Stråth,2016-01-28 Europe's Utopias of Peace explores attempts to create a lasting European peace in the aftermath of the Napoleonic wars and the two world wars The book charts the 250 year cycle of violent European conflicts followed by new utopian formulations for peace The utopian illusion was that future was predictable and rules could prescribe behaviour in conflicts to come Bo Stråth examines the reiterative bicentenary cycle since 1815 where each new postwar period built on a design for a project for European unification He sets out the key historical events and the continuous struggle with nationalism linking them to legal political and economic thought Biographical sketches of the most prominent thinkers and actors provide the human element to this narrative Europe's Utopias of Peace presents a new perspective on the ideological legal economic and intellectual conditions that shaped Europe since the 19th century and presents this in a global context It challenges the conventional narrative on Europe's past as a progressive enlightenment heritage highlighting the ambiguities of the legacies that pervade the institutional structures of contemporary Europe Its long term historical perspective will be invaluable for students of contemporary Europe or modern European history Nonalignment and Peace Versus Military

Colonialism Norrie Macqueen, 2014-07-22 Europe's rapacious hunger for other people's lands is one of the key shaping forces of our contemporary world Everything is touched by our colonial past from the way we see the world to the food we eat Our contemporary preoccupations and ills from globalization to humanitarian intervention to international terrorism have colonialism somewhere in their genetic make up The character and policies of contemporary international organizations from the United Nations to the European Union have also been deeply affected by the colonial inheritance of their members whether as perpetrators or victims Weaving together the complex strands of history and politics into one compact narrative this book addresses the key theories of colonialism examining them against contemporary realities It goes on to look at how the different policies of colonisers have had profoundly contradictory effects on the way different empires ended in the 20th century These endings in turn affected the entire nature of modern day international relations It also exposes the moral ambiguities of colonialism and the hypocrisies which underlay colonial policies in the 19th and 20th centuries

Ethnic Minority Cinema in China's Nation-State Building Kwai-Cheung Lo, 2025-02-03 Ethnic Minority Cinema in China's Nation State Building investigates the relationship between cinematic productions about non Han ethnic minorities and China's nation state building project from the early Republican era of the 1920s to the current authoritarian regime in the twenty first century Kwai Cheung Lo argues that the glossy but superficial cinematic depictions of non Han ethnic minorities manufactured and manipulated by state authorities have deeply penetrated the Chinese public's conception of what an ideal multiethnic nation should be like as well as what it means to be Chinese under political unification Lo understands these representations of ethnic minorities as part of a larger ecosystem and the culture's values and life practices of non Han ethnic minorities as closely entwined with environmental issues and politics This intertwining Lo argues suggests a crisis in objectification and identification of both people and the environment that plays out in cinema featuring ethnic minorities Lo traces these depictions of Chinese ethnic minority groups in films created by both Han majority and non Han filmmakers examining how these representations became a site in which state authorities Han and non Han communities and foreign agencies compete and interact under the larger context of building and imagining the Chinese nation state

Imperialism in the Modern World William Bowman, Frank Chiteji, J. Megan Greene, 2016-11-03 Imperialism in the Modern World combines narrative primary and secondary sources and visual documents to examine global relations in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries The three co editors Professors Bowman Chiteji and Greene have taught for many years global history classes in a variety of institutions They wrote Imperialism in the Modern World to solve the problem of allowing teachers to combine primary and secondary texts easily and systematically to follow major themes in global history some readers use primary materials exclusively Some focus on secondary arguments This book is more focused than other readers on the markets for those teachers who are offering more specialized world history courses one important trend in global history is away from simply trying to cover everything to teaching real connections in more chronologically and thematically focused courses The reader also provides a genuine diversity of global perspectives and invites students to study seriously world history from a critical framework Too many readers offer a smorgasbord approach to world history that leaves students dazed and confused This reader avoids that approach and will therefore solve many problems that teachers have in constructing and teaching world history courses at the introductory or upper division levels The reader will allow show students how to read historical documents through a hands on demonstration in the introduction The book also incorporates images as visual documents Finally the book conceives of global history in the widest possible terms it contains pieces on political diplomatic economic and military history to be sure but it also has selections on technology medicine women the environment social changes and cultural patterns Other readers can not match this text s breadth because they are chronologically and thematically so extended

Borderlines and Borderlands Alexander C. Diener, Joshua Hagen, 2010-01-16 From our earliest schooldays we are shown the world as a colorful collage of countries each defined by their own immutable borders What we often don t realize is that every political boundary was created by people No political border is more natural or real than another yet some international borders make no apparent sense at all While focusing on some of these unusual border shapes this fascinating book highlights the important truth that all borders even those that appear normal are social constructions In an era where the continued relevance of the nation state is being questioned and where transnationalism is altering the degree to which borders effectively demarcate spaces of belonging the contributors argue that this point is vital to our understanding of the world The unique and compelling histories of some of the world s oddest borders provide an ideal context for this group of experts to offer accessible and enlightening discussions of cultural globalization economic integration international migration imperialism postcolonialism global terrorism nationalism and supranationalism Each author's regional expertise enriches a textured account of the historical context in which these borders came into existence as well as their historical and ongoing influence on the people and states they bound To view more maps from the David Rumsey Map Collection visit www.davidrumsey.com Contributions by Eric D Carter Karen Culcasi Alexander C Diener Joshua Hagen Reece Jones Robert Lloyd Nick Megoran Julian V Minghi David Newman Robert Ostergren and William C Rowe The Rise of Free Trade Cheryl Schonhardt-Bailey, 1997 Why was Britain the first country to opt for unilateral free trade 150 years ago On 16 May 1846 the House of Commons voted to abolish tariff protection for agriculture the famous repeal of the Corn Laws Britain then adhered to her free trade policy despite both her relative economic decline and the protectionist policies of her leading trade rivals the USA and Germany This four volume set examines and explains the contentious issues surrounding the policy shift to free trade and the subsequent persistence of that policy This set provides a comprehensive collection of articles including previously unpublished material on nineteenth century British trade policy and a new and comprehensive introduction by the editor putting the material into context Traditions and

Orientalism and the Reception of Powerful Women from the Ancient World Filippo Carlà-Uhink, Anja Wieber, 2020-02-06 Why is Cleopatra a descendent of Alexander the Great a Ptolemy from a Greek Macedonian family in popular imagination an Oriental woman True she assumed some aspects of pharaonic imagery in order to rule Egypt but her Orientalism mostly derives from ancient Roman and modern stereotypes both the Orient and the idea of a woman in power are signs in the Western tradition of otherness and in this sense they can easily overlap and interchange This volume investigates how ancient women and particularly powerful women such as queens and empresses have been re imagined in Western and not only Western arts highlights how this re imagination and re visualization is more often than not the product of Orientalist stereotypes even when dealing with women who had nothing to do with Eastern regions and compares these images with examples of Eastern gaze on the same women Through the chapters in this volume readers will discover the similarities and differences in the ways in which women in power were and still are described and decried by their opponents
