Europeans In Africa:

Europeans in Africa Robert O. Collins, 1971      Europe in Africa in the Nineteenth Century Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer, 1895      Historiography of Europeans in Africa and Asia, 1450-1800 Anthony Disney, 2019-07-25 The first part of this volume deals with the changes and continuities in historical approaches over the last fifty years with three further sections focusing on initial contacts formal presences and informal presences Emphasis has been placed on the major European players in Asia and Africa before 1800 the Portuguese Dutch and English without neglecting the role played by the French Spanish Scandinavians and others      The European Colonization of Africa Don Nardo, 2010 As early as Greco Roman times and in some cases even earlier some of Europe's leading ancient cultures showed a compelling interest in exploiting the vast resources of Africa Northern Africa including Egypt with its huge stores of grain and other valuable commodities was long a pivotal part of the mighty Roman Empire Several centuries after that famous realm collapsed Europeans began to rediscover the continent large sections of which were unknown and mysterious to them In late medieval times the Portuguese led the way establishing trading posts along Africa's coasts Later other European nations including England France and Holland sent out explorers slave traders and colonizers to exploit Africa's immense natural and human riches almost always at the expense of African peoples In what became known as the scramble for Africa Europeans took advantage of and sometimes terribly abused the indigenous peoples rendering them economically and politically dependent on the outsiders Not until the twentieth century did Africans manage to throw off the destructive yoke of colonialism and begin to enjoy the fruits of independence and self determination Book jacket      How Europe Underdeveloped Africa Walter Rodney, 1981 This wide reaching volume shows how Africa developed before the coming of the Europeans up to the 15th century and shows Africa's contribution to European capitalist development in the pre colonial period Colonialism is then shown as a system for underdeveloping Africa      Africa in Europe: Antiquity into the age of global expansion Stefan Goodwin, 2009-01-01 Africa in Europe in two volumes is an interdisciplinary work about Europeans that demonstrates fluid boundaries and connections between them and Africans from antiquity until the present Written by a scholar with expertise that includes anthropology social history and international relations the subject matter of this fascinating work ranges from science to art and invites much new thinking about racism territoriality citizenship and frontiers in a world that is increasingly globalized      A European Africa Agenda 2025-2100. Arleen Westerhof, 2024-11-19 Migration from Africa what is the Christian and human response Yes we can and must help those who make it to Europe's shores However a better and more effective long term solution is to try to understand and address the push factors that fuel migration in the first place Africa will grow and develop in the future and the only way forward is to partner with it This book shows you how      Africa-Europe Relationships Raffaele Marchetti, 2020-05-04 The relationships between Africa and Europe are of high strategic importance This volume studies the ongoing dynamics between the two continents by adopting a pluralist understanding of international relations which encompasses non state actors as well as states Going beyond pure intergovernmentalism this focus of this book is on activists business people religious believers local politicians as well as transnational networks and by hybrid coalitions Such plurality of socio economic and political interactions underpinning the relationship between Africa and Europe is underexamined and yet of great importance The text identifies new patterns of cooperation and recurrent obstacles in the African European multistakeholder dynamics thus opening the way for a more accurate understanding of the future relationship between Africa and Europe This book brings African and European reflections together on an equal standing in order to achieve a true dialogue among civilizations This book is aimed at all those who are interested in African European relationships including students and researchers as well as activists business people civil servant and functionaries at local and national level

Contested Heritage in Europe and Africa Marco Zoppi, 2024-10-25 This book investigates Euro African cultural relations considering their connected histories through material and immaterial forms of representation commemoration and memorialization Recent waves of protest around the world have called for restitution of looted African art and toppled statues and vandalized monuments which are connected to white suprematism colonialism and imperialism These events have highlighted an urgent need to debate the management and preservation of Europe and Africa s shared heritage Drawing on a range of varied trans continental case studies this book considers the key question of whether such monuments should be removed as forms of unacceptable celebration of an evil past or preserved precisely because of what they recount about that past of oppression and domination The book encourages readers to consider how diverse and pervasive the notions of shared heritage and common past are encompassing discussions of statues exhibitions graffiti tapestries and commemorations Providing a timely analysis of the developing cultural relations between Africa and Europe this book will be an important resource for researchers across the fields of global history heritage studies memory studies and international relations

Africa and the European Union J. Mangala, 2015-12-11 The adoption of the Joint Africa EU Strategy JAES in 2007 was a watershed moment in Africa EU relations one that sought to reinvent a historical relationship to meet the challenges posed by complex interdependencies expanding globalization and growing competition all framed by the gradual dislocation of the West as the epicenter of world politics Five years into its implementation this book offers a thorough and first comprehensive investigation of the JAES the most advanced form of interregionalism seen to date

The European Union, Africa and the Sustainable Development Goals Lars Niklasson, 2024-03-12 The European Union has high ambitions in relation to Africa and in achieving the UN Sustainable Development Goals One example is the new Africa Strategy where the EU wants to have a strong partnership with the African Union Other European policies contribute to the lofty objectives of the EU which is the world s largest donor of development aid The high ambitions are not matched by the implementation The European policies shaped by the Commission and the member states are partly contradictory and hard to fulfill locally in Africa Furthermore they are focused on intentions rather than outcomes The European policies need to be decentered to allow for the African context to play a larger role in the design and execution of policies The Sustainable Development Goals call for fundamental transformations where political and economic development are of great importance to reach the social and environmental goals This implies greater attention to the drivers and barriers for political and economic transformation in Africa It also calls for a greater interest in the relationship between donors and recipients to build trust and to find mutual gain The EU needs to recognize that it is dependent on its African partners while it simultaneously wants to influence and revise some of the African policies

Africa in Europe: Antiquity into the Age of Global Exploration Stefan Goodwin, 1955-01-01 Africa in Europe in two volumes meticulously documents Europe's African presence from antiquity to the present It incorporates findings from areas of study as diverse as physical anthropology linguistics social history social theory international relations migrational studies and globalization In contrast to most other works focusing on Eurafrican relationships that largely revolve around Atlantic and trans Atlantic developments since the Age of Global Exploration this work has a much broader perspective which takes account of human evolution the history of religion Judaic studies Byzantine studies the history of Islam and Western intellectual history including social theory While the issue of racism in its variant manifestations receives thorough treatment African in Europe is also about human connections across fluid boundaries that are ancient as well as those that date to the Age of Exploration the Age of Revolution and continue until the present Hence it brings new clarity to our understanding of such processes as acculturation and assimilation while deepening our understanding of interrelationships among racism violence and social identities This work is full of new insights fresh interpretations and highly nuanced analyses relevant to our thinking about territoriality citizenship migration and frontiers in a world that is increasingly globalized The author moves across boundaries of time and space in ways that result in an encyclopedic work that is an integrated and programmatic whole as well as one in which each chapter is a complete module of scholarship that is self contained

Why Europe Intervenes in Africa Catherine Gegout, 2018-01-01 Gegout's book offers a sharp rebuke to those who believe that altruism is the guiding principle of Western intervention in Africa

Africa and Europe Amadu Sesay, 2012-07-26 It is now over 100 years since the Berlin Conference of 1884 which started the Scramble for Africa whereby the various European powers carved up the African Continent between themselves During the last century the relationship between Africa and Europe has changed dramatically from a colonial to a post colonial relationship with more recently new patterns emerging as the Communist bloc has developed increasingly strong links with some countries and as the EEC as an institution has got more involved First published in 1986 this book explores how the relationship between Africa and Europe has changed over the last hundred years assesses the current state of relations and discusses how the relationship may develop in the future

Africa in Europe: Interdependencies, Relocations, and Globalization Stefan Goodwin, 2008-10-17 Africa in Europe in two volumes meticulously documents Europe's African presence from antiquity to the present It incorporates findings from areas of study as diverse as physical anthropology linguistics social history social theory international relations migrational studies and globalization In contrast to most other works focusing on Eurafrican relationships that largely revolve around Atlantic and trans Atlantic developments since the Age of Global Exploration this work has a much broader perspective which takes account of human evolution the history of religion Judaic studies Byzantine studies the history of Islam and Western intellectual history including social theory While the issue of racism in its variant manifestations receives thorough treatment African in Europe is also about human connections across fluid boundaries that are ancient as well as those that date to the Age of Exploration the Age of Revolution and continue until the present Hence it brings new clarity to our understanding of such processes as acculturation and assimilation while deepening our understanding of interrelationships among racism violence and social identities This work is full of new insights fresh interpretations and highly nuanced analyses relevant to our thinking about territoriality citizenship migration and frontiers in a world that is increasingly globalized The author moves across boundaries of time and space in ways that result in an encyclopedic work that is an integrated and programmatic whole as well as one in which each chapter is a complete module of scholarship that is self contained

How Africa Developed Europe Mhango, Nkwazi N., 2018-02-19 Whether Africa is developed or not depends on how and what one addresses Development is relative Nonetheless the fact is Africa developed Europe and thereby became underdeveloped Addressed academically the notion of development creates many questions amongst which are Development in what Whose development Development for whom Who defines development In this volume the development dealt with is polygonal and touches on politico economic sequels which also affect the social aspect No doubt Africa is abundantly rich in terms of resource and culture Paradoxically however Africa is less developed economically compared to Europe thanks to the history of unequal encounters among other reasons We cannot emphasise enough the fact that Africa s underdevelopment is the price of the development of Europe which is based on historical realities gyrating around Europe s criminal past wherein slavery and colonialism enabled Europe to spawn its future capital and investment How can anyone quibble about Europe s development resulting from perpetual plunderage of Africa with impunity committed by European treasure hunting adventurers This volume prescribes Africa s restorative recompense as the only way forward for the duo and the world

Europe, Africa, India Robert Gordon Latham, 1859 Europe and Africa Giovanni Carbone, 2022-01-14 A year and a half after the new Strategy with Africa proposed by the European Commission was made public the new partnership between the two continents is still being defined The impact of the Covid 19 pandemic with Africa s first economic recession in 25 years and a sharp rise in poverty and debt has created new challenges for the two continents agenda highlighting new gaps to address on the way forward With the European Union African Union summit scheduled for February 2022 the definition of the new partnership is once again gathering momentum while both sides are still trying to define common positions Will these two natural partners be able to tackle the most urgent challenges and turn them into opportunities for collaboration and engagement What are the priority issues and which ones are potentially most divisive
