Evaluating Criminology:

Perspectives On Evaluating Criminal Justice and Corrections Erica Bowen, Sarah Brown, 2012-06-20 A comprehensive and authoritative overview of issues relating to the evaluation of criminal justice corrections interventions this book draws on a range of theoretical cultural and epistemological perspectives with authors from a range of disciplines and countries and provides a unique reference for academics practitioners and policy makers Evaluating Criminology and Criminal Justice Ellen G. Cohn, David P. Farrington, Richard A. Wright, 1998-05-26 Using citation analysis this study examines the influence and prestige of scholars journals and university departments in the fields of criminology and criminal justice In the tradition of Marvin E Wolfgang s Evaluating Criminology the authors apply this quantitative method to evaluate the impact of individuals and their research efforts on two fields and to identify interconnections among scholars and their publications This examination of the most cited scholars works and topics in major American and international journals from 1986 to 1990 and from 1991 to 1995 provides valuable and unbiased feedback for researchers and practitioners The nine chapters of this book detail a wide range of findings in both criminology and criminal justice After an introduction to the methodology chapters two three and four divide recent scholarship into two periods 1986 to 1990 and 1991 to 1995 in order to consider the most cited scholars works and topics Chapter five provides a longitudinal analysis of scholars in the discipline since 1945 Chapters six and seven provide a system of prestige ratings for relevant journals as well as page coverage analysis of the most influential scholars The continuing controversy over whether the two fields are converging or diverging is the subject of chapter eight and the work concludes with a prescription for further research Evaluating Gun Policy

Jens Ludwig, Philip J. Cook, 2004-05-13 Compared with other developed nations the United States is unique in its high rates of both gun ownership and murder Although widespread gun ownership does not have much effect on the overall crime rate gun use does make criminal violence more lethal and has a unique capacity to terrorize the public Gun crime accounts for most of the costs of gun violence in the United States which are on the order of 100 billion per year But that is not the whole story Guns also provide recreational benefits and sometimes are used virtuously in fending off or forestalling criminal attacks Given that guns may be used for both good and ill the goal of gun policy in the United States has been to reduce the flow of guns to the highest risk groups while preserving access for most people There is no lack of opinions on policies to regulate gun commerce possession and use and most policy proposals spark intense controversy Whether the current system achieves the proper balance between preserving access and preventing misuse remains the subject of considerable debate Evaluating Gun Policy provides guidance for a pragmatic approach to gun policy using good empirical research to help resolve conflicting assertions about the effects of guns gun control and law enforcement The chapters in this volume do not conform neatly to the claims of any one political position The book is divided into five parts In the first section contributors analyze the connections between rates of gun ownership and two outcomes of particular interest to society suicide and burglary

Regulating ownership is the focus of the second section where contributors investigate the consequences a large scale combined gun ban and buy back program in Australia as well as the impact of state laws that prohibit gun ownership to those with histories of domestic violence The third section focuses on efforts to restrict gun carrying and includes a critical examination of efforts in Pit

Figlio, Terence P. Thornberry, 1978 Handbook of Criminal Justice Evaluation Malcolm W. Klein, 1980-10 This voluminous reference is indeed a handbook But what distinguishes the collection is not its breadth but its continuity American Bar Foundation Research Journal 1981 Evaluating Juvenile Justice James R. Kluegel, 1983-10 Rapid political shifts have alternatively favoured liberal approaches aimed at diverting some juvenile delinquents from the criminal justice system and conservative more punitive approaches to dealing with juveniles The authors look at a range of programmes that reflect these political changes and examine how they have worked in practice Criminological Theory Stephen G. Tibbetts, Craig Hemmens, 2009-10-15 This book provides the best of both worlds authored text sections with carefully selected accompanying readings covering criminological theory from past to present and beyond The articles from leading journals in criminology and criminal justice reflect both classic studies and state of the art research Key Features Begins with an introductory chapter that presents a succinct overview of criminological theory and briefly describes the organization and content of the book Features How to Read a Research Article a perfect introduction to understanding how real world research is organized and delivered in the journal literature Includes a mini chapter for each Section with figures and tables that present basic concepts and provide a background for the Readings that follow Provides key terms web resources and thought provoking discussion questions for each Section along with questions for each Reading to help students develop their critical thinking skills Instructor Resources on CD include a test bank PowerPoint slides for each section classroom activities and more A Student study site provides additional articles self study quizzes e flashcards and more Evaluating Safety and Crime Prevention Policies in Europe Tim Hope, 2009 This European comparison will be useful for public policies decision makers at various governmental levels European national regional local for crime prevention NGOs for journalists and for academics researchers students as well Realist Evaluation for Crime Science Graham Farrell, Aiden Sidebottom, 2018-10-17 This collection of essays published to mark the 20th anniversary of Realistic Evaluation celebrates the work of Professor Nick Tilley and his significant influence on the fields of policing crime reduction and evaluation With contributions from colleagues co authors and former students many of whom are leading scholars in their own right the thirteen essays which make up this volume contain both personal reflections and analysis of the prominent topics in Professor Tilley s forty years of scholarship Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experience in the Armed Service 76 American Council on Education, 1977 Handbook on Inequalities in Sentencing and Corrections among Marginalized Populations Eileen M. Ahlin, Ojmarrh Mitchell, Cassandra A. Atkin-Plunk, 2022-10-11 The Handbook on Inequalities in Sentencing and Corrections among Marginalized Populations offers state of the art volumes on seminal and topical issues that span the fields of sentencing and corrections The volume is a comprehensive and fresh approach to examining sentencing and community and institutional corrections The book includes empirical and theoretical essays and recent developments on the pressing concerns of persons of traditionally non privileged statuses including racial and ethnic minorities indigenous populations gender immigrant status LGBTQ transgender disability aging veterans and other marginalized statuses The handbook considers a wide range of perspectives for understanding the experiences of persons who identify as a member of a traditionally marginalized group This volume aims to help scholars and graduate students by providing an up to date guide to contemporary issues facing corrections and sentencing It will also assist practitioners with resources for developing socially informed policies and practices This collection of essays contributes to the knowledge base by summarizing what is known in each area and identifying emerging areas for theoretical empirical and policy work This is Volume 7 of The ASC Division on Corrections and Sentencing Handbook Series The handbooks provide in depth coverage of seminal and topical issues around sentencing and corrections for scholars students practitioners and policymakers

Integrated Developmental and Life-course Theories of Offending David P. Farrington, 2017-07-05 Developmental and life course criminology aims to provide information about how offending and antisocial behavior develops about risk and protective factors at different ages and about the effects of life events on the course of development This volume advances knowledge about these theories of offender behavior many of which have been formulated only in the last twenty years It also integrates knowledge about individual family peer school neighborhood community and situational influences on offender behavior and combines key elements of earlier theories such as strain social learning differential association and control theory Contributors Benjamin B Lahey and Irwin D Waldman focus on antisocial propensity and the importance of biological and individual factors Alex R Piquero and Terrie E Moffitt distinguish between life course persistent and adolescent limited offenders David P Farrington presents the Integrated Cognitive Antisocial Potential ICAP theory which distinguishes between long term and short term influences on antisocial potential Richard F Catalano J David Hawkins and their colleagues test the Social Development Model SDM Marc Le Blanc proposes an integrated multi layered control theory in which criminal behavior depends on bonding to society psychological development modeling and constraints Robert J Sampson and John H Laub hypothesize that offending is inhibited by the strength of bonding to family peers schools and later adult social institutions such as marriage and jobs Terence P Thornberry and Marvin D Krohn propose an interactional theory of antisocial behavior Per Olof H Witkstrom s developmental ecological action theory emphasizes the importance of situational factors opportunities cause temptation friction produces provocation and monitoring and the risk of sanctions have deterrent effects
