any child want to know the answers to some apparently straightforward questions such as What kind of school will provide my child with the best education What language experience is best for my child sign or speech Will my child be able to get a good job Marschark addresses these questions and more with topics ranging from what it means to be deaf and the uniqueness of Deaf culture to the medical causes of early hearing loss from technological aids for the deaf such as TTYs and cochlear implants to the educational and social opportunities available to deaf children He describes the many ways that the environment of home and school can influence a deaf child s chances for success in both academic and social circles Above all he emphasizes the need for early detection of hearing loss and the importance of being able to communicate with deaf children from a very early age recommending that all parents of deaf children learn sign language and use it often This is not a how to book or one with all the right answers for raising a deaf child This is a guide through the many conflicting suggestions and programs for raising deaf children as well as the likely implications of taking one direction or the other A leading researcher himself Marschark makes sense of the most current educational and scientific literature including his own recent research and talks to deaf children their parents and deaf adults about what is important to them The result is a readable and enlightening survey of what we know about the language social and intellectual development of deaf children and what educational and practical issues face them and their families Parents of deaf children can and should make their own decisions based on what is right for their family and for their child Armed with Raising and Educating a Deaf

Child parents will have access to the best information available allowing them to make informed decisions for their child

Educating Deaf Students Marc Marschark, Harry G. Lang, John A. Albertini, 2002 Over the past decade there has been a significant increase in interest from educators and the general public about deafness special education and the development of children with special needs The education of deaf children in the United States has been seen as a remarkable success story around the world even while it continues to engender domestic debate In Educating Deaf Students From Research to Practice Marc Marschark Harry G Lang and John A Albertini set aside the politics rhetoric and confusion that often accompany discussions of deaf education Instead they offer an accessible evaluation of the research literature on the needs and strengths of deaf children and on the methods that have been used successfully and unsuccessfully to teach both deaf and hearing children The authors lay out the common assumptions that have driven deaf education for many years revealing some of them to be based on questionable methods conclusions or interpretations while others have been lost in the cacophony of alternative educational philosophies They accompany their historical consideration of how this came to pass with an evaluation of the legal and social conditions surrounding deaf education today By evaluating what we know what we do not know and what we thought we knew about learning among deaf children the authors provide parents teachers and administrators valuable new insights into educating deaf students and others with special needs

Educating Deaf Learners Harry Knoors, Marc Marschark, 2015 Education for deaf learners has gone through significant changes over the past three decades The needs of many have changed considerably But deaf learners are not hearing learners who cannot hear This volume adopts a broad international perspective capturing the complexities and commonalities in the developmental mosaic of deaf learners

Teaching Deaf Learners Harry Knoors PhD, Marc Marschark, 2013-12-23 Teaching Deaf Learners Psychological and Developmental Foundations explores how deaf students children and adolescents learn and the conditions that support their reaching their full cognitive potential or not Beginning with an introduction to teaching and learning of both deaf and hearing students Knoors and Marschark take an ecological approach to deaf education emphasizing the need to take into account characteristics of learners and of the educational context Building on the evidence base with respect to developmental and psychological factors in teaching and learning they describe characteristics of deaf learners which indicate that teaching deaf learners is not or should not be the same as teaching hearing learners In this volume Knoors and Marschark explore factors that influence the teaching of deaf learners including their language proficiencies literacy and numeracy skills cognitive abilities and social emotional factors These issues are addressed in separate chapters with a focus on the importance to all of them of communication and language Separate chapters are devoted to the promise of multimedia enhanced education and the possible influences of contextual aspects of the classroom and the school on learning by deaf students The book concludes by pointing out the importance of appropriate education of teachers of deaf learners given the increasing diversity of those students and the contexts in which they are educated It bridges the gap between research and practice in teaching and outlines ways to improve teacher education

Evidence-Based Practice in Educating Deaf and Hard-of-Hearing Students Patricia Elizabeth Spencer, Marc Marschark, 2010-07-21 Debates about methods of supporting language development and academic skills of deaf or hard of hearing children have waxed and waned for more than 100 years Will using sign language interfere with learning to use spoken language or does it offer optimal access to communication for deaf children Does placement in classrooms with mostly hearing children enhance or impede academic and social emotional development Will cochlear implants or other assistive listening devices provide deaf children with sufficient input for age appropriate reading abilities Are traditional methods of classroom teaching effective for deaf and hard of hearing students Although there is a wealth of evidence with regard to each of these issues too often decisions on how to best support deaf and hard of hearing children in developing language and academic skills are made based on incorrect or incomplete information No matter how well intentioned decisions grounded in opinions beliefs or value judgments are insufficient to guide practice Instead we need to take advantage of relevant emerging research concerning best practices and outcomes in educating deaf and hard of hearing learners In this critical evaluation of what we know and what we do not know about educating deaf and hard of hearing students the authors examine a wide range of educational settings and research methods that have guided deaf education in recent years or should The book provides a focus for future educational and research efforts and aims to promote optimal support for deaf and hard of hearing learners of all ages Co authored by two of the most respected leaders in the field this book summarizes and evaluates research findings across multiple disciplines pertaining to the raising and educating of deaf children providing a comprehensive but concise record of the successes failures and unanswered questions in deaf education A readily accessible and invaluable source for teachers university students and other professionals Evidence Based Practice in Educating Deaf and Hard of Hearing Students encourages readers to reconsider assumptions and delve more deeply into what we really know about deaf and hard of hearing children their patterns of development and their lifelong learning

Education of Deaf Children Edward Miner Gallaudet, 1892 Communication Options in the Education of Deaf Children Wendy Lynas, 1994-10-20 This book examines critically three broad categories of communication approach which are currently advocated by the different schools of thinking concerned with the socialization and education of deaf children These are the auditory oral the total communication and the bilingual approach In each case the claims for the approach are identified the arguments offered for are assessed and the counter claims made by the critics are presented The research relating to the efficacy of each approach is reviewed and the validity of the available evidence is examined The unresolved ideological and political features of the debate are also discussed This book is addressed primarily to teachers of the deaf student teachers of the deaf and parents of deaf children It should also be useful to professionals such as speech therapists and educational psychologists who work with deaf children Language Learning in Children Who Are Deaf and Hard of

Hearing Susan R. Easterbrooks, 2020-11-03 This volume is the long awaited revision of the only textbook on primary language instruction written with classroom teachers of deaf and hard of hearing children TODs in mind It builds on the work of the previous edition describing the experiences of four real TODs and demonstrates practical application of the concepts discussed Up to date chapters on theory of language learning assessment and evidence based practice supplement specific examples of real cases in the field Avoiding promotion of one teaching philosophy over another this volume demonstrates the commonalities across classroom language instruction approaches for DHH children and helps guide teachers to enhance learning outcomes The Deaf Child in the Family and at School Patricia Elizab Spencer, Carol J. Marschark, 1999-11-01 This book presents chapters by many eminent researchers and interventionists all of whom address the development of deaf and hard of hearing children in the context of family and school A variety of disciplines and perspectives are provided in order to capture the complexity of factors affecting development of these children in their diverse environments Consistent with current theory and educational practice the book focuses most strongly on the interaction of family and child strengths and needs and the role of educational and other interventionists in supporting family and child growth This work and the authors represented in it have been influenced by the seminal work of Kathryn P Meadow Orlans whose work continues to apply a multidisciplinary developmental approach to understanding the development of deaf children The book differs from other collections in the degree to which the chapters share ecological and developmental theoretical bases A synthesis of information is provided in section introductions and in an afterword provided by Dr Meadow Orlans The book reflects emerging research practice in the field by representing both qualitative and quantitative approaches In addition the book is notable for the contributions of deaf as well as hearing authors and for chapters in which research participants speak for themselves providing first person accounts of experiences and feelings of deaf children and their parents Some chapters in the book may surprise readers in that they present a more positive view of family and child functioning than has historically been the case in this field This is consistent with emerging data from deaf and hard of hearing children who have benefitted from early identification and intervention In addition it represents an emerging recognition of strengths shown by the children and by their deaf and hearing parents The book moves from consideration of child and family to a focus on the role and effects of school environments on development Issues of culture and expectations pervade the chapters in this section of the book which includes chapters addressing effects of school placement options positive effects of learning about deaf culture and history effects of changing educational practice in developing nations and the need for increased knowledge about ways to meet individual needs of the diverse group of deaf and hard of hearing students Thus the book gives the reader a coherent view of current knowledge and issues in research and intervention for deaf and hard of hearing children and their families Because the focus is on child and family instead of a specific discipline the book can serve as a helpful supplemental text for advanced undergraduate and graduate courses in a variety of
