Crafting Sustainability in Luxury Textiles for a Zero-Waste Future Sadhna, Rajesh Kumar, E. Mokanaasri, 2025-05-31 In an era where environmental consciousness is rapidly becoming a priority the luxury textile industry stands at a crucial crossroads. As consumers increasingly demand products that not only offer elegance and opulence but also align with sustainable values luxury brands are facing a paradigm shift in their approach. This shift towards sustainability is not merely a trend but a fundamental reevaluation of the industry's practices driven by a growing awareness of the environmental impact of textile manufacturing and consumption. This contributed volume explores this transformative journey investigating how luxury and sustainability can harmoniously coexist to shape a future where opulence is synonymous with environmental stewardship. The book examines the intricate relationship between luxury textiles and sustainability offering insights analyses and practical solutions for crafting a zero waste future in the high end fashion industry. The book serves as a valuable resource for scholars practitioners and policymakers seeking to navigate the complexities of sustainable textile production while maintaining the essence of luxury and craftsmanship. Through a collaborative effort the work presented here sets the stage for a future where luxury textiles captivate the senses and inspire a profound sense of environmental responsibility paving the way toward a zero waste future in high end fashion.

Garments of Paradise Susan Elizabeth Ryan, 2014-06-13 A historical and critical view of wearable technologies that considers them as acts of communication in a social landscape. Wearable technology whether a Walkman in the 1970s an LED illuminated gown in the 2000s or Google Glass today makes the wearer visible in a technologically literate environment. Twenty years ago wearable technology reflected cultural preoccupations with cyborgs and augmented reality today it reflects our newer needs for mobility and connectedness. In this book Susan Elizabeth Ryan examines wearable technology as an evolving set of ideas and their contexts always with an eye on actual wearables on clothing dress and the histories and social relations they represent. She proposes that wearable technologies comprise a pragmatics of enhanced communication in a social landscape. Garments of paradise is a reference to wearable technology's promise of physical and mental enhancements. Ryan defines dress acts hybrid acts of communication in which the behavior of wearing is bound up with the materiality of garments and devices and focuses on the use of digital technology as part of such systems of meaning. She connects the ideas of dress and technology historically in terms of major discourses of art and culture and in terms of mass media and media culture citing such thinkers as Giorgio Agamben Manuel De Landa and Gilles Deleuze and Félix Guattari. She examines the early history of wearable technology as it emerged in research labs the impact of ubiquitous and affective approaches to computing interaction design and the idea of wearable technology as a language of embodied technology and the influence of open source ideology. Finally she considers the future as wearing technologies becomes an increasingly naturalized aspect of our social behavior.

Fashioning the Afropolis Kerstin Pinther, Kristin

Kastner,Basile Ndjio,2022-07-14 A revelation Reclaiming fashion from its European history Shane White With a focus on sub Saharan Africa Fashioning the Afropolis provides a range of innovative perspectives on global fashion design dress photography and the body in some of the major cities with a focus on Lagos Johannesburg Dakar and Douala It contributes to the ongoing debates around the globalization of fashion and fashion theory by exploring fashion as a genuine urban phenomenon on the continent and among its diasporas To date fashion and city have not been systematically related to each other in the African context and for too long a western centric gaze has dominated scholarship resulting in the perception of Africa as provincial and its visual arts and textile cultures as static and folkloristic This perspective is all the more distorted given Africa s rich sartorial past With a huge number of tailors ready to adapt and renew clothing reshaping garments into contemporary styles and many cities in Africa becoming hot spots for a steadily growing and well connected scene of fashion designers in the past 20 years the time is ripe for a reevaluation and reconsideration of the fashionscapes of Africa Leading scholars offer an updated empirical and theoretical foundation on which to base new and exciting research on sub Saharan fashion challenging perceptions and offering new insights Textiles, Identity and Innovation: Design the Future
