Market Infrastructure Planning J. D. Tracey-White,Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,1999-01-01 This is the third manual on market infrastructure it highlights the need for improved planning and decision making to ensure successful market investments The guide identifies the key steps in deciding on whether and how to invest in market infrastructure and highlights the steps to be taken to determine the size location and operations of markets The guide will be of interest to economists and planners in ministries of agriculture and of urban development as well as city and local authorities Development practitioners will also find the guide of interest

Forum on China-Africa Cooperation Yazini April,Garth Shelton,2014-12-14 As the Chinese economy continues to grow increased commercial engagement with Africa will offer the continent new and rewarding prospects for trade investment and economic development The challenge is for Africa to grasp these opportunities and take full advantage of China's friendship and willingness to co-operate The Forum on China Africa Co-operation FOCAC provides a mechanism for all inclusive diplomatic consultation to advance China Africa co-operation and to effectively manage expanding economic inter dependence FOCAC is a political arena for developing Sino African co-operation and problem solving FOCAC also provides an important framework for developing a common development agenda Given new global trends towards antiglobalisation FOCAC's importance is expected to increase in the years ahead This book seeks to strengthen the China Africa relationship and offer new suggestions for both policy makers and scholars seeking to understand and advance FOCAC for mutual benefit FOCAC holds the key to Africa's development and long term prosperity The new policy initiatives and proposals outlined in this study make a very valuable contribution to strengthening FOCAC and advancing Africa's economic development Papua New Guinea Conservation Needs Assessment, 1993 Guidelines on Sociological Analysis in Agricultural Investment Project

Design FAO Investment Centre, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 1991 The purpose of this paper is to outline the role of sociological analysis in the design of agricultural investment projects It is intended mainly to assist mission leaders as well as sociologists anthropologists and socio-economists working for the Investment Centre IC Some of the observations and recommendations will however also be relevant to governments lending agencies and consulting firms engaged in agricultural investment project preparation Preface Agriculture, Projects and Development David Telfy Edwards, 1994 This work on development agriculture offers information on development research methodology and policy project planning and implementation and general development issues such as poverty focused policies in Chile trade policy reform and Keynesian aspects of agriculture and development Community-based adaptation Hannah Reid, 2017-10-02 Community based adaptation CBA to climate change is based on local priorities needs knowledge and capacities Early CBA initiatives were generally implemented by non government organisations NGOs and operated primarily at the local level Many used bottom up participatory processes to identify the climate change problem and appropriate responses Small localised stand alone initiatives are insufficient to address the scale of challenges climate change will bring however The causes of vulnerability such as market or service access or good governance also often operate beyond the project level Larger organisations and national governments have therefore started to implement broader CBA programmes which provide opportunities to scale up responses and integrate CBA into higher levels of policy and planning This book shows that it is possible for CBA to remain centred on local priorities but not necessarily limited to work implemented at the local level Some chapters address the issue of mainstreaming CBA into government policy and planning processes or into city or sectoral level plans e.g. on agriculture Others look at how gender and children's issues should be mainstreamed into adaptation planning itself and others describe how tools can be applied and finance delivered for effective mainstreaming This book was published as a special issue of Climate and Development L'analyse sociologique dans la conception de projets

Rapid Rural Appraisal, Participatory Rural Appraisal and Aquaculture Philip Townsley, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 1996-01-01 This document is intended for aquaculture development specialists aquaculture project managers and officials and specialists involved in the planning and management of aquaculture activities it provides an introduction to rapid rural appraisal and participatory rural appraisal for people working in these fields the principal components of these two approaches to information collection and planning are described together with the various tools used with a case study to illustrate their uses and some of the issues they raise Possible applications of the approaches for those involved in aquaculture development are given and an outline is provided of the kinds of planning and institutional context where they can be best applied The problems and shortcomings of the approaches are also discussed and guidelines are given for the use of alternative approaches to information gathering and planning Papua New Guinea

Conservation Needs Assessment Janis B. Alcorn, 1993 Opportunities for private sector participation in agricultural water development and management F. W. T. Penning de Vries, H. Sally, A. Inocencio, 2005 This study examines ways to increase food security reduce poverty and achieve economic growth in sub Saharan Africa with water through increased participation of the private sector and publicprivatepartnerships This report is a summary of the findings from a review of the literature and critical analysis thereof The private sector includes all farmers farm households and agriculture based micro small and medium enterprises MSMEs That is all entities involved in crop livestock and fish production and marketing in post harvest activities and food processing and in supply chains for the goods services and information used in the process The study examines different types of agricultural water development and management These include smallholder subsistence farming cultivation of profit oriented high value crops and peri urban agriculture as well as successful examples of private sector involvement in various functions or processes including planning design construction operations and maintenance The spotlight on water does not imply that other factors such as off farm employment market development and education are unimportant

New Directions In Development Donald R. Mickelwait, 2019-04-11 New Directions in Development A Study of U S AID Donald R Mickelwait Charles F Sweet and Elliott R Morss In 1973 Congress legislated a fundamental change in U S foreign aid policy rather than provide general assistance to developing nations the U S Agency for International Development AID would focus on helping the rural poor in those nations AID commissioned Development Alternatives Inc DAI to prepare a strategy for making the change toward New Directions in development and then to assist in the design and implementation of a number of projects using the new strategy The authors describe the bureaucratic and administrative problems that confronted Development Alternatives in this job giving particular attention to the administrative and bureaucratic barriers within AID itself They conclude with a set of recommendations for reform that are essential if the agency is to attain its New Directions objectives
