European Union After The Treaty Of Amsterdam:

European Union After the Treaty of Amsterdam Jörg Monar, Wolfgang Wessels, 2001-05-21 The 1997 Treaty of Amsterdam was the result of thirty months of negotiation and major political debates in all the member states of the E U Praised as a triumph of the possible and a breakthrough in major policy areas by some it has also attracted widespread criticism because of the reforms it postponed and the risks of fragmentation it introduced Whatever its merits and deficiencies it will have a major impact on the internal development of the E U its role in international relations and the process of its enlargement to the Central and Eastern European countries European Foreign Policy Dieter Mahncke, 2004 There is agreement in political and academic circles that the European Union needs a common foreign and security policy CFSP The question is how to move from recognised necessity to practical implementation from rhetoric to reality Many efforts have been made and indeed the creation of a European foreign policy is work in progress Bringing together a multinational team of both young researchers and established academics this volume offers a comprehensive analysis of this process uniquely combining the examination of the foundations institutions procedures and obstacles of EU level foreign policy with an extensive range of case studies exploring European policy on the ground in key areas such as the Balkans Africa or the Middle East Of use and interest to students of European politics and the general reader alike it breaks through the Euro jargon to provide a clear accessible and up to date account of this unprecedented system of international relations with a particular focus placed on the questions of why EU member states participate in the CFSP and what impact it enables them to have in geopolitics

(Department Of Law, University Of Leicester) Neuwahl, P. (Department Of Politics, University Of Leicester) Lynch, 2014-05-12 Analyses the likely future of the EU following next year s Intergovernmental Conference IGC which is likely to be even more significant for the future of Europe than the Maastricht Treaty Since Maastricht it has become clear that future developments are less certain with regard to the EU and integration The IGC will have to try and resolve tensions such as widening Europe to include former communist countries

whilst also trying to deepen Europe with increased political and economic integration providing a framework which is acceptable to a core of countries Benelux Germany France who favour more integration and an early move to monetary union with countries such as the UK which does not

European Integration After Amsterdam Karlheinz Neunreither, Antje Wiener, 2000 European integration is at a turning point with implications for all member states and their citizens The Amsterdam treaty marks a shift towards constitutional issues Integration has involved a continually evolving process of constitution making A group of leading scholars argue that the shift towards constitutional issues is rooted not only in the issues on the European level but also in shifting models of political and economic organisation in the member states Paradoxically however this push towards integration is accompanied by a number of institutional changes and political decisions which challenge the picture of on going integration and indicate a shift towards a new pluralism in the Euro polity The contributors address questions such as what are the likely effects of the Amsterdam treaty changes in comparison with Maastricht how will these changes effect the complex balance among the governing institutions of the EU and what will be the implications for the lingering quest for democracy

Constitutional Law of the EU's Common Foreign and Security Policy Graham Butler, 2019-10-03

The Common Foreign and Security Policy CFSP of the European Union is a highly exceptional component of the EU legal order This constitutionalised foreign policy regime with legal diplomatic and political DNA woven throughout its fabric is a distinct sub system of law on the outermost sphere of European supranationalism When contrasted against other Union policies it is immediately clear that EU foreign policy has a special decision making mechanism making it highly exceptional In the now depillarised framework of the EU treaties issues of institutional division arise from the legacy of the former pillar system This is due to the reality that of prime concern in EU external relations is the question of who decides By engaging a number of legal themes that cut across foreign affairs exceptionalism executive prerogatives parliamentary accountability judicial review and the constitutionalisation of European integration the book lays bare how EU foreign affairs have become highly legalised leading to ever greater coherence in how Europe exerts itself on the global stage In this first monograph dedicated exclusively to the law of the EU s Common Foreign and Security Policy in modern times the author argues that the legal framework for EU foreign affairs must adapt in a changing world so as to ensure the EU treaties can cater for a more assertive Europe in the wider world Cited in Opinion of Advocate General Evgeni Tanchev Case C 730 18 P SC v Eulex Kosovo ECLI EU C 2020 176 Court of Justice of the European Union First Chamber 5 March 2020 Opinion of Advocate General Gerard Hogan Case C 134 19 P Bank Refah Kargaran v Council of the European Union ECLI EU C 2020 396 Court of Justice of the European Union Grand Chamber 28 May 2020 Opinion of Advocate General Evgeni Tanchev Case C 283 20 CO ME GC and 42 Others v MJ Head of Mission European Commission European External Action Service EEAS Council of the European Union Eulex Kosovo ECLI EU C 2021 781 Court of Justice of the European Union Fifth Chamber 30 September 2021 and Opinion of Advocate General Tamara Capeta in Joined Cases C 29 22 P and C 44 22 P KS KD v Council of the European Union European Commission and European External Action Service EEAS and European Commission v KS KD Council of the European Union and European External Action Service EEAS ECLI EU C 2023 901 Court of Justice of the European Union Grand Chamber 23 November 2023
