was immediate pervasive and lasting significantly changing the way we hear music see art and read literature In The Theory of Minimalism Marc Botha offers the first general theory of minimalism equally applicable to literature the visual arts and music He argues that minimalism establishes an aesthetic paradigm for rethinking realism in genuinely radical terms In dialogue with thinkers from both the analytic and continental traditions including Kant Danto Agamben Badiou and Meillassoux Botha develops a constellation of concepts which together encapsulate the transhistorical and transdisciplinary reach of minimalism Illustrated by a range of historical canonical and contemporary minimalist works of different media from the caves of early Christian ascetics to Samuel Beckett's late prose Botha offers a bold and provocative argument which will equip readers with the tools to engage critically with past present and future minimalism and to recognize how in a culture caught between the poles of excess and austerity minimalism still matters

Doing Museology Differently Duncan Grewcock, 2013-09-05 One might believe that museum studies is a stable field of academic inquiry based on a set of familiar institutional forms and functions But as institutions museums have never been stable or singular and neither has the discipline of museum studies Museum studies as a field of academic inquiry has received little critical attention One result of this neglect has arguably been a lack of invention in museum studies another is the distancing of academic museum studies from museum practice Doing Museology Differently charts a different course A critical creative reflection on academic practice the book takes the form of a narrative account of museological fieldwork A research story unfolds challenging academic conventions at the level of its own presentation the book combines critical museum visiting with an autobiographical voice The identification of a previously underexplored interdisciplinary space leads the author to experiment with museum studies using contemporary developments in the theory and practice of human geography The new approaches to museological research and representation that emerge from this unique inquiry challenge assumed institutional and intellectual boundaries and act as a call to further creative experimentation
