Over the past five years the EU has established a new system of diplomacy centred on the European External Action Service (EEAS) and the High Representative for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy. This new system reflects a process of evolution in a changing context and has been faced by major challenges since its inception. This book examines the diplomatic system of the EU, locating it within the broader study of diplomacy and the European integration project. The volume is structured around the interrelated themes of institutional change and the evolving practices of EU diplomacy. It tracks the development of the EU's system of diplomacy with particular reference to the implementation of the Lisbon Treaty, the establishment of the EEAS and the emerging practices of EU strategic and structural diplomacy. The executive branch of government in Europe is being gradually transformed in several significant respects. First, executive power has been continuously strengthened at the EU level in the form of the European Commission, EU level agencies and diplomatic and military staff in the Union Council secretariat. Second, EU executive bodies relate directly to regulatory authorities at the national level in charge of applying and partly preparing EU laws and programmes, partly circumventing ministerial departments. Thus, parts of national administrations become parts of an integrated and multi-level Union administration as well as parts of national executives. Such a system with multiple political masters raises delicate questions about political steering and accountability. This book focuses on this fascinating development both from a political science and a legal perspective, encompassing the consolidation of the supranational executive as well as its relationships with its partners at the national level. This book was published as a special issue of West European Politics      The Council of Ministers Fiona Hayes-Renshaw, Helen Wallace, 2017-09-16

The Council of Ministers provides a comprehensive analysis of the Council of Ministers: how it works, its varied activities, functions and its relationships with the other key EU institutions and the member states. It is a key legislative institution which lies at the fulcrum of decision making in the European Union      Resolving Controversy in the European Union Robert Thomson, 2011-09-15

How does the EU resolve controversy when making laws that affect citizens? How has the EU been affected by the recent enlargements that brought its membership to a diverse group of twenty-seven countries? This book answers these questions.

with analyses of the EU's legislative system that include the roles played by the European Commission, European Parliament and member states' national governments in the Council of Ministers. Robert Thomson examines more than 300 controversial issues in the EU from the past decade and describes many cases of controversial decision making as well as rigorous comparative analyses. The analyses test competing expectations regarding key aspects of the political system including the policy demands made by different institutions and member states, the distributions of power among the institutions and member states and the contents of decision outcomes. These analyses are also highly relevant to the EU's democratic deficit and various reform proposals.

Negotiation Theory and the EU Andreas Dür, Gemma Mateo, Daniel Thomas, 2013-10-31

Negotiations are central to the ethos and functioning of the European Union yet the dynamics of EU negotiations have received far too little systematic scholarly attention. This volume offers a thematic and forward looking survey of cutting edge research on EU negotiation dynamics identifying findings to date and setting an empirical and methodological agenda for future research. The chapters by leading international experts address a wide range of critical questions in this area including: What factors influence negotiation behaviour and outcomes in the EU? How can we explain variation in the choice of negotiation styles? When do actors engage in arguing or bargaining? What are the determinants of bargaining power? What are the institutional foundations of EU negotiations? And what role does the presidency play in EU negotiations? The volume also discusses how the findings of the multi disciplinary field of negotiation studies can inform research on negotiation dynamics in the EU. The volume will be of great interest to established scholars and advanced students of international relations, European integration and governance and negotiation analysis. This book was based on a special issue of Journal of European Public Policy.

Europe's Migrant Policies Suzanne Mulcahy, 2011-10-18

What determines Europe's migrant policies and where does the EU fit into this picture? This book is a comparative analysis of the impact of the EU if any on the policies and politics of immigrant integration in its member states. It investigates whether the EU can be a force for good in this policy area.

EU Administrative Governance Herwig C.H. Hofmann, Alexander H. Türk, 2006-01-01
