Ripsman, 2016-05-05 In Peacemaking from Above Peace from Below Norrin M Ripsman explains how regional rivals make peace and how outside actors can encourage regional peacemaking Through a qualitative empirical analysis of all the regional rivalries that terminated in peace treaties in the twentieth century including detailed case studies of the Franco German Egyptian Israeli and Israeli Jordanian peace settlements Ripsman concludes that efforts to encourage peacemaking that focus on changing the attitudes of the rival societies or democratizing the rival polities to enable societal input into security policy are unlikely to achieve peace Prior to a peace treaty he finds peacemaking is driven by states often against intense societal opposition for geostrategic reasons or to preserve domestic power After a formal treaty has been concluded the stability of peace depends on societal buy in through mechanisms such as bilateral economic interdependence democratization of former rivals cooperative regional institutions and transfers of population or territory Society is largely irrelevant to the first stage but is critical to the second He draws from this analysis a lesson for contemporary policy Western governments and international organizations have invested heavily in efforts to promote Israeli Palestinian and Indo Pakistani peace by promoting democratic values economic exchanges and cultural contacts between the opponents Such attempts to foster peace are likely to waste resources until such time as formal peace treaties are concluded between longtime adversaries Interrupting Capitalism Matthew A. Shadle, 2018-06-08 Interrupting Capitalism traces the history of Catholic thinking about economic life from the perspective of a theology of interruption The church s social teaching provides a way for Christians to interrupt capitalism to live out economic life faithfully in the midst of the global economy Europe Since the Seventies Jeremy Black, 2009-03-30 In Europe since the Seventies Jeremy Black offers a succinct and authoritative analysis of the social and economic development of Europe in recent decades While providing a full treatment of environmental demographic and cultural issues in Europe Black also offers delineations of broader political economic and social matters discussing practical immediate subjects like migration crime transportation and the environment Europe since the Seventies reveals how European society has changed strikingly former societal lines drawn on the basis of economics and class have given way to lines formed by identity such as gender sexual orientation and ethnicity Meanwhile the European Union has created an expanded Europe and is now a testing ground for new forms of economics and politics A readable concise and timely work this latest book by a notable European historian will be indispensable to anyone wishing to understand the complexities of present day Europe Europe Since 1980 Ivan T. The Greater Second World War Andrew N. Buchanan, Ruth Lawlor, 2025-04-15 The Greater Second World War challenges the traditional temporal and geographic frameworks of World War II expanding the timeline to include a series of regional conflicts and revolutions that began in 1931 and continued into the mid 1950s These conflicts bookended a central paroxysm defined by the intervention of the United States into every theater of the war rendering it genuinely global The essays within this volume bring top level accounts of US European and Axis strategic maneuvering into conversation with social histories of bottom up agency in ways that destabilize conventional narratives Working with novel and overlapping scales of time and space and attuned to ongoing and lively debates about the place of the nation state in global history after 1945 the scholars featured in The Greater Second World War seek to not only describe the war's beginnings in Asia and Africa rather than in Europe but also trace its ends to the shatter zones of the Soviet frontier the struggles for sovereignty in contested spaces and the long reaches of US imperialism well into the late twentieth century Together their contributions reveal how the cascading imperial and economic crises of the mid twentieth century triggered a series of discrete local and regional struggles that took on the character of a singular unified world war after the entry of the United States into every theater and almost every corner of the world Contributors Marco Maria Aterrano Th W Bottelier Pablo del Hierro Alexandre Fortes Kelly A Hammond Ashley Jackson Naina Manjrekar David Motadel Tejasvi Nagaraja Martin Thomas

A More Democratic Community Sara Lorenzini, Umberto Tulli, 2024-08-01 The histories of European unification and of West European democracy during the second half of the twentieth century have often been considered as separate or even antagonistic processes with the institutions of European integration being regarded as bastions of bureaucratic rule A More Democratic Community challenges this assumption and argues that European integration benefited from the democratic accountability of member states while contributing to the validation of national democratic institutions However it also unveils a paradox as integration deepened it diminished the power of national parliaments sparking a democratic accountability crisis within the Community
