Evaluating Health Social Care Hc:

Managing and Evaluating Healthcare Intervention Programs Ian G. Duncan, 2008 Post-legislative assessment of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 Great Britain: Department of Health, 2013-05-20 The 2008 Act falls into five main parts whose main objectives were to establish the Care Quality Commission to change arrangements for regulation of health professionals and of the health and social care workforce to update the Public Health Control of Disease Act 1984 to create the Health in Pregnancy Grant and to make miscellaneous other changes in relation to health and social care Most of the provisions of the Act are now in force in some cases with amendments made by later legislation The main exceptions include part 2 sections 124 126 which dealt with various matters in the remit of the General Social Care Council and were not commenced Instead the Council was abolished and its functions were transferred to the Health and Care Professions Council in 2012 Part 3 provisions relating to port health have not yet been commenced but the intention is that they will come into force at the same time as new port health regulations The Act achieved its objectives or in the case of port health is in the process of doing so with the exception of the creation of the Office of the Health Professions Adjudicator The rest of the memorandum considers each Part of the Act in more detail with information about secondary legislation made under the powers created by the Act and key guidance issued in relation to it any legal issues that have arisen in relation to the Act and other reviews of the Act that the Department of Health is aware of Feeding Back? Learning from Complaints Handling in Health and Social Care Great Britain. National Audit Office, 2008 There are currently two separate statutory processes for handling complaints about health and social care services NHS organisations are accountable to the Department of Health and social care services are accountable through their local authority whilst adult social care rests with the Department There are differences in the numbers of stages and timescales involved and in the arrangements for advocacy support and independent investigation The Health Service Ombudsman is responsible for the ultimate review and decision on NHS complaints and the Local Government Ombudsman for social care complaints The NAO in this report HCP 853 session 2007 08 has undertaken an evaluation of existing performance capability capacity and costs of complaints handling in both health and adult social care The NAO has set out a number of findings and recommendations including that where people are dissatisfied there is a low number who make formal complaints that navigating the complaints systems is not straightforward particularly for health service users only a small proportion of NHS complainants are aware or receive national advocacy support that the culture and attitudes of the organisations are often a barrier to responsive complaint handling neither the health or social care organisations know the cost of complaints handling that pursuing a complaint requires considerable time determination and resilience Community Care, Secondary Health Care and Care Management David Challis, Robin Darton, Karen Stewart, 2018-08-13 First published in 1998 creating a discourse on community care differences in of care management links between assessment secondary health care and care management by addressing several areas which provide opportunities for successful service development Oxford Professional Practice: Handbook of Quality Improvement in Healthcare Peter Lachman, 2024-02-06 Quality of care is an essential outcome in modern healthcare and improving this care is an integral part of the daily work of all healthcare professionals The Handbook of Quality Improvement in Healthcare systematically covers the most modern theories and methods of improvement and implementation science in a practical and easy to follow format It focusses on key challenges in healthcare such as developing safe person centred care ensuring equity of care meeting the challenge of climate change and ensuring that care is safe effective timely and delivered efficiently By using helpful case studies throughout and providing ethical psychological and practical advice on quality of care this pocket sized handbook is the ideal guide to all in healthcare today Evaluating Health Risks Per-Olov Johansson, 1995-04-27 A major problem in health economics is how to give a value to changes in health This is the first book to present a comprehensive survey of the money measures that are used in such evaluations The author defines the properties of these money measures examining them in both a certain and a risky world He evaluates available empirical approaches for the assessment of the value of health changes and considers measures such as quality adjusted life years QALYS and health years equivalents HYES Evaluating the Organizational Impact of Health Care Information Systems James G. Anderson, Carolyn Aydin, 2006-04-07 Evaluating the Organizational Impact of Health Care Information Systems Second Edition is heavily updated and revised from its First Edition which is entitled Evaluating Health Care Information Systems Methods and Applications The much needed Second Edition is a guide for evaluating the organizational impacts of computer systems in health care institutions It provides a practical guide for determining the appropriate questions to ask based on underlying models of change and the most effective methods available An introduction to various methods is provided as well as appendices containing survey instruments usable in research and evaluation computer programs for data analyses and other evaluation resources The book provides a critical overview of current research and evaluation to date with numerous bibliographic references from health care and other fields The methods and instruments described are applicable to a wide variety of other organizations that utilize information technology and they emphasize the importance of clearly specifying the purpose of the evaluation recognizing assumptions about organizational change and using a multi method approach to system evaluation The material presented is drawn from a variety of social and health science disciplines in order to integrate the study of information system with social science theory and methods Chapter highlights include Cognitive Approaches to Evaluation Computer Simulation as an Evaluation Tool and Research and Evaluation Future Directions Evaluating the Organizational Impact of Health Care Information Systems Second Edition is timely since annual investment in information technology by health care organization in the U S now exceeds 15 billion It will prove valuable to physicians nurses other health care providers health care administrators information systems personnel and consultants who are involved in planning developing implementing utilizing and evaluating computer based health care
