Social Structure and Mobility in Economic Development Seymour Lipset,2018-04-27 The foundation of this volume is the notion that the several processes of change constituting economic and social development are systematically interrelated The essence of development is the appearance of rapid rates of increases in many different indices output per capita political participation literacy and the like These quantitative changes are however commonly accompanied by vast changes in the social structure markets emerge political bureaucracies arise and new educational systems appear Written by the leading authorities on the subject this group of papers tackles the causes and consequences of social mobility Each author brings his particular skills to bear on various aspects of the problem in studies of persons moving from rural to urban settings from one kind of industry to another and from one prestige level to another Several of the papers review the theoretical and methodological issues involved in comparative research on social mobility while others compare and contrast traditional and modern stratification systems Various papers explore the economic religious and psychological basis of social mobility concluding with enquiry into the consequences of rapid mobility especially in terms of the political stability of developing nations Because social mobility is a central consideration in any study of economic and social change every student of change will use this pioneering reference source as a text for all future research Contributors include Otis Dudley Duncan Harold L Wilensky Michael G Smith Bert F Hoselitz Wilbert E Moore Natalie Rogoff Rams y Gideon Sjoberg Reinhard Bendix Harry Crockett David Matza Lester Seligman and Gino Germani Neil J Smelser is emeritus professor Department of Sociology University of California Berkeley Seymour Martin Lipset was professor of sociology and director of the Institute of International Studies at the University of California Berkeley

Army Politics in Cuba, 1898-1958 Louis A. Pérez Jr.,1976-03-15 Louis A Perez examines the founding of the national army in Cuba the rise and fall of Cuban army preeminence during the Machado regime the bizarre army seizure of power in 1933 which resulted in the collapse of the officer corps and follows the dominance of the army until the revolution of 1958 He shows that the Cuban political order rested on the stability of the army which itself grew increasingly estranged from national traditions and eventually became the tool of a clique of political leaders only to fall to rebel forces during the revolution
