Edmund Dulac, 1916-01-01 The old wife sang merrily as she sat in the inglenook stirring the soup for she had never felt so sad Many many years had come and gone leaving the weight of their winters on her shoulders and the touch of snow on her hair without ever bringing her a little child This made her and her dear old husband very sad for there were many children outside playing in the snow It seemed hard that not even one among them was their very own But alas there was no hope for such a blessing now Never would they see a little fur cap hanging on the corner of the mantelpiece nor two little shoes drying by the fire The old husband brought in a bundle of wood and set it down Then as he heard the children laughing and clapping their hands outside he looked out at the window There they were dancing with glee round a snow man they had made He smiled as he saw that it was evidently meant to look like the Mayor of the village it was so fat and pompous Look Marusha he cried to the old wife Come and see the snow man they've made As they stood together at the window they laughed to see what fun the children got out of it Suddenly the old man turned to her with a bright idea Let's go out and see if we can't make a little snow man But Marusha laughed at him What would the neighbours say They would poke fun at us it'd be the joke of the village Besides we're too old to play like children But only a little one Marusha only a teeny weeny little snow man and I'll manage it that nobody sees us Well well she said laughing have your own way as you always did Youshko With this she took the pot from the fire put on her bonnet and they went out together As they passed the children they stopped to play with them a while for they now felt almost like children themselves Then they trudged on through the snow till they came to a clump of trees and behind this where the snow was nice and white and nobody could see them they set to work to make their little man The old husband insisted that it must be very small and the old wife agreed that it should be almost as small as a new born babe Kneeling down in the snow they fashioned the little body in next to no time Now there remained only the head to finish Two fat handfuls of snow for the cheeks and face and a big one on top for the head Then they put on a wee dab for the nose and poked two holes one on each side for the eyes see the Prince staring at a bird who holds a talisman in his beak This is not the story of the Talking Bird also known as The Three Sisters but the bird who led Prince Kemerezzeman astray from Princess Badoura as you will read in the 1951 series Sindbad the Sailor and the Roc is again a repeat of the illustration from the 1914 edition Here Sindbad in his second voyage ties himself to the leg of the gigantic Roc bird to be carried to where the diamonds are to be found The final illustration is The Enchanted Horse made of ivory and ebony which will fly through the air to any destination the rider desires Here the Prince mounts the magic horse and without yet knowing the secret of how to manipulate the flight takes off into the unknown to find his Princess and his fortune
