Bookmarks include a booklet titled Great is thy faithfulness by Clara Waterson being An account of just a few of the wonderful dealings of God with His servant Clara Waterson and a one page sheet titled Seminar on Maori affairs Plants, People, and Culture Michael J Balick, Paul Alan Cox, 2020-08-19 Is it possible that plants have shaped the very trajectory of human cultures Using riveting stories of fieldwork in remote villages two of the world's leading ethnobotanists argue that our past and our future are deeply intertwined with plants Creating massive sea craft from plants indigenous shipwrights spurred the navigation of the world's oceans Today indigenous agricultural innovations continue to feed clothe and heal the world's population One out of four prescription drugs for example were discovered from plants used by traditional healers Objects as common as baskets for winnowing or wooden boxes to store feathers were ornamented with traditional designs demonstrating the human ability to understand our environment and to perceive the cosmos Throughout the world the human body has been used as the ultimate canvas for plant based adornment as well as indelible design using tattoo inks Plants also garnered religious significance both as offerings to the gods and as a doorway into the other world Indigenous claims that plants themselves are sacred is leading to a startling reformulation of conservation The authors argue that conservation goals can best be achieved by learning from rather than opposing indigenous peoples and their beliefs KEY FEATURES An engrossing narrative that invites the reader to personally engage with the relationship between plants people and culture Full color illustrations throughout including many original photographs captured by the authors during fieldwork New to this edition Plants That Harm a chapter that examines the dangers of poisonous plants and the promise that their study holds for novel treatments for some of our most serious diseases including Alzheimer's and substance addiction Additional readings at the end of each chapter to encourage further exploration Boxed features on selected topics that offer further insight Provocative questions to facilitate group discussion Designed for the college classroom as well as for lay readers this update of Plants People and Culture entices the reader with firsthand stories of fieldwork spectacular illustrations and a deep respect for both indigenous peoples and the earth's natural heritage The Bradley Bibliography: Arboriculture-economic properties of woody plants Alfred Rehder, 1915 New Zealand Journal of Crop and Horticultural Science/Experimental Agriculture, 1992 The Rural Economy and Agriculture of Australia and New Zealand Robert Wallace, 1891 Economics of Regulation in Agriculture Floor Brouwer, 2012 This work debates and investigates the cross compliance system whereby farmers comply with certain standards relating to the environment food safety and animal and plant health The book discusses cross compliance in the context of existing standards on farm costs and the competitiveness of farm businesses Analysing the economics of regulation both within the internal market of the EU and the broader world market by examining a broad range of agricultural products This resource will be of value to agriculture and resource economists policy makers researchers and students in environment Contributions to New Zealand Botany William Lauder Lindsay, 1868 The Social Life of Materials Adam Drazin, Susanne Küchler, 2020-06-08 Materials play a central role in society Beyond the physical and chemical properties of materials their cultural properties have often been overlooked in anthropological studies finished products have been perceived as social yet the materials which comprise them are considered raw or natural The Social Life of Materials proposes a new perspective in this interdisciplinary field Diverting attention from the consumption of objects the book looks towards the properties of materials and how these exist through many transformations in a variety of cultural contexts Human societies have always worked with materials However the customs and traditions surrounding this differ according to the place the time and the material itself Whether or not the material is man made materials are defined by social intervention Today these constitute one of the most exciting areas of global scientific research and innovation harboring the potential to act as key vehicles of change in the world But this materials revolution has complex social implications Smart materials are designed to anticipate our actions and needs yet we are increasingly unable to apprehend the composite materials which comprise new products Bringing together ethnographic studies of cultures from around the world this collection explores the significance of materials by moving beyond questions of what may be created from them Instead the text argues that the materials themselves represent a shifting ground around which relationships identities and powers are constantly formed and dissolved in the act of making and remaking

New Zealand Journal of Crop and Horticultural Science/Experimental Agriculture ,1992      Australia, New Zealand, and the Pacific Donald S. Garden,2005-08-19 A fascinating study of the environmental history of Australia New Zealand and the islands of the Pacific from the time of the dinosaurs to the present day Of interest to students and academics alike this book provides a much needed synthesis of the recent literature on the environmental history of Australia and Oceania Part of ABC CLIO s Nature and Human Societies series this book maps out the key trends in the region s environmental history charting the creation of the Australian continent from the ancient land mass of Gondwanaland to the arrival of humans Especially fascinating are the chapters highlighting how successive waves of human migration created environmental havoc throughout the region leading to the collapse of the Easter Island civilization and the spread of nonindigenous flora and fauna From the controversies over the reasons why creatures such as the marsupial lion and the giant kangaroo became extinct to such contemporary problems as deforestation and global warming this book contains sobering lessons for us all
