Evaluation And The Federal Decision Maker:

Evaluation and the Federal Decision Maker Gerald L. Barkdoll, James Bernard Bell, 1989 Since earlier evaluating processes the evaluators have been actively exploring the client side of evaluation He has learned that understanding and managing the interpersonal organizational and political dimensions of the evaluation process are at least as important and difficult as understanding the analytical dimensions of evaluation methodology An Analysis of Federal Decision-making and Impact San Francisco Federal Executive Board. Oakland Task Force, 1968 Risk Evaluation and Management V.T. Covello, Joshua Menkes, J.L. Mumpower, 2012-12-06 Public attention has focused in recent years on an array of technological risks to health safety and the environment At the same time responsibilities for technological risk assessment evaluation and management have grown in both the public and private sectors because of a perceived need to anticipate prevent or reduce the risks inherent in modern society In attempting to meet these responsibilities legislative judicial regulatory and private sector institutions have had to deal with the extraordinarily complex problems of assessing and balancing risks costs and benefits The need to help society cope with technological risks has given rise to a new intellectual endeavor the social and behavioral study of issues in risk evaluation and risk management The scope and complexity of these analyses require a high degree of cooperative effort on the part of specialists from many fields Analyzing social and behavioral issues requires the efforts of political scientists sociologists decision analysts management scientists economists psychologists philosophers and policy analysts among others Risk assessment and risk management in regulatory decision-making United States. Presidential/Congressional Commission on Risk Assessment and Risk Management, 1997 Review of Monetary and Nonmonetary Valuation of Environmental Investments, 1995 A Risk-Characterization Framework for Decision-Making at the Food and Drug Administration Institute of Medicine, National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Environmental Studies and Toxicology, Committee on Ranking FDA Product Categories Based on Health Consequences, Phase II, 2011-06-26 With the responsibility to ensure the safety of food drugs and other products the U S Food and Drug Administration FDA faces decisions that may have public health consequences every day Often the decisions must be made quickly and on the basis of incomplete information FDA recognized that collecting and evaluating information on the risks posed by the regulated products in a systematic manner would aid in its decision making process Consequently FDA and the Department of Health and Human Services DHHS asked the National Research Council NRC to develop a conceptual model that could evaluate products or product categories that FDA regulates and provide information on the potential health consequences associated with them A Risk Characterization Framework for Decision Making at the Food and Drug Administration describes the proposed risk characterization framework that can be used to evaluate compare and communicate the public health consequences of decisions concerning a wide variety of products The framework presented in this report is intended to complement other risk based approaches that are in use and under development at FDA not replace them It provides a common language for describing potential public health consequences of decisions is designed to have wide applicability among all FDA centers and draws extensively on the well vetted risk literature to define the relevant health dimensions for decision making at the FDA The report illustrates the use of that framework with several case studies and provides conclusions and recommendations Compendium of HHS Evaluations and Relevant Other Studies HHS Policy Information Center (U.S.),1990 Regional Decision Making: New Strategies for Substate Districts United States. Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations,1973 Cost, Management, and Utilization of Human Resources Program Evaluation, 1977 United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Human Resources,1978 Encyclopedia of Decision Making and Decision Support Technologies Adam, Frederic,Humphreys, Patrick,2008-04-30 As effective organizational decision making is a major factor in a company s success a comprehensive account of current available research on the core concepts of the decision support agenda is in high demand by academicians and professionals Through 110 authoritative contributions by over 160 of the world s leading experts the Encyclopedia of Decision Making and Decision Support Technologies presents a critical mass of research on the most up to date research on human and computer support of managerial decision making including discussion on support of operational tactical and strategic decisions human vs computer system support structure individual and group decision making and multi criteria decision making Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports ,1976 Lists citations with abstracts for aerospace related reports obtained from world wide sources and announces documents that have recently been entered into the NASA Scientific and Technical Information Database Legislative Calendar United States. Congress. House. Committee on Rules,1994 Online Assessment and Measurement Mary Hricko,Scott L. Howell,2006-01-01 This book explores the development of online assessment and the way practitioners of online learning can modify their methodologies in the design development and delivery of their instruction to best accommodate their participants Provided by publisher Government Information Management Elliott R. Morss,2019-03-13 In this timely critique of federal procedures the authors identify the underlying causes of the current overload of information paper work in government and explain why the problem cannot be controlled until the causes are eliminated or neutralized Using a calculus they have developed for estimating the value and burden of federal information Management ,1970 Public Participation in Environmental Assessment and Decision Making National Research Council,Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Committee on the Human Dimensions of Global Change,Panel on Public Participation in Environmental Assessment and Decision Making,2008-11-07 Federal agencies have taken steps to include the public in a wide range of environmental decisions Although some form of public participation is often required by law agencies usually have broad discretion about the extent of that involvement Approaches vary widely from holding public information gathering meetings to forming advisory groups to actively including citizens in making and implementing decisions Proponents of public participation argue that those who must live with the outcome of an environmental decision should have some influence on it Critics maintain that public participation slows decision making and can lower its quality by including people unfamiliar with the science involved This book concludes that when done correctly public participation improves the quality of federal agencies decisions about the environment Well managed public involvement also increases the legitimacy of decisions in the eyes of those affected by them which makes it more likely that the decisions will be implemented effectively This book recommends that agencies recognize public participation as valuable to their objectives not just as a formality required by the law It details principles and approaches agencies can use to successfully involve the public Compendium of HHS Evaluations and Relevant Other Studies ,1990 Business
