Proceedings of the convention Morals and the Media Nick Russell, 1994 Confronted daily with decisions on how to present their stories what to write and what not to write journalists and the media are frequently accused of sensationalizing of choosing to report the bad news and of misquoting those they interview In this substantially updated edition of Morals and the Media Nick Russell addresses many of the concerns the public has about the media as he examines why the media behave the way they do He also discusses how values have been developed and applied and suggests value systems that can be used to judge special situations The American Journalist in the 1990s David H. Weaver, G. Cleveland Wilhoit, 2020-08-13 Who are U S journalists What are their backgrounds and educational experiences Why did they choose journalism as an occupation What do they think about their work What are their professional and ethical values What kinds of work do they consider their best Do men differ from women on these questions Do ethnic and racial minorities differ from the majority Do journalists working for different print and broadcast news media differ This book uses findings from the most comprehensive and representative study ever done of the demographic and educational backgrounds working conditions and professional and ethical values of 1 410 U S print and broadcast journalists working in the 1990s to answer these questions including separate analyses for women and minority news people It also compares many of these findings with those from the major studies of the early 1970s and 1980s As such it should be the standard reference on U S journalists for years to come In addition this study goes beyond the previous two in adding more open ended questions to explain and enrich quantitative findings in the belief that the numbers by themselves are not enough to provide explanations for the patterns that emerge This book includes more of the journalists own words to fill this gap as well as an analysis of samples of their self selected best work Essentials Of Practical Journalism Vir Bala Aggarwal,2006 The Ethical Journalist Gene Foreman,Daniel R.
