European Progress In Spatial Analysis:

European Progress in Spatial Analysis Robert John Bennett, 1981-01-01 Life and Motion of Socio-Economic Units Andrew Frank, Jonathan Raper, J. P. Cheylan, 2003-09-02 One of the ongoing problems researchers in geography and GIS have is studying data that is inherently spatial over a long period of time One of the main hurdles they have to overcome is the study of groups of people classified by their socio economic status one of the main means for governments companies and research organisations to group together segments of the population The amount of data collected by governments business and research organisations has increased markedly in recent years Geographic Information Systems have been more widely used than ever before for the storage and analysis of this information Most GIS can handle this information spatially rather than temporally and have difficulty with the management of socio economic time series which relate to spatial units Accordingly this book covers the issues ranging from the formal model to differentiate aspects of spatio temporal data through philosophical and fundamental reconsideration of time and space to the development of practical solutions to the problem This book draws together an interdisciplinary group of scientists in the field of geography computing surveying and philosophy It presents the definitive sourcebook on temporal GIS as applied to socio economic units The Future of Geography (RLE Social & Cultural Geography) Ron Johnston, 2014-01-10 The chapters in this book address fundamental questions of the nature and purpose of geography scrutinising its contents philosophy and methodology Aimed at undergraduates its purpose is to broaden the debate about what geography had become during the 1980s and what shape it might take in the future Statistics for Geoscientists Techniques and Applications. Saroj K Pal, Recalibrating the Quantitative Revolution in Geography Ferenc Gyuris, Boris Michel, Katharina Paulus, 2022-05-17 This book brings together international research on the quantitative revolution in geography It offers perspectives from a wide range of contexts and national traditions that decenter the Anglo centric discussions The mid 20th century quantitative revolution is frequently regarded as a decisive moment in the history of geography transforming it into a modern and applied spatial science This book highlights the different temporalities and spatialities of local geographies laying the ground for a global history of a specific mode of geographical thought It contributes to the contemporary discussions around the geographies and mobilities of knowledge notions of worlding linguistic privilege decolonizing and internationalizing of geographic knowledge This book will be of interest to researchers postgraduates and advance students in geography and those interested in the spatial sciences Ground Truth John Pickles, 1995-01-01 Professionals who work with grieving families including psychiatrists psychologists social workers family therapists physicians and nurses who work with dying patients and their families hospice and patient home care workers clergy The book also serves as a text in courses on bereavement family development family and child therapy and child developmental psychopathology Instant encyclopaedia of geography Shatrughna P. Sinha, 1993 International Encyclopedia of Human Geography, 2009-07-16 The International Encyclopedia of Human Geography provides an authoritative and comprehensive source of information on the discipline of human geography and its constituent and related subject areas. The encyclopedia includes over 1 000 detailed entries on philosophy and theory, key concepts, methods and practices, biographies of notable geographers and geographical thought and praxis in different parts of the world. This groundbreaking project covers every field of human geography and the discipline's relationships to other disciplines and is global in scope, involving an international set of contributors. Given its broad inclusive scope and unique online accessibility, it is anticipated that the International Encyclopedia of Human Geography will become the major reference work for the discipline over the coming decades. The Encyclopedia will be available in both limited edition print and online via ScienceDirect, featuring extensive browsing, searching and internal cross referencing between articles in the work, plus dynamic linking to journal articles and abstract databases, making navigation flexible and easy. For more information, pricing options and availability, visit http://info.sciencedirect.com/content/books/ref_works. Available online on ScienceDirect and in limited edition print format. Broad interdisciplinary coverage across human geography: Philosophy, Methods, People, Social, Cultural, Political, Economic, Development, Health, Cartography, Urban, Historical, Regional.

Comprehensive and unique, the first of its kind in human geography. Urban Systems (Routledge Revivals) C S Bertuglia, G. Leonardi, S. Occelli, G. A. Rabino, R. Tadei, Alan Wilson, 2013-10-18. This edited collection, first published in 1987, provides a comparative analysis of different approaches to urban modelling and lays the foundations for the possibility of integration and a more unified field. The first part contextualises the development of the field of urban systems modelling, focusing on the variety of approaches and possible implications of this on the future of research and methodology. Next, the editors consider economic and non-economic approaches, followed by an analysis of spatial interaction-based approaches. Providing an overview to the field and research literature, the overarching argument is that there should be an integrated methodological approach to urban system modelling. Geography Since the Second World War Ron Johnston, Paul Claval, 2014-01-23. The discipline of geography has undergone much change and growth in recent years. With growth has come diversity. Before 1945, there were differences between countries in the emphases on subject matter and research approach, although these were all related closely to three main models: French, German and American. Since then, the relative importance of French and German influences has declined substantially, including within their own national territories, and the Anglo-American model has grown to world dominance. With that model, however, there is no dominant point of view, but rather a multiplicity of competing approaches. These various approaches have had a different reception in other parts of the world, reflecting the base of pre-1945 geographical scholarship, the goals of geographical work set by societies and the nature of the international contacts. The result is substantial international diversity in the practice of geography. This authoritative volume provides much needed information to make them aware of current international trends. Making European Space Ole Brandt Jensen, Tim Richardson, 2004. Making European Space crystallises and critically examines the key policy ideas.

emerging in the new field of European spatial planning and explores the arguments surrounding policy themes such as polycentric development sustainability Routledge Library Editions: Social & Cultural Geography Various Authors, 2022-07-30 Re issuing books originally published between 1969 and 1990 this set of 15 volumes gives a 20 year perspective on the development of the discipline of social geography The books emphasize the increasingly important contribution of geographical theory to the understanding of social change values economic and political organization and ethical imperatives The volumes are authored by well known international geographers and discuss the philosophy and sociology of geography as well as key themes such as the geography of health crime space They also examine the cross over of geography with other disciplines such as literature and history Progress in Marine Conservation in Europe Henning Nordheim, Dieter Boedeker, Jochen C. Krause, 2006-06-18 This volume offers insight in the identification and selection procedure of marine protected areas in the German exclusive economic zones EEZs of the North and Baltic Seas EU Member States are obliged to establish a coherent network of protected areas consisting of sites identified under the EC Habitats and Birds Directives The goal of this Natura 2000 network is the conservation of biodiversity on land and in the sea To fill important gaps in knowledge regarding the presence abundance and distribution of certain species and habitats in the German North and Baltic Seas the German Federal Agency for Nature Conservation BfN initiated a detailed research programme involving researchers from many renowned German marine research institutes This book contains the main results of the different projects under this research programme which formed the basis for the identification and selection of the Natura 2000 sites Information is given on two NATURA 2000 habitats sandbanks and reefs and benthic species fish birds and marine mammals as well as on legal aspects and implementation procedures Last but not least the book introduces the current status of NATURA 2000 in the German EEZ Target audience are not only scientists but also policymakers environmental organisations and other stakeholders and the book includes many illustrations Handbook of Regional and Urban Economics P. Nijkamp, Edwin S. Mills, P. C. Cheshire, 1986 This second volume of the Handbook presents professional surveys of all the important topics in urban economics The first section contains 6 surveys on locational analysis the second 5 surveys of specific urban markets and the third part presents 5 surveys of government policy issues The book brings together exhaustive research by distinguished scholars from many countries It is the only complete survey volume of urban economics and should serve as a reference volume to scholars and graduate students for many years For more information on the Handbooks in Economics series please see our home page on <http://www.elsevier.nl/locate/hes> Contemporary City Ecology Chiranjit Singh Yadav, 1987 Modelling with the Master Equation Günter Haag, 2017-07-31 This book presents the theory and practical applications of the Master equation approach which provides a powerful general framework for model building in a variety of disciplines The aim of the book is to not only highlight different mathematical solution methods but also reveal their potential by means of practical examples Part I of the book which can be used as a toolbox introduces selected statistical fundamentals and solution methods for the Master equation In Part II and Part III the Master equation approach is applied to important applications in the natural and social sciences The case studies presented mainly hail from the social sciences including urban and regional dynamics population dynamics dynamic decision theory opinion formation and traffic dynamics however some applications from physics and chemistry are treated as well underlining the interdisciplinary modelling potential of the Master equation approach Drawing upon the author s extensive teaching and research experience and consulting work the book offers a valuable guide for researchers graduate students and professionals alike

A Century of British Geography Ron Johnston, Michael Williams, 2022-09-11 These essays trace the evolution of British geography as an academic discipline during the last hundred years and stress how the study of the world we live in is fundamental to an understanding of its problems and concerns Never before has such an ambitious and wide ranging review been attempted and never before has it been done with so much knowledge and passion The principal themes covered in this volume are those of environment place and space and the applied geography of map making and planning The volume also addresses specific issues such as disease urbanization regional viability and ethics and social problems This lively and accessible work offers many insights into the minds and practices of today s geographers

European Territorial Governance Wil Zonneveld, 2012 The 1990s ended with the birth of the concept of European spatial planning which became a unique catalyst of change in Europe and in EU member states and regions This book examines both the evolution of territorial governance at a European and transnational level and how this new type of governance affects planning at the local and regional level It not only brings together a number of papers written by academic scholars but also several reflective contributions by practitioners As such this book seeks to contribute to various theoretical and empirical discussions the institutionalization of European policy and integration the Europeanisation of policy and planning multi level and multi actor policy making the contested nature of the knowledge base of European territorial governance and the role of visualization in politics and planning
