Evaluation Research In Education:

Research and Evaluation in Education and the Social Sciences Mary Lee Smith, Gene V. Glass, 1987 Mary Lee Smith is an American researcher and academic whose work spanned across fields from psychology to research methodology to education reform. She is a Regents Professor Emeritus of education policy and measurement statistics and research methodology at Arizona State University. Smith along with Gene Glass were known for their pioneering work in using meta analyses for reporting research outcomes. Smith attended the University of Colorado Boulder on a scholarship for her undergraduate studies. Going against advice to become a high school teacher, Smith returned to the University of Colorado Boulder to earn a PhD in counseling psychology. Following her doctorate, Smith joined the faculty at the University of Colorado in research methodology. There she worked closely with Gene Glass in incorporating meta analyses into research. Interviews conducted by Morton Hunt revealed that Smith worked along with Glass in locating the studies, constructing the sample, assessing the materials, coding and calculating effect sizes. Smith and Glass were later co-principal investigators on several important studies using meta analyses in psychology and together with Thomas Miller published the book Benefits of Psychotherapy in 1980. Later, Smith became a faculty member at Arizona State University where her research interests focused on school and education policy. She has published numerous publications on education policy and published the book Political Spectacle and the Fate of American Schools in 2003. Evaluation Research in Education William W. Cooley, Paul R. Lohnes, 1976-01-01 Education Research and Evaluation: For Policy and Practice? Robert G. Burgess, 2014-04-04 Much has been written on the styles, strategies and tactics associated with educational research and evaluation but relatively little on the social processes associated with the methodology. Few books consider the relationship of research and evaluation to policy and practice and this book opens up key debates in that field. It identifies through contributions from the USA and Britain some of the major processes involved, examines the problems of conducting research and evaluation and the ways in which they can be overcome and details case studies in which problems and processes are encountered. Probably of worldwide interest to students, researchers, academics, policy makers and practitioners, the authors present an examination of a range of different dimensions associated with educational research and evaluation conducted for policy and practice. International Handbook of Educational Evaluation T. Kellaghan, D.L. Stufflebeam, 2012-12-06 Thomas Kellaghan Educational Research Centre, St Patrick's College, Dublin, Ireland; Daniel L. Stufflebeam The Evaluation Center, Western Michigan University, MI, USA; Lori A. Wingate The Evaluation Center, Western Michigan University, MI, USA. Educational evaluation encompasses a wide array of activities including student assessment, measurement, testing, program evaluation, school personnel evaluation, school accreditation and curriculum evaluation. It occurs at all levels of education systems from the individual student evaluations carried out by class room teachers to evaluations of schools and districts to district wide program evaluations to national assessments to cross national comparisons of student achievement As in any area of scholarship and practice the field is constantly evolving as a result of advances in theory methodology and technology increasing globalization emerging needs and pressures and cross fertilization from other disciplines The beginning of a new century would seem an appropriate time to provide a portrait of the current state of the theory and practice of educational evaluation across the globe It is the purpose of this handbook to attempt to do this to sketch the international landscape of educational evaluation its conceptualizations practice methodology and background and the functions it serves The book's 43 chapters grouped in 10 sections provide detailed accounts of major components of the educational evaluation enterprise Together they provide a panoramic view of an evolving field
