Pets Erica Fudge, 2014-12-05 When I play with my cat who knows if I am not a pastime to her more than she is to me Michel de Montaigne Why do we live with pets Is there something more to our relationship with them than simply companionship What is it we look for in our pets and what does this say about us as human beings In this fascinating book Erica Fudge explores the nature of this most complex of relationships and the difficulties of knowing what it is that one is living with when one chooses to share a home with an animal Fudge argues that our capacity for compassion and ability to live alongside others is evident in our relationships with our pets those paradoxical creatures who give us a sense of comfort and security while simultaneously troubling the categories human and animal For what is a pet if it isn t a fully fledged member of the human family This book proposes that by crossing over these boundaries pets help construct who it is we think we are Drawing on the works of modern writers such as J M Coetzee Elizabeth Marshall Thomas and Jacques Derrida Fudge shows how pets have been used to think with and to undermine our easy conceptions of human animal and home Indeed Pets shows our obsession with domestic animals that reveals many of the paradoxes contra dictions and ambiguities of life Living with pets provides thought provoking perspectives on our notions of possession and mastery mutuality and cohabitation love and dominance We might think of pets as simply happy loved additions to human homes but as this captivating book reveals perhaps it is the pets that make the home and without pets perhaps we might not be the humans we think we are For anyone who has ever wondered like Montaigne what their cat is first time Epistemology & Methodology I: M. Bunge, 2012-12-06 In this Introduction we shall state the business of both descriptive and normative epistemology and shall locate them in the map of learning. This must be done because epistemology has been pronounced dead and methodology nonexistent and because when acknowledged at all they are often misplaced. 1 DESCRIPTIVE EPISTEMOLOGY The following problems are typical of classical epistemology: i What can we know? ii How do we know? iii What if anything does the subject contribute to his knowledge? iv What is truth? v How can we recognize truth? vi What is probable knowledge as opposed to certain knowledge? vii Is there a priori knowledge and if so of what? viii How are knowledge and action related? ix How are knowledge and language related? x What is the status of concepts and propositions? In some guise or other all of these problems are still with us. To be sure if construed as a demand for an inventory of knowledge the first problem is not a philosophical one any more than the question 'What is there?' But it is a genuine philosophical problem if construed thus: What kinds of object are knowable and which ones are not? However it is doubtful that philosophy can offer a correct answer to this problem without the help of science and technology. For example only these disciplines can tell us whether man can know not only phenomena (appearances) but also noumena (things in themselves or self-existing objects).

Thinking, Fast and Slow by Daniel Kahneman - A 30-minute Summary Instaread Summaries, 2014-10-21 PLEASE NOTE This is a summary of the book and NOT the original book Thinking Fast and Slow by Daniel Kahneman. A 30 minute Summary Inside this Instaread Summary Overview of the entire book Introduction to the important people in the book Summary and analysis of all the chapters in the book Key Takeaways of the book A Reader's Perspective Preview of this summary Introduction In this book Daniel Kahneman hopes to identify and understand errors of judgment and choice. He wants to provide a richer and more accurate vocabulary to discuss these errors. He worked with his colleague Amos Tversky doing research on intuitive statistics. The two of them had already concluded in an earlier seminar that their own intuitions were lacking. Their subjective judgments were biased; they were too willing to believe research findings based on inadequate evidence and they collected too few observations in their own research. The goal of their study was to find out whether other researchers had this problem as well. Kahneman and Tversky found that participants in their studies ignored the relevant statistical facts and relied exclusively on resemblance. They used resemblance as a heuristic rule of thumb to simplify things when making a difficult judgment. Relying on this heuristic caused predictable biases (systematic errors) in their predictions. The research partners learned that people tend to determine the importance of issues by how easy they are retrieved from their memory. This is brought about in large part by the extent of coverage of the issues in the media. Kahneman presents a view of how the mind works drawing on recent developments in cognitive and social psychology. He explains the differences between fast intuitive thinking and slow deliberate thinking. People have a limitation in their minds: an excessive confidence in what they think they know. Fundamentals of HR Analytics Fermin Diez, Mark Bussin, Venessa Lee, 2019-11-11 Providing practical hands on approaches to connect data to HR policies and practices to help influence day Informatics and the Foundations of Legal Reasoning Z. Bankowski, I. White, Ulrike Hahn, 2013-03-09 Informatics and the Foundations of Legal Reasoning represents a close collaboration between a wide range of disciplines and countries. Fourteen papers together with a long analytical introduction by the editors were selected from the contributions of legal theorists, computer scientists, philosophers and logicians who were members of an International Working Group supported by the European Commission. The Group was mandated to work towards determining how far the law is amenable to formal modeling and in what ways computers might assist legal thinking and practice. The book is the result of discussions held by the Group over two and half years. It will help students and researchers from different backgrounds to focus on a common set of topics of increasing general interest. It embodies the results of work in progress and suggests many issues for further discussion. A stimulating text for undergraduate and graduate courses in law, philosophy and computer science departments as well as for those interested in the place of computers in legal practice especially at the international level. Vegan Geographies Simon Springer, 2022-03-01 Veganism as an ethics and a practice has a recorded history dating back to Antiquity. Yet it is only recently that researchers have begun the process of formalizing the study of veganism. Whereas occasional publications have recently emerged from sociology, history, philosophy, cultural studies or critical animal studies, a comprehensive geographical analysis is missing. Until now. In fourteen chapters from a diverse group of scholars and living practitioners, Vegan Geographies looks across space and scale, exploring the appropriateness of vegan ethics among diverse social and cultural groups and within the midst of broader neoliberal economic and political frameworks that seek to commodify and marketize the movement. Vegan Geographies fundamentally challenges outdated but still dominant human nature dualisms that underpin widespread suffering and ecological degradation, providing practical and accessible pathways for people interested in challenging contemporary systems and working collectively toward less destructive worlds.

Off-Line Lawrence Goldstone, 2003-12-31 The year is 2020. Glynnis Rodman, brilliant and beautiful, a senior executive at MicroLink, one of the country's most powerful cyber companies, has been found dead in her apartment after an S M encounter with a stranger. Veteran senior investigator Phil Gagliardi Jr, forty-two, bored and recently divorced, is called to the scene. Computer analysis determines the cause of death to be cardiac arrest induced by an overdose of an illegal orgasm-enhancing drug. Records prove that the drug had been supplied by the partner. The case seems to be open and shut, but Phil cannot get the image of the dead woman out of his mind. Despite skepticism within the department and pressure from higher ups, he decides to investigate on his own. Phil soon learns that in the twenty-first century, investigating a crime is not so easy. In a society where ColorMatch selects the contents of a clothes closet, ArtTech chooses wall decor and an AccuStove prepares dinner, criminal analysis has been entirely entrusted to microchips. For the first time in years, Phil must solve a crime without help from machines, a skill that he has almost forgotten in Lawrence Goldstone's Off Line.
