Guide To Science And Technology In The Asia Pacific Area:

Guide to Science and Technology in the Asia/Pacific Area D. Alsmeyer, 1979 Guide to Science and Technology in the Asia Pacific Area D. Alsmeyer, A. G. Atkins, (U.S.), 1980 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 Current Catalog National Library of Medicine Subject Catalog Library of Congress, Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, 1980 Willing's Press Guide, 1979 Coverage of publications outside the UK and in non English languages expands steadily until in 1991 it occupies enough of the Guide to require publication in parts

Studies in Science Education in the Asia-Pacific Region May May Hung Cheng, Alister Jones, Cathy Bunting, 2017-09-13 Consistent with international trends there is an active pursuit of more engaging science education in the Asia Pacific region The aim of this book is to bring together some examples of research being undertaken at a range of levels from studies of curriculum and assessment tools to classroom case studies and investigations into models of teacher professional learning and development While neither a comprehensive nor definitive representation of the work that is being carried out in the region the contributions from China Hong Kong Taiwan Korea Japan Singapore Australia and New Zealand give a taste of some of the issues being explored and the hopes that researchers have of positively influencing the types of science education experienced by school students The purpose of this book is therefore to share contextual information related to science education in the Asia Pacific region as well as offering insights for conducting studies in this region and outlining possible questions for further investigation In addition we anticipate that the specific resources and strategies introduced in this book will provide a useful reference for curriculum developers and science educators when they design school science curricula and science both pre service and in service teacher education programmes The first section of the book examines features of science learners and learning and includes studies investigating the processes associated with science conceptual learning scientific inquiry model construction and students attitudes towards science The second section focuses on teachers and teaching It discusses some more innovative teaching approaches adopted in the region including the use of group work inquiry based instruction developing scientific literacy and the use of questions and analogies The third section reports on initiatives related to assessments and curriculum reform including initiatives associated with school based assessment formative assessment strategies and teacher support accompanying curriculum reform The International Handbook of Educational Research in the Asia-Pacific Region J.P. Keeves, Ryo Watanabe, 2013-11-11 The aim of the Handbook is to present readily accessible but scholarly sources of information about educational research in the Asia Pacific region The scale and scope of the Handbook is such that the articles included in it provide substantive contributions to knowledge and understanding of education in the Asia region In so doing the articles present the problems and issues facing education in the region and the findings of research conducted within the region that contribute to the resolution of these problems and issues Moreover since new problems and issues are constantly arising the articles in the Handbook also indicate the likely directions of future developments The different articles within the Handbook seek to conceptualize the problems in each specific content area under review provide an integration of the research conducted within that area the theoretical basis of the research the practical implications of the research and the contribution of the research towards the resolution of the problems identified Thus the articles do not involve the reporting of newly conducted research but rather require a synthesis of the research undertaken in a particular area with reference to the research methods employed and the theoretical frameworks on which the research is based In general the articles do not advocate a single point of view but rather present alternative points of view and comment on the debate and disagreements associated with the conduct and findings of the research Furthermore it should be noted that the Handbook is not concerned with research methodology and only considers the methods employed in inquiry in so far as the particular methods of research contribute to the effective investigation of problems and issues that have arisen in the conduct and provision of education at different levels within the region

Resources in Education, 2000-10 The Oxford Handbook of Higher Education in the Asia-Pacific Region Devesh Kapur, Lily Kong, Florence Lo, David M. Malone, 2023-01-20 Since the turn of the millennium it has become clear that the Asia Pacific Region is economically the fastest growing continent in the world and is likely to remain so for some time despite the setbacks of the COVID 19 pandemic Asia Pacific's share of the world's Gross Domestic Product GDP doubled from 15 per cent to 30 per cent between 1970 and 2017 and is projected to account for half of global GDP by 2050 With South East and South Asia also growing rapidly with over half the world's population and three of the world's five largest economies Asia is soon poised to home half of the world's middle class a class that is both the driver and the product of higher education The quality of a country's system of higher education may be seen both as a gauge of its current level of national development as well as of its future economic prospects It is therefore natural that the putative Asian Century should generate interest in the region's higher education systems which on the one hand share common characteristics a fixation with credentials and engineering high technology especially among male students and business degrees while at the same time are also highly differentiated not only across countries but also within As such a better understanding of higher education achievements failings potential and structural limitations in the Asia Pacific Region is imperative This handbook presents a number of significant country case studies and documents cross cutting trends relating to among other things the trilemma faced by governments juggling competing claims of access accessible cost and quality the balance between teaching and research the links between labour markets demand and higher education supply preferred fields of study and their consequences the rise of the research university in Asia the lure of institutions of international reputation within the region new education technologies and their effects and trends in government policy within the wider region and sub regions Directory of Scientific Directories Jack Burkett, 1979 List of 2563 directories arranged by countries under 8 general scientific areas Covers primarily the period since 1960 Each entry gives bibliographic information and annotation Name title indexes

Who's who in World Agriculture Francis Hodgson (Firm),1979 Childhood, Learning & Everyday Life in Three Asia-Pacific Cities I-Fang Lee,Sue Saltmarsh,Nicola Yelland,2023-04-17 This book introduces findings from an international cross cultural and interdisciplinary study of children s everyday experiences of growing up and going to school in the context of the three global cities of Hong Kong Singapore and Melbourne It takes the premise that children s learning and orientations to educational success are shaped by everyday cultural practices at home and at school by policy contexts that both produce and respond to educational and cultural norms and by individual and familial desires and aspirations Drawing on research conducted with primary school aged children in Year 4 the book considers how day to day routines such as going to school engaging in extra curricular activities outside of school and spending time at home with family intersect with the broader milieus of education policy ideals in a changing and interconnected world Through a combination of visual methodologies surveys ethnographic observations in schools classrooms and cityscapes re enactments of everyday activities with children at home and sociological education policy analysis this book shows both the richness of children s everyday lives and learning in global cities as well as exploring questions that pose challenges to educational and social norms
