Evenings At Five:

Evenings at Five Gail Godwin, 2003-04-01 Every evening at five o'clock Christina and Rudy stopped work and began the ritual commonly known as Happy Hour Rudy mixed Christina's drink with loving precision the cavalier slosh of Bombay Sapphire over ice shards before settling across from her in his Stickley chair with his glass of Scotch They shared a love of language and music she is an author he a composer after all a delight in intense conversation a fascination with popes and nearly thirty years of life together What did I think that we had forever muses Christina seven months after Rudy's unexpected death While coming to terms with her loss with the space that Rudy once inhabited Christina reflects on their vibrant bond with all its quirks habits and unguarded moments as well as her passionate sorrow and her attempts to reposition herself and her new place in the very real world they shared In this literary jewel a bittersweet novella of absence and presence and the mysterious gap between them Gail Godwin has performed a small miracle In essence Evenings at Five is a grief sonata for solo instrument transposed into words Interwoven with meditations and movements full of aching truths and a wicked sense of humor it exquisitely captures the cyclical nature of commitment and the eternal quality of a romance completed

Weaving Work and Motherhood Anita Ilta Garey, 1999

In American culture the image of balancing work and family life is often represented in the glossy shot of the executive track woman balancing cell phone laptop and baby In Weaving Work and Motherhood Anita Ilta Garey focuses not on the corporate executives so frequently represented in American ads and magazines but rather on the women in jobs that typify the vast majority of women s employment in the United States A sociologist and work and family expert Garey situates her research in the health service industry Interviewing a racially and ethnically diverse group of women hospital workers clerical workers janitorial workers nurses and nurse s aids Garey analyzes what it means to be at once a mother who is employed and a worker with children Within the limits of the resources available to them women integrate their identities as workers and their identities as mothers by valuing their relation to work while simultaneously preserving cultural norms about what it means to be a good mother Some of these women work non day shifts in order to have the right blocks of time at home including for example a registered nurse who explains how working the night shift enables her to see her children off to school greet them when they return and attend school events in the way she feels good mothers should even if she finds little time for sleep Moving beyond studies of women work and family in terms of structural incompatibilities Garey challenges images of the exclusively work oriented or exclusively family oriented mother As women talk about their lives Garey focuses on the meanings of motherhood and of work that underlie their strategies for integrating employment and motherhood She replaces notions of how women balance work and family with a better understanding of how women integrate negotiate and weave together their identities as both workers and mothers Breaking new ground in the study of work and family Weaving Work and Motherhood offers new insights for those interested in sociology gender and women s studies social policy child care social welfare and health care
