Edmonton City Of Champions:

Edmonton's Urban Villages Ron Kuban,2005-07-08 How did a collection of neighborhood volunteer organizations come to influence the development of a major Canadian city Few other North American cities have embraced the community league movement with the vigor of Edmonton For 87 years tens of thousands of volunteers from the Edmonton Federation of Community Leagues EFCL have often acted as a counterweight to large private and institutional interests shaping municipal development by providing a voice and a training ground for grassroots civic participation In its wake the EFCL has left a host of sports cultural and civic initiatives for the improvement of Edmonton and an important lesson on how to create community

Lighthouse on the Prairies Henry Vanderpyl,2021-02-12 There is very little information about the Jesus Elevator on the internet Somehow even Wikipedia missed it In this book you are going to learn about Hartley Somerville a prairie born again farmer who purchased a 75 foot tall grain elevator in Ellerslie Alberta moved it onto his farmstead and in 1965 repurposed it into the biggest scripture sign Canada has ever seen Fourteen years later with the help of a few volunteers Henry Vanderpyl undertook the task of renovating the elevator with a new verse For twenty four years its endless message steered travelers far and wide alongside the Queen Elizabeth II highway at the south entrance to Edmonton the Gateway to the North Sometimes God calls people to do big things For Henry big things done with calligraphy became his calling unto God Gone South

Frank Cosentino,2017-01-02 Canadian Football 1983 1994 Gone South focuses on the CFL s rationale and move to expand to the United States It details the controversy throughout the League and the country It leads directly to the next book in this series Home Again Therein The Baltimore Stallions and their Grey Cup win of 1995 is documented the first and only Grey Cup win by an American based team The Stallions moved the next year to Montreal to become the Alouettes and the American experiment was put to rest for now After 1995 there was a return to an all Canadian league Both books also continue with the trend from amateur to professional and the move towards the revitalization of football in Canada

Against the Grain Catherine Ford,2006-10-03 A contrarian view of Alberta and Albertans from the outspoken and often controversial former Calgary Herald columnist In 2005 Alberta celebrates its centenary a hundred year stretch that has seen the province catapulted from being little more than thinly populated grassland and mountain to one of Canada s richest provinces one with a fair claim to being perpetually misunderstood Albertans of course are passionate about their province even when to outsiders the sentiment is baffling For instance can a liberal feminist like renowned columnist Catherine Ford find happiness in a right wing neo conservative province The short form of Ford s answer is Yes I can But The long version is the intimate revealing entertaining and opinionated picture of the province she paints in Against the Grain On the surface the province is monolithic in its politics anti gay anti feminist anti choice in its opinions and macho in its demeanour But Ford shows that this is a lopsided outsider s view of Alberta and to prove it she takes readers on a tour from Calgary to Banff and Jasper Fort McMurray Edmonton and beyond pointing out the good the bad and the plain bewildering

Connor McDavid a once in a generation talent who at only eighteen years old was already being compared to the Great One who had preceded him twenty five years earlier Sparked by the arrival of McDavid the construction of a new state of the art hockey arena and the development of a revitalized downtown core a new sensibility began to emerge in Edmonton Sensing an opportunity the city started to rebuild and rebrand itself in search of a new future Through exclusive access uplifting anecdotes and colourful interviews The McDavid Effect traces the renewal of not just a hockey team but of an entire city Reflecting the multitude of viewpoints that make up Edmonton from Connor himself to construction crews at work on the downtown development to business executives directing the new shape of the Albertan capital The McDavid Effect paints a portrait of the city as it is being reimagined captures the near religious reverence people have for sports and shows how the people of Edmonton are coming to hope again The Urban Uncanny Lucy Huskinson, 2016-04-28 The Urban Uncanny explores through ten engaging essays the slippage or mismatch between our expectations of the city as the organised and familiar environments in which citizens live work and go about their lives and the often surprising and unsettling experiences it evokes The city is uncanny when it reveals itself in new and unexpected light when its streets buildings and people suddenly appear strange out of place and not quite right Bringing together a variety of approaches including psychoanalysis historical and contemporary case study of cities urban geography film and literary critique the essays explore some of the unsettling mismatches between city and citizen in order to make sense of each and to gauge the wellbeing of city life more generally Essays examine a number of cities including Edmonton London Paris Oxford Las Vegas Berlin and New York and address a range of issues including those of memory death anxiety alienation and identity Delving into the complex repercussions of contemporary mass urban development The Urban Uncanny opens up the pathological side of cities both real and imaginary This interdisciplinary collection provides unparalleled insights into the urban uncanny that will be of interest to academics and students of urban studies urban geography psychoanalysis cultural studies social studies and film studies and to anyone interested in the darker side of city life Big Mall Kate Black, 2024-02-13 A phenomenology of the mall If the mall makes us feel bad why do we keep going back In a world poisoned by capitalism what makes life worth living Kate Black grew up in West Edmonton Mall a mall on steroids notorious for its indoor waterpark deadly roller coaster and controversial dolphin shows But everyone has a favourite mall or a mall that is their own personal memory palace It's a place people love to hate and hate to love a site of pleasure and pain of death and violence of sub urban legend Blending a history of shopping with a story of coming of age in North America's largest and strangest mall Big Mall investigates how these structures have become the ultimate symbol of late capitalist dread and surprisingly a subversive site of hope Speaking as a child of PacSun and Hot Topic myself Big Mall is like a madeleine dipped in Orange Julius Like a mall the book itself has a lot of everything a sublime mix of memoir history and cultural criticism Kate Black is a learned Virgil in the consumerist Inferno always avoiding the obvious and leading us to surprising connections oil suicide Reddit squatters dolphins Whether malls fill you with nostalgia or horror this book will change your relationship to the world we've constructed around us Tony Tulathimutte author of Private Citizens Before there was Instagram there was the mall But what happens when a seasonless tacky fantasyland is all you knew growing up How does one embrace a genuinely fake experience Or to be more precise a fake but genuine experience Kate Black's Big Mall is a smart sentimental and perspective shifting look at the outsized role that big malls play in modern life Love em or hate em one thing's for sure after reading this book you'll never look at a mall in the same way again Ziya Tong Science broadcaster author of The Reality Bubble 100 Reasons Why Realtor, Ed Remus Could Not Get Married Joe Remesz, 2012-03 I have worked in the broadcasting and real estate industries and enjoyed both I met a lot of people had my ups and downs and in the end managed to laugh at myself and with others There are joke anecdote and amusing story books about the broadcasting industry I could write about my experiences as a radio TV announcer but feel broadcasting has already been adequately covered by other writers but not the real estate industry In Finding Charity I hope you and your friends will enjoy reading with hours of smiles chuckles and old fashioned belly laughs Whenever I appear as a guest on radio or TV talk show the host often invites me to stay a little longer as listeners and viewers jam the phone lines with material It seems that each humorous incident happened in their town to them or a friend Many theories exist about what humour is and what social function it serves I found that people of all ages and cultures respond to humour The majority of people are able to be amused to laugh or to smile at something funny and thus they are considered to have a sense of humour Science proves that laughter heals Sometime a sense of humour is a requisite for long term survival in the real estate industry After you have read Finding Charity I do not take responsibility for a cardiac arrest I have tried to give credit wherever possible but jokes anecdotes and amusing stories generally and now with cyberspace technology sweep the world so swiftly that it is often impossible to discover who put the story into public print first let alone who actually originated it I had fun in planning Finding Charity and to all those whom I interrupted with I already got that one I apologize I'm particularly grateful to my wife Teofista for planting the idea in writing Finding Charity Ecologies of Affect Tonya K. Davidson, Ondine Park, Rob Shields, 2013-06-01 Ecologies of Affect offers a synthetic introduction to the felt dynamics of cities and the character of places The contributors capture the significance of affects including desire nostalgia memory and hope in forming the identity and tone of places The critical intervention this collection of essays makes is an active consistent engagement with the virtualities that produce and refract our idealized attachments to place Contributors show how place images and attempts to build communities are rather than abstractions fundamentally tied to and revolve around such intangibles We understand nostalgia desire and hope as virtual that is even though they are not material they are nevertheless real and must be accounted for In this book the authors take up affect emotion and emplacement and consider them in relation to one another and how they work to produce and are produced by certain temporal and spatial dimensions The aim of the book is to inspire readers to consider space and place beyond their material properties and attend to the imaginary places and ideals that underpin and produce material places and social spaces This collection will be useful to practitioners and students seeking to understand the power of affect and the importance of virtualities within contemporary societies where intangible goods have taken on an increasing value
