European Journal Two Sisters Abroad In 1847:

A European Journal Mary Wilson, 1987 An account by Mary and Anne Wilson of their travels in Europe from January to October 1847 with their brother John Mary kept a detailed diary of everything they did and saw She describes the local museums ruins and other sights of each place they visit She also notes the local habits diet and costumes of the people they encounter and gives her opinion of them Her sister Anne was an artist and kept a constant record of their travels The book is illustrated with reproductions of both her sketches and watercolours The narrative gives an insight into the social history not only of the areas they visited but of the attitudes of these Victorian women abroad A Gentlewoman in Upper Canada

Anne Langton, 2008-01-01 First published in 1950 A Gentlewoman in Upper Canada is a classic work of early pioneering literature This new significantly expanded edition includes many of Langton's original illustrations and reveals Langton's views on writing art and women's social and familial roles in nineteenth century Europe and Canada The Smell Of The Continent James Munson, Richard Mullen, 2010-12-10 I remember being much amused last year when landing at Calais wrote Mrs Frances Trollope in her 1835 book Paris and the Parisians at the answer made by an old traveller to a novice making his first voyage What a dreadful smell said the uninitiated stranger it is the smell of the continent sir replied the man of experience And so it was Historians James Munson and Richard Mullen examine just what it was about the smell of the continent that so attracted British travellers in the hundred years from the fall of Napoleon to the outbreak of the First World War It was the first time in history that the British en masse set out to discover Europe Drawing on contemporary accounts diaries and letters Munson and Mullen offer a compelling portrait of the Victorians abroad many of them convinced that their country was not only vastly superior but also the envy of the world From the glowing review coverage Pure charm A N Wilson Reader's Digest An entertaining and sometimes surprising thought provoking history Sunday Times Tourists Lucy

Lethbridge, 2022-08-18 FOYLES NON FICTION BOOK OF THE MONTH I really can't recommend this enough especially if you are going on holiday Tom Holland Delightful Lucy Lethbridge has written a glorious romp of a book Kathryn Hughes The Mail on Sunday It is the paramount wish of every English heart ever addicted to vagabondizing to hasten to the Continent In 1815 the Battle of Waterloo brought to an end the Napoleonic Wars and the European continent opened up once again to British tourists The nineteenth century was to be an age driven by steam technology mass industrialisation and movement and in the footsteps of the Grand Tourists a hundred years earlier the British middle classes flocked to Europe to see the sights In Tourists the voices of these travellers puzzled shocked delighted and amazed are brought vividly to life From the discomfort of the stagecoach to the self contained pleasure palace of the beach resort Lucy Lethbridge brilliantly examines two centuries of tourists experience Among a range of disparate characters we meet the commercial titans of Victorian tourism Albert Smith Henry Gaze and Thomas Cook as well as their successor Vladimir Raitz the creator of the modern beach holiday The growth of popular tourism introduced new markets in guidebooks souvenirs cuisine and health cures It smoothed over class differences but also exacerbated them It destroyed traditional cultures while at the same time preserving them From portable cameras to postcards and suntans Tourists explores how tourism has reflected changing attitudes to modernity and how from the grand hotel to the campsite the foreign holiday exposes deep fears hopes and even longings for home
