Word Prosodic Systems in the Languages of Europe Typology of Languages in Europe (Project), 1999 The series is a platform for contributions of all kinds to this rapidly developing field General problems are studied from the perspective of individual languages language families language groups or language samples Conclusions are the result of a deepened study of empirical data Special emphasis is given to little known languages whose analysis may shed new light on long standing problems in general linguistics The Syntax of the Sentence in Old Irish Pádraig MacCoisdealbha, 2012-10-29 Old Irish is the language of Ireland in the period from the 8th to the 10th century AD and is the oldest Celtic language well enough attested for adequate grammatical study The book provides the only available detailed linguistic analysis of the syntactic structure of the Old Irish sentence The basic form of the simple sentence with the usual order of elements verb subject object is unproblematic from a synchronic viewpoint but certain sentence types show more complex patterns of syntax which have important implications for the typological diachronic and comparative historical analysis of Old Irish in particular and Celtic and Indo European languages in general Sentence types which contain obligatory cataphoric pronouns referring to elements later in the same sentence are examined in detail as well as constructions with marked initial topics and the focussing construction of the cleft sentence The approach is functional and typological on the basis of a text corpus from the glosses on the Pauline epistles at W rzburg with further material from Old Irish legal texts The emphasis is on the communicative content and intent of the sentences of the corpus The book is a newly edited version of MacCoisdealbha s Bochum dissertation of 1974 previously unpublished due to the author's death in 1976 and includes textual notes by the editor indicating progress and indeed lack of progress in the meantime in areas covered by the book The Cambridge History of the English Language Richard M. Hogg, Norman Francis Blake, Suzanne Romaine, Roger Lass, R. W. Burchfield, 1992-07-31 The Cambridge History of the English Language is the first multi volume work to provide a full account of the history of English Its authoritative coverage extends from areas of central linguistic interest and concern to more specialised topics such as personal and place names The volumes dealing with earlier periods are chronologically based whilst those dealing with more recent periods are geographically based thus reflecting the spread of English over the last 300 years Volume 1 deals with the history of English up to the Norman Conquest and contains chapters on Indo European and Germanic phonology and morphology syntax semantics and vocabulary dialectology onomastics and literary language Each chapter as well as giving a chronologically oriented presentation of the data surveys scholarship in the area and takes full account of the impact of developing and current linguistic theory on the interpretation of the data The chapters have been written with both specialists and non specialists in mind they will be essential reading for all those interested in the history of English The
