

EDUCATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY & SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY

Education plays a vital role in human behavior it is imperative (essential) to study the mode of such role the education plays. The desirable changes in behavior that represent basic features of education are:

Knowledge it is the intimate acquaintance with fact

Skill: The ability to do a particular thing

Attitude: the positive or negative feeling one has towards any psychological object

Educational Psychology

Educational psychology is the systematic study of development of individual within the educational setting. Human behaviour can be understood, predicted, and directed towards desired goals by applying the principles of educational psychology. Educational psychology studies the individual through the life stages as he acquires new knowledge. As educational psychology is concerned with educational process from birth to death of an individual its scope is very wide concerned in the areas of the learner's developmental characteristics, individual differences, intelligence, personality and mental health. Increasing use of psychology is noticed in various spheres of life and extension education is no exception to it. In extension education, the development workers deal with rural people to teach the rural people about innovations to be adopted in their farm, home and village. In as much as the extension worker is involved in educating rural people most of the concepts discussed in this chapter are applicable to extension educational psychology. The only difference between them is that the learners are children in the subject of educational psychology and the learners are rural adults in extension educational psychology. The main aim of extension education is utilizing the research findings in solving the problems of rural people and they must attain desirable changes in the values and attitudes. Bringing this change is one of the major concerns of extension educational psychology. Thus, the main job of the extension worker is to teach the rural people. The learning experience is given in the areas in which rural people are interested. Thus, one could see the importance of educational psychology in extension education.

It deals with the behaviour of human beings in educational situations. This means that it is concerned with the study of human behaviour or the human personality, its growth, development and guidance under the social process of education. It is a branch of general

The Social Psychology of the Classroom Elisha Y. Babad, 2009

Teachers often find that their training has not provided them with sufficient knowledge and understanding about underlying social forces and processes in their classrooms. This new book addresses this gap by focusing on the social psychology of the classroom, providing the relevant social psychological knowledge and facilitating the application of that knowledge in the practice of the teacher in the classroom. Elisha Babad discusses the state of the art of classroom management, theory, research, and practice and explores a full range of teacher and classroom experiences such as teachers' differential behavior in the classroom and its psychological price, students' roles and relationships, and distinguishing between educating students and changing students. This exceptional book will be of interest to students and scholars of educational studies and educational psychology as well as for teachers in training, experienced teachers, and educators at large.
