Evaluation and Experiment Carl A. Bennett, Arthur A. Lumsdaine, 2013-09-24 Evaluation and Experiment Some Critical Issues in Assessing Social Programs is a collection of papers presented at the 1973 symposium held at The Battelle Seattle Research Center This book contains eight chapters that consider some selected aspects of the problems in evaluating the outcomes of socially important programs such as those dealing with education health and economic policy The first chapter provides an overview of the issues around the Social Program Evaluation The next chapters deal with the successes and failures brought by social innovations the quasi experimental evaluation in compensatory education to estimate the true effects of such education programs and the usefulness and validity of econometric and related nonexperimental approaches for assessing the effects of social programs. These topics are followed by surveys of a number of additional program evaluation studies particularly in the field of family planning or fertility control mostly carried out as experiments or quasi experiments in Asian and Latin American countries. Other chapters describe the decision processes that involve explicit assessment of the worth or merit of outcomes and employ multivalued utility analysis and outline the ways in which evaluative data are useful in providing feedback to program or institutional operations and decisions. The final chapter discusses resolutions for some of the disagreements expressed by others concerning the role of field experiments constraints in their utilization and other factors that enter into a comprehensive conception of program evaluation.

Evaluating Social Programs and Problems Stewart I. Donaldson, 2002 This book presents visions of how to solve social problems in the 21st century and how programs SHOULD be evaluated not how they will be evaluated.

Evaluating Anti-poverty Programs Martin Ravallion, 2005 The author critically reviews the methods available for the ex post counterfactual analysis of programs that are assigned exclusively to individuals households or locations. The discussion covers both experimental and non experimental methods including propensity score matching discontinuity designs double and triple differences and instrumental variables. Two main lessons emerge. First despite the claims of advocates no single method dominates rigorous policy relevant evaluations should be open minded about methodology. Second future efforts to draw more useful lessons from evaluations will call for more policy relevant measures and deeper explanations of measured impacts than are possible from the classic black box assessment of mean impact.
