Modern Methods in Analytical Morphology J. Gu, G.W. Hacker, 2012-12-06 While advances in modern medicine largely parallel our understanding of morphology discoveries in morphology are propelled by developments of new tools and means to visualize and measure tissue elements The invention of dissecting light fluorescence and electron microscopes together with advances in labeling and staining techniques are among the stepping stones of morphological progress Today we are in an exciting new era when classical morphology is being combined with developments from other disciplines The combination of morphology and immunology resulted in immunocytochemistry morphology and molecular biology led to in situ hybridization and in situ PCR Adding computer science to morphology gave birth to image analysis Combining laser technology and the microscope evolved into confocal microscope For more than a decade modern morphology has continued to develop by merging with other disciplines at a rate that is still gathering momentum providing exciting and dynamic new frontiers for other biological fields Modern Methods in Analytical Morphology based largely on the First International Workshop on Modern Methods in Analytical Histochemistry is an updated review of the current trends in the field It covers an extensive array of new technical developments in major disciplines of modern morphology The authors are not only leaders in their fields but also have extensive hands on experience with bench work Their chapters are written in a comprehensive manner including discussion of both theoretical considerations and practical applications to give the readers a broad view of the topics covered Cytohistological correlation is emphasized by using composite images from either resected tumor or the cell block whenever possible. In addition, ultrastructural basis of cytological features is emphasized. Both cytology and electron microscopy classify tumors by meticulously analyzing the cytoplasmic features and cell junctions of scanty sample. Every histopathology entity should have a counterpart in cytopathology since both derive from the same entity undergoing the same pathological process. The difference is in the artifacts; thus, an attempt was made to explain the artifacts of aspiration cytology so that histopathologists may understand the cytologic approach and learn to interpret aspiration cytology with confidence.
