The ^AMaking of European Music in the Long Eighteenth Century D. R. M. Irving, 2024-09-03 In this book author D R M Irving traces the emergence of such large scale categories as European music and Western music showing how they originate from self fashioning in contexts of intercultural comparison outside the European continent rather than the resolution of national aesthetic differences within it Taken as a whole this study demonstrates how reductive labels for the musics of a continent or a hemisphere often imply homogeneity and essentialism and how a renewed critique of primary sources can help dismantle historiographical constructs that arose within narratives of musical pasts involving Europe

Eighteenth-Century Art Worlds Michael Yonan, Stacey Sloboda, 2019-02-21 While the connected international character of today s art world is well known the eighteenth century too had a global art world Eighteenth Century Art Worlds is the first book to attempt a map of the global art world of the eighteenth century Fourteen essays from a distinguished group of scholars explore both cross cultural connections and local specificities of art production and consumption in Africa the Americas Asia and Europe The result is an account of a series of interconnected and asymmetrical art worlds that were well developed in the eighteenth century Capturing the full material diversity of eighteenth century art this book considers painting and sculpture alongside far more numerous prints and decorative objects Analyzing the role of place in the history of eighteenth century art it bridges the disciplines of art history and cultural geography and draws attention away from any one place as a privileged art historical site while highlighting places such as Manila Beijing Mexico City and London as significant points on globalized map of the eighteenth century art world Eighteenth Century Art Worlds combines a broad global perspective on the history of art with careful attention to how global artistic concerns intersect with local ones offering a framework for future studies in global art history
