Lass, 2014-06-28 Speech and Language Advances in Basic Research and Practice Volume 11 contains articles that discuss a wide range of topics on speech and language processes and pathologies This volume is comprised of six contributions on a wide variety of topics on speech and language The book begins with an examination of approaches to aphasia diagnostics from both a medical and nonmedical perspective Subsequent chapters cover topics on acoustic phonetic descriptions of speech production in speakers with cleft palate and other velopharyngeal disorders the role of infant vocalizations as they relate to subsequent speech and language development pitch phenomena and applications in electrolarynx speech and practical applications of neuroanatomy The final chapter presents the employment of studies of temporal coordination to understand the development of motor control in speech and to provide a basis for testing theories on the development of speech as a motor skill Linguists speech pathologists and researchers on language development will find the book very insightful and informative      Behavioral Assessment and Rehabilitation of the Traumatically Brain-Damaged Barry A. Edelstein, Eugene T. Couture, 2013-11-22 This book developed out of the editors longstanding interest in the retraining of traumatically brain damaged adults and the management of their behavior by family members A search for relevant experimental evidence to support the clinical use of behavioral principles for retraining which began in 1977 turned up little empirical support Moreover the literature on retraining was dispersed among a variety of journals published in various countries Nowhere was there a compendium of literature that addressed issues of assessment and retraining There was no place to turn if one wanted to move from a standard neuropsychological evaluation to the retraining of skill deficits revealed in the evaluation We have attempted to edit a book that represents what we had hoped to find in the literature and could be used by professionals in clinical psychology clinical neuropsychology rehabilitation medicine physical therapy speech therapy and other disciplines that address rehabilitation of brain damaged adults a book that addresses assessment and rehabilitation issues and is sufficiently detailed to offer the reader a starting point in developing behavioral assessment and rehabilitation programs The book contains conceptual foundations reviews of research descriptions of successful rehabilitation programs and relatively detailed approaches to the retraining of specific skills A shift from an assessment based practice to one encompassing both prescriptive assessment and treatment has become a recognized transition in the neuropsychological literature and was best articulated in an article by Gerald Goldstein in March of 1979

Stonnington,2011-02-25 Many contemporary neuropsychology texts focus on neuropathology the description of specific tests and the differential diagnosis of central nervous system disorders However increasingly sophisticated neuroradiological techniques managed care factors and the growth of rehabilitation necessitates that rehabilitation professionals provide more functionally versus diagnostically useful evaluations to improve the neuropsychological functioning and community integration of persons with brain injuries or diseases This book aims to fill this gap and to provide an overview of standard neuropsychological treatment strategies for specific cognitive impairments that are identified on testing The new edition enhances this goal with three chapters outlining important recommendations services and issues for rehabilitation professionals Written by a team of experienced scientists and professionals the volume provides a universal taxonomy of neuropsychological abilities emphasizing relatively simple terms with a list of basic rehabilitation strategies to improve impairments identified in general cognitive domains Specific chapters are included on the neuropsychological remediation of memory attention language visual spatial skills and executive function impairments Each chapter proposes a taxonomy of relatively unitary cognitive constructs e g divided attention sustained attention focused attention lists tests which may be used to assess each cognitive construct and provides specific rehabilitation strategies to improve or accommodate the identified neuropsychological impairments The final chapters cover basic resources and issues of which the rehabilitation professional needs to be aware vocational rehabilitation disability determination and guardianship issues This new edition provides a wealth of useful information for family members rehabilitation professionals and others who work with persons with brain injury in improving the community functioning for those with brain dysfunction An accompanying website facilitates access to the resources and strategies from the book allowing the practitioner to cut and paste these recommendations into their clinical reports

Assessment Cheri Hoy, Noel Gregg, 1994 Clinical Application of Neuropsychological Test Batteries Charles J. Golden, Gerald Goldstein, Theresa M. Incagnoli, 2013-11-11 Clinical neuropsychology has become a field of major prominence during the past several years as well as a field of great complexity As a result of the extensive amount of activity that neuropsychology has experienced recently two major developments have emerged First several approaches have evolved regarding comprehensive neuro psychological assessment There are presently several standard test batteries in common use as well as an approach to assessment that does not make use of standard batteries but rather fits the evaluation accomplished to the particular diagnostic problems presented by the individual patient Second a great deal of specialization has emerged with assessment procedures developed for evaluation of specific types of neuropsychological deficit The purpose of this volume is to review these developments particularly with reference to their implications for application in clinical settings The history of this book s development is of particular interest Some years ago the Veterans Administration became concerned with developing an optimal method of neuropsychological assessment for its many health care related facilities Initially the problem was conceptualized in terms of whether the VA should encourage wider use of the long established Halstead Reitan Neuropsychological Test Battery HRB or promote more extensive use of the recently developed Luria Nebraska Neuropsychological Test Battery LNNB A conference was funded to bring together authorities in clinical neuropsychology to discuss this matter and present a series of papers to invited psychologists from various VA facilities

The Handbook of Language Assessment Across Modalities Tobias Haug, Wolfgang Mann, Ute Knoch, 2021-12-21 The identification of language problems and subsequent evaluation of interventions depend in part on the availability of useful and psychometrically robust assessments to determine the nature and severity of their problems and monitor progress The purpose of these assessments may be to measure a child's language proficiency that is how they perform relative to other children and whether they have the language level expected and needed for schooling or they may have a specifically clinical purpose to identify the occurrence and nature of a disorder The purpose of assessment is key to the aspects of language targeted in an assessment and the methods used to target these In the case of spoken English there are many language assessments ranging from broad language tests to more narrowly focused measures reflecting the complexity of the language system and its use

Adult Aphasia Jon Eisenson, 1984 Bilingualism and Language Disability (PLE: Psycholinguistics) Nick Miller, 2013-11-12 Society is becoming increasingly multi lingual and this presents monolingual professionals particularly those in special education and speech pathology with severe problems Is the language delay in a child from a bilingual environment a result of this background or is there a specific speech problem Is a child's poor performance in school due to his problems of coping with two languages or does he need remedial teaching Originally published in 1984 this book is not concerned with second language learning but with speech and learning difficulties in bilingual children as they are presented to remedial teachers psychologists and speech therapists To this end the first group of specially written articles deals with the patterns of language usage in bilingual communities and the social and psychological factors which shape these patterns with processes in normal bilingual language acquisition and with the relationship between cognitive development and growing up with two languages Management issues and methods involved in helping children with language problems are also tackled they include taking case histories family liaison counselling bilingual programmes mother tongue teaching curriculum development and the training of personnel to work in the bilingual bicultural field This book provided a great deal of practical help in a field that was relatively new at the time of writing and helped to enlighten readers on the issues involved and assist in crystalising thought and directing future research
