Picturing the Past Rosemary Mitchell, 2000-07-13 This monograph is a wide ranging and sophisticated analysis of representations in text and image of the English past between 1830 and 1870 It consists of a series of inter related case studies of illustrated history books ranging from editions of David Humes History of England to W H Ainsworths The Tower of London 1840 It contributes to present debates on nationalism highlighting the complex and variable nature of cultural constructions of identity Simultaneously it offers an overall interpretation of historiographical change in early and mid Victorian Britain focusing in particular on the transition from picturesque reconstructions of the English past to the scientific approaches of the professional historian Genuinely interdisciplinary Picturing the Past presents new perspectives on traditional studies of Victorian historiography literature and illustration It explores relationships between text and image author illustrator and publisher in the production of illustrated historical texts often drawing on neglected material in publishers archives The tendency to analyse text and image fiction and non fiction popular and elite publications in isolation from each other is challenged in the interests of a more complex and nuanced portrait of the middle class Victorian historical consciousness

British Music and Literary Context Michael Allis, 2012 Despite several recent monographs editions and recordings devoted to the reassessment of British music in the late nineteenth and early twentieth century some negative perceptions still remain particularly a sense that British composers in this period somehow lacked literary credentials British Music and Literary Context counters this perception by showing that these composers displayed a real confidence and assurance in refiguring literary texts in their music The book explores how a literary context might offer modern audiences and listeners a way in to appreciate specific works that have traditionally been viewed as problematic Each chapter of this interdisciplinary study juxtaposes a British composer with a particular literary counterpart or genre Issues highlighted in the book include the vexed relationship between words and music the refiguring of literary narratives as musical structures and the ways in which musical settings or representations of literary texts might be seen as critical readings of those texts Anyone interested in nineteenth century British music literature and Victorian studies will enjoy this thought provoking and perceptive book
