Classical Black Nationalism Wilson J. Moses, 1996-02 Classical Black Nationalism traces the evolution of black nationalist thought through several phases from its proto nationalistic phase in the late 1700s through a hiatus in the 1830s through its flourishing in the 1850s its eventual eclipse in the 1870s and its resurgence in the Garvey movement of the 1920s Moses incorporates a wide range of black nationalist perspectives including African American capitalists Paul Cuffe and James Forten Robert Alexander Young from his Ethiopian Manifesto and more well known voices such as those of Marcus Garvey W E B Du Bois and others African Zion Edith Bruder, 2012-03-15 Over the last hundred years in Africa and the United States through a variety of religious encounters some black African societies adopted or perhaps rediscovered a Judaic religious identity African Zion grows out of a joined interest in these diversified encounters with Judaism their common substrata and divergences their exogenous or endogenous characteristics the entry or re entry of these people into the contemporary world as Jews and the necessity of reshaping the standard accounts of their collective experience In various loci the bonds with Judaism of black Jews were often forged in the harshest circumstances and grew out of experiences of slavery exile colonial subjugation political ethnic conflicts and apartheid For the African peoples who identify as Jews and with other Jews identification with biblical Israel assumes symbolical significance This book presents the way in which the religious identification of African American Jews and African black Jews real ideal or imaginary has been represented conceptualized and reconfigured over the last century or so These essays grow out of a concern to understand Black encounters with Judaism Jews and putative Hebrew Israelite origins and are intended to illuminate their developments in the medley of race ethnicity and religion of the African and African American religious experience They reflect the geographical and historic mosaic of black Judaism permeated as it is with different meanings both contemporary and historical Edward Wilmot Blyden Hollis R. Lynch, 1970-09-15 American Palestine Hilton Obenzinger, 2020-07-21 In the nineteenth century American tourists scholars evangelists writers and artists flocked to Palestine as part of a Holy Land mania Many saw America as a New Israel a modern nation chosen to do God's work on Earth and produced a rich variety of inspirational art and literature about their travels in the original promised land which was then part of Ottoman controlled Palestine In American Palestine Hilton Obenzinger explores two infidel texts in this tradition Herman Melville's Clarel A Poem and Pilgrimage to the Holy Land 1876 and Mark Twain's The Innocents Abroad or The New Pilgrims Progress 1869 As he shows these works undermined in very different ways conventional assumptions about America's divine mission In the darkly philosophical Clarel Melville found echoes of Palestine's apparent desolation and ruin in his own spiritual doubts and in America's materialism and corruption Twain's satiric travelogue by contrast mocked the romantic naiveté of Americans abroad noting the incongruity of a fantastic mob of Yanks in the Holy Land and contrasting their exalted notions of Palestine with its prosaic reality Obenzinger demonstrates however that Melville and Twain nevertheless shared many colonialist and orientalist assumptions of the day revealed most clearly in their ideas about Arabs Jews and Native Americans Combining keen literary and historical insights and careful attention to the context of other American writings about Palestine this book throws new light on the construction of American identity in the nineteenth century The Harvard Guide to African-American History Evelyn Brooks Higginbotham, 2001 This massive guide sponsored by the W E B Du Bois Institute for Afro American Research at Harvard University and compiled by renowned experts offers a compendium of information and interpretation on over 500 years of black experience in America

Black Marxism, Revised and Updated Third Edition Cedric J. Robinson, 2020-12-16 In this ambitious work first published in 1983 Cedric Robinson demonstrates that efforts to understand Black people s history of resistance solely through the prism of Marxist theory are incomplete and inaccurate Marxist analyses tend to presuppose European models of history and experience that downplay the significance of Black people and Black communities as agents of change and resistance Black radicalism Robinson argues must be linked to the traditions of Africa and the unique experiences of Blacks on Western continents and any analyses of African American history need to acknowledge this To illustrate his argument Robinson traces the emergence of Marxist ideology in Europe the resistance by Blacks in historically oppressive environments and the influence of both of these traditions on such important twentieth century Black radical thinkers as W E B Du Bois C L R James and Richard Wright This revised and updated third edition includes a new preface by Tiffany Willoughby Herard and a new foreword by Robin D G Kelley

Black Resettlement and the American Civil War Sebastian N. Page, 2021-01-28 Based on sweeping research in six languages Black Resettlement and the American Civil War offers the first comprehensive comparative account of nineteenth century America s greatest road not taken the mass resettlement of African Americans outside the United States Building on resurgent scholarly interest in the so called colonization movement the book goes beyond tired debates about colonization s place in the contest over slavery and beyond the familiar black destinations of Liberia Canada and Haiti Striding effortlessly from Pittsburgh to Panama Toronto to Trinidad and Lagos to Louisiana it synthesizes a wealth of individual state level and national considerations to reorient the field and set a new standard for Atlantic history Along the way it shows that what haunted politicians from Thomas Jefferson to Abraham Lincoln was not whether it was right to abolish slavery but whether it was safe to do so unless the races were separated

Reconstruction in a Globalizing World David Prior, 2018-01-02 As one of the most complexly divisive periods in American history Reconstruction has been the subject of a rich scholarship Historians have studied the period s racial views political maneuverings divisions between labor and capital debates about woman suffrage and of course its struggle between freed slaves and their former masters Yet on each of these fronts scholarship has attended overwhelmingly to the eastern United States especially the South thereby neglecting important transnational linkages This volume the first of its kind will examine Reconstruction's global connections and contexts in ways that while honoring the field's accomplishments move it beyond its southern focus The volume will bring together prominent and emerging scholars to showcase the deepening interplay between scholarships on Reconstruction and on America's place in world history Through these essays Reconstruction in a Globalizing World will engage two dynamic fields of study to the benefit of them both By demonstrating that the South and the eastern United States were connected to other parts of the globe in complex and important ways the volume will challenge scholars of Reconstruction to look outwards Likewise examining these same connections will compel transnationally minded scholars to reconsider Reconstruction as a pivotal era in the shaping of the United States relations with the rest of the world

Nationalism and African Intellectuals Toyin Falola, 2004 An examination of the attempt by Western educated African intellectuals to create a better Africa through connecting nationalism to knowledge from the anti colonial movement to the present day This book is about how African intellectuals influenced primarily by nationalism have addressed the inter related issues of power identity politics self assertion and autonomy for themselves and their continent from the mid nineteenth century onward Their major goal was to create a better Africa by connecting nationalism to knowledge The results have been mixed from the glorious euphoria of the success of anti colonial movements to the depressing circumstances of the African condition as we enter a new millennium As the intellectual elite is a creation of the Western formal school system the ideas it generated are also connected to the larger world of scholarship This world is in turn shaped by European contacts with Africa from the fifteenth century onward the politics of the Cold War and the subsequent collapse of the Soviet Union In essence Africa and its elite cannot be fully understood without also considering the West and changing global politics Neither can the academic and media contributions by non Africans be ignored as these also affect the ways that Africans think about themselves and their continent Nationalism and African Intellectuals examines intellectuals ambivalent relationships with the colonial apparatus and subsequent nation state formations the contradictions manifested within pan Africanism and nationalism and the relation of academic institutions and intellectual production to the state during the nationalism period and beyond Toyin Falola is the Jacob and Frances Sanger Mossiker Chair in the Humanities and University Distinguished Teaching Professor at the University of Texas at Austin

African American Settlements in West Africa A. Beyan, 2005-09-16 John Brown Russwurm and African American Settlement in West Africa examines Russwurm's intellectual accomplishments and significant contributions to the black civil rights movement in America from 1826-1829 and more significantly explores the essential characteristics that distinguished his thoughts and endeavours from other black leaders in America. Liberia and Maryland in Liberia. Not surprisingly the most controversial of Russwurm's ideas was his unwavering support of the American Colonization Society (ACS) and the Maryland State Colonization Society (MSCS) two organizations that most civil rights activists found racist and pro slavery. Beyan probes the social and intellectual sources underlying motives and the legacies of Russwurm's thoughts and endeavours all in an attempt to dissect why Russwurm acted and made the choices that he did.

The Wings of Ethiopia Wilson Jeremiah Moses, 1990 Destiny is Not a Matter of Chance Emma S. Etuk, 1989

In the introduction to his stirring work Emma Etuk relates The origins of these essays go back to my years at the seminary to the many lonely nights spent in my sixth floor efficiency room to many moments when I stayed up sleepless wondering about my destiny the destiny of my people Africans and Africans in the Diaspora and the relevance of God in the historical evolution of my people I frequently asked myself in those quiet moments and stillness of the night What is the destiny of the Africans and of Africans of the Diaspora on this planet Why did God create us Africans Why is he here on earth at this time in history What is his role in the systems of this universe From such quiet moments of reflection comes Destiny Is Not a Matter of Chance a powerful work that interweaves the writings of African American leaders such as Douglass Washington and Dubois with the work of contemporary African thinkers such as Nkrumah Senghor and Azikiwe to produce an original treatise on the nature of black destiny
