Environmental History in the Making Estelita Vaz,Cristina Joanaz de Melo,Lígia M. Costa Pinto,2016-10-13 This book is the product of the 2nd World Conference on Environmental History held in Guimar es Portugal in 2014 It gathers works by authors from the five continents addressing concerns raised by past events so as to provide information to help manage the present and the future It reveals how our cultural background and examples of past territorial intervention can help to combat political and cultural limitations through the common language of environmental benefits without disguising harmful past human interventions Considering that political ideologies such as socialism and capitalism as well as religion fail to offer global paradigms for common ground an environmentally positive discourse instead of an ecological determinism might serve as an umbrella common language to overcome blocking factors real or invented and avoid repeating ecological loss Therefore agency environmental speech and historical research are urgently needed in order to sustain environmental paradigms and overcome political cultural an economic interests in the public arena This book intertwines reflections on our bonds with landscapes processes of natural and scientific transfer across the globe the changing of ecosystems the way in which scientific knowledge has historically both accelerated destruction and allowed a better distribution of vital resources or as it in today s world can offer alternatives that avoid harming those same vital natural resources water soil and air In addition it shows the relevance of cultural factors both in the taming of nature in favor of human comfort and in the role of the environment matters in the forging of cultural identities which cannot be detached from technical intervention in the world In short the book firstly studies the past approaching it as a data set of how the environment has shaped culture secondly seeks to understand the present and thirdly assesses future perspectives what to keep what to change and what to dream anew considering that conventional solutions have not sufficed to protect life on our planet Society and Circulation Claude Markovits, Jacques Pouchepadass, Sanjay Subrahmanyam, 2006 The idea of an eternal India based on stable and unchanging villages has been in disarray for at least two decades However having demolished this myth historians have been rather less able to construct an alternative vision This volume sets out to do just that using the idea of circulation in relation to South Asia in the colonial period It comprises a set of complementary essays which deal with merchant circulation pilgrimages cartography policing labor mobility and the movement of itinerant groups from colonial administrators to wandering bards demonstrating that the South Asia of this period was made and remade by changing patterns and the logic of circulation Once this perspective is integrated into the analysis of society new and disturbing questions emerge on issues such as culture identity and ethnogenesis which are normally treated in the context of fixed and stable societies The essays in this volume written by some of the leading authorities in South Asian history break new ground in suggesting the outlines of a different framework for historical analysis This volume will interest not only South Asianists but also those interested in historical method as well as wider comparative perspectives on early modern and contemporary history The Dutch East India Company and the Economy of Bengal, 1630-1720 Om Prakash, 2014-07-14 Om Prakash reveals the central role played by Bengal in the Dutch East India Company's activities in India in the seventeenth and the early eighteenth century and the resulting integration of India into the world economy Originally published in 1985 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

The history of the economic contacts between Asia and Europe dates back to at least the early years of the Common Era But it was only after the overcoming of the transport technology barrier to the growth of trade between the two continents following the discovery by the Portuguese at the end of the 15th century of the all water route to the East Indies that these contacts became regular and quantitatively significant The Portuguese were joined at the beginning of the 17th century by the Dutch and the English East India companies The Europeans operated in the Indian Ocean alongside the Indian and other Asian merchants with no special privileges being available to them The present collection of essays by Professor Om Prakash first deals with the Indian merchants participation in the Indian Ocean trade on the eve of the Europeans arrival in the Ocean The subsequent essays include a discussion of the Portuguese involvement in the Euro Asian and the Indian Ocean trade Attention is then turned to the trading activities of the Dutch and the English East India companies The volume also contains essays on textile manufacturing and trade as well as on coinage and wages in India The concluding essay deals with trade and politics in the province of Bengal *Arun Deep's Self-Help to I.C.S.E.
