Evaluation Of Very Sheltered Housing:

An Evaluation of Very Sheltered Housing Anthea Tinker, Great Britain. Department of the Environment, 1989 Very sheltered housing is the latest in a long line of special housing for elderly people Like many new initiatives it evolved from experiments in different parts of the country but up until now no evaluation of these innovative schemes had taken place This research a national survey followed by case studies of ten local authorities and ten housing associations was intended to find out whether very sheltered housing was a cost effective option for frail elderly people and one which they wanted With the expected growth in the number of very elderly people it is important to consider all new forms of housing provision

Sheltered Housing for the Elderly Alan Butler, Christine Oldman, John Greve, 2021-11-07 In the early 1980s the ten million people of retirement age in the UK figured prominently among the disadvantaged and deprived They were heavily over represented in sub standard housing and among those in most need of support from the personal social services One form of social provision which gained rapidly in popularity in the 1960s and 1970s was sheltered housing It was seen to combine housing with care provided support while fostering independence and gave scope for flexibility and experimentation in adapting schemes to local circumstances By the late 1970s hundreds of schemes were administered and they were occupied by half a million elderly tenants Sheltered housing was called the greatest breakthrough in the housing scene since the war Extravagant expectations were aroused and sheltered housing was regarded by some as the solution to all manner of complex problems Taking the country as a whole however relatively little was known about the numbers of schemes and where they were located who owned them and how they were managed the aims and assumptions of those who provided or advocated sheltered housing how the schemes functioned and whether they achieved what they were set up to do the role experience and attitudes of wardens what kinds of people lived in sheltered housing their history and how they became tenants their assessment of the scheme and much else The Leeds study on which this book is based originally published in 1983 was the most comprehensive and detailed to have been conducted into sheltered housing It evoked widespread interest in Britain and abroad at the time It sought to answer some of the important questions about the growth and proliferation of sheltered housing to evaluate sheltered housing from different points of view including those of tenants and to consider the scope for future development While sheltered housing is the focal topic of the book it should be viewed in the broader context of social policy administration professional practice and client experience The book describes in detail an innovatory and evolving form of social provision and in doing so illuminates the operation and impact of policy in action at several levels from the policy maker to the consumer from the organisation of policy to its object There was significant evidence from the study that many tenants were provided with a service which was not the one they sought or even needed but they were given what the agency happened to have or made available Among other topics the book examines sheltered housing as a response to or reflection of myths and prejudices about ageing It discusses whether elderly people should be compelled to move from familiar surroundings late in life and how they cope when they do move The usefulness or otherwise of alarm systems is assessed with conclusions that throw considerable doubt on their value or reliability The evolution and modifications taking place in sheltered housing are reported on and the scope for future initiatives is discussed Older People in Modern Society Anthea Tinker,2014-10-13 Older People in Modern Society is an established classic text in its field and through subsequent editions its reputation and that of its author has grown In this fourth and renamed edition Anthea Tinker synthesises and discusses a wide range of literature about older people drawing from fields such as medicine sociology and social policy and using primary source material to illustrate the text She also introduces a number of topics that have attained greater importance since publication of the third edition in 1992 for example continuing care and the abuse of older people Shelter and Service Issues for Aging Populations Leon A Pastalan,2014-01-09 Shelter and Service Issues for Aging Populations takes you for an inside look at what policies in Western Europe Canada and the United States have done to meet the housing and service needs of the elderly and the disabled and what policies have yet to accomplish As you learn about a wide range of cost effective and successful housing options such as congregate housing home equity conversions and homesharing you will learn about the challenges of providing responsive high quality housing and living arrangements to meet the needs of different populations As this insightful book reveals the psychosocial needs of elderly and disabled persons have often been neglected in efforts to provide appropriate physical accommodation and services and shelter are seldom coordinated to respond to the changes individuals experience Shelter and Service Issues for Aging Populations shows you how federal and state provincial governments nonprofit organizations and private groups have all implemented policies to create barrier free housing Yet at the same time most Western countries have not developed comprehensive grant and loan programs to allow the elderly and disabled to modify their homes As this book walks you through the problems that exist it shows you how policymakers architects social work practitioners and academics housing developers and community leaders can work together to improve housing conditions and services Along the way you will learn about the failure of health care systems to cover home modifications the Fair Housing Act Amendment stigmatizing effects of the elderly label in obtaining community accommodation differences between environmental needs of rural and urban seniors current patterns of housing and living arrangements of older Canadians the effects of demographic aging on the urban ecology the Abbeyfield model of congregate housing continuing care retirement communities aging in place Shelter and Service Issues for Aging Populations looks at the strengths and weaknesses of different approaches to housing and service provision to help housing policy specialists gerontologists social workers community leaders architects and housing developers find stronger more effective solutions for giving people the home environments they need Don t continue to supply inadequate housing to people with special needs Let this book inform you guide you and contribute to the shaping of important new housing and service policies

Inclusive Housing in an Ageing Society Sheila M. Peace,Caroline Holland,2001-10-24 This book is the first to bring together people from the worlds of architecture social science and housing studies to look at the future of living environments for an ageing society It uniquely moves beyond the issues of accommodation and care to look at the wider picture of how housing can reflect the social inclusion of people as they age Health Care Needs Assessment Dr. Andrew Stevens,2004 Providing vital updates this two volume set describes the central role and aim of health care needs assessment in the NHS health care reforms and explains the epidemiological approach to needs assessment and the effectiveness and availability of services Personal Response Systems Andrew S Dibner,2020-03-12 This important new book describes the origins developments and current status of personal response systems a new means for persons at risk who live alone to get help in case of emergency In Personal Response Systems experts from ten countries report on the status achievements and challenges involved in setting up distributing and operating personal response systems PRS Experienced authors from a variety of backgrounds describe the technology economics and social effects of PRS and its integration into existing health and housing programs Professionals who provide home health services will find important information about the most efficient and cost effective designs of personal response systems They will learn how to evaluate and recommend the most appropriate systems for their clients with the assistance of this valuable new book Research on the frequency and types of emergencies and the many psychological and social benefits to users of this new technology and their families are also discussed Personal Response Systems covers systems in a number of countries including Japan Israel Sweden New Zealand and Germany Authors representing universities social agencies and manufacturing plants provide a balanced thorough presentation of the subject These authors discuss the technology of personal response systems demographic trends how to set up a PRS in a community the integration of PRS into housing for the elderly and disabled benefits to consumers and health care systems the effects of PRS on family relationships emergencies best suited for PRS analysis of how future technology will expand the medical and protective functions of PRS Health care planners social workers physicians case managers housing developers and managers and others involved in caring for the elderly or disabled will find a valuable store of information in this comprehensive volume They will be able to evaluate more quickly the most appropriate PRS services for their clients and tenants Housing Frail Elders Jon Pynoos,Phoebe Liebig,1995 As the number of people over age 75 and especially over age 85 increases dramatically in the United States and other industrialized nations there is a growing need to create and adapt housing for this group of older more frail citizens Offering the first systematic comparative analysis of the subject Housing Frail Elders draws on the experiences of several countries to highlight effective approaches and propose directions for the future Chapters present information on housing in several countries Each is based on the same general outline of topics demographics current housing arrangements approaches to housing policy since World War II the relative effectiveness of policies and future directions Throughout the contributors emphasize the transferability of experience with programs and policies The Evolution of British Gerontology Miriam Bernard,Mo Ray,Jackie

Reynolds,2020-04-01 Half a century of UK gerontology research theory policy and practice are under the spotlight in this landmark critical review of the subject that places the country s achievements in an international context Drawing on the archives of the British Society of Gerontology and interviews with dozens of the most influential figures in the field it provides a comprehensive picture of key developments and issues and looks to the future to plot new directions in thinking This is the story of the remarkable progress of gerontology told through the eyes of those who have led it With Respect to Old Age Great Britain. Royal Commission on Long Term Care,1999 Homelessness Patricia Kennett,Alex Marsh,1999-09-15 Analysis that links the phenomenon of homelessness to wider debates about the changing social and economic environment remains relatively underdeveloped This important book brings together contemporary debates and empirical research in order to explore the nature experience and impact of social change in the context of risks and uncertainties Community Care for Older People Susan Tester,1996-03-06 This accessible textbook compares ways in which basic components of community care are funded organised and provided by governmental and non governmental agencies allowing practitioners and policy makers to learn from the experiences of their counterparts in Europe and North America What Works in Tackling Health Inequalities? Sheena Asthana,Joyce Halliday,2006 Establishing what works in health inequalities policy how and why this book gives evidence of key targets for intervention through a detailed exploration of lifetime pathways and processes that are found to give rise to health inequalities Homes For Third Age:Design Gde Neil Barker,Anne-Marie Nicholson,2003-09-02 First Published in 1998 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Housing ,1991 Intermediate and Continuing Care Brenda Roe,Roger Beech,2008-04-15 Intermediate care comprises strategies which allow early discharge from acute care prevent admission or re admission to acute care and avoid bed blocking in both acute and long term residential care It encompasses a range of short term options including rapid response hospital at home residential rehabilitation supported discharge and day rehabilitation Continuing Care is delivered on a long term basis in a variety of settings and often includes an element of rehabilitation Although these two types of care have distinct objectives they are interrelated as changes in the supply of one type of care may affect demands for the other In addition from a patient perspective intermediate and continuing care might be seen as part of the continuum of care options that are supplied to meet their needs This book argues for consideration of intermediate and continuing care as part of the care continuum that provides integrated care adopting whole system approaches This edited volume explores policy practice and current issues in intermediate and continuing care It will be of interest to all health and social care professionals involved in the provision and planning of care for older people It falls in three parts intermediate care continuing care and a shorter section on patient and public involvement and future directions Health Care Needs Assessment, First Series, Volume 2, Second Edition Andrew Stevens,James Raftery,Jonathan Mant,Sue Simpson,2018-12-14 Health care needs assessment provides information to plan negotiate and change services for the better and to improve health in other ways The first edition of this series established itself as a key source on health care needs for specific conditions supported by the Department of Health Now in its second edition it provides vital updates taking into account how health care has moved on and how the structure of the UK s health service has changed Each of the chapters follows the same structure each analysing its topic reviewing the incidence and prevalence the range of services available and the effectiveness of those services It describes the central role and aim of health care needs assessment in the NHS health care reforms and explains the epidemiological approach to needs assessment and its effectiveness Volume 1 includes diabetes mellitus renal disease stroke lower respiratory disease coronary heart disease colorectal cancer cancer of the lung osteoarthritis affecting the hip and knee cataract surgery and groin hernia Volume 2 includes varicose veins and venous ulcers benign prostatic hyperplasia severe mental illness Alzheimer s disease alcohol misuse drug misuse learning disabilities community child health services and contraception induced abortion and fertility services All health professionals including policy makers and shapers and those assessing quality of service will find this book an essential resource

Handbook of Program Evaluation for Social Work and Health Professionals Michael J. Smith,2010-01-21 Evaluation is crucial for determining the effectiveness of social programs and interventions In this nuts and bolts handbook social work and health care professionals are shown how evaluations should be done taking the intimidation and guesswork out of this essential task Current perspectives in social work and health practice such as the strengths perspective consumer empowerment empowerment evaluation and evidence based practice are linked to evaluation concepts throughout the book to emphasize their importance This book makes evaluation come alive with comprehensive examples of each different type of evaluation such as a strengths based needs assessment in a local community a needs assessment for Child Health Plus programs comprehensive program descriptions of HIV services and community services for the aged a model for goals and objectives in programs for people with mental illness a monitoring study of private practice social work and process evaluations of a Medicare advocacy program and a health advocacy program to explain advance directives Equal emphasis is given to both quantitative and qualitative data analysis with real examples that make statistics and concepts in qualitative analysis un intimidating By integrating both evaluation and research methods and assuming no previous knowledge of research this book makes an excellent reference for professionals working in social work and health settings who are now being called upon to conduct or supervise program evaluation and may need a refresher on research methods With a pragmatic approach that includes survey design data collection methods sampling analysis and report writing it is also an excellent text or classroom resource for students new to the field of program evaluation
