Futures By Design The Practice Of Ecological Planning:

Futures by Design Doug Aberley, 1994 Preserving the Legacy Allen G. Noble, Frank J. Costa, 1999-01-01 Though only a relatively recent topic of worldwide discussion and interest the concept of sustainable development traces its origins to the late eighteenth century when concern for resource conservation and environmental integrity first arose From this beginning the concern for sustainable development progressively expanded from being purely local to having a regional and national relevance and finally to being a global concern of import Preserving the Legacy examines this expansion while discussing several general approaches to the understanding and application of the concept of sustainability Also discussed are such weighty issues as the balancing of development aspirations with environmental management in developing countries and the means by which residents in an urbanizing region in a developed country can be induced to consider sustainable development as both a goal and a limiting factor in the conversion of agricultural land Offering both real world examples of sustainability issues and a forecast for the future of sustainability theory and practice this fascinating volume will prove invaluable to scholars of the environment geography and urban planning Projecting Environmental Trends from Economic Forecasts Peter Meyer, Thomas Lyons, Tara Clapp, 2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2000 Sustainable development offers visions of the future but implementation of new sustainable policies seems slow This text presents a forecasting method directed to overcome some barriers to the implementation of more sustainable economic policy Using a case study the authors describe how economic and environmental forecasts can be developed that are relevant to the immediate concerns of policy makers and are more likely to lead to policy changes A combination of forecasting methods are shown to evaluate a range of current alternatives in the future Similar techniques have been used in developing countries but here the techniques are applied to an already industrialized economy Ecopolis Paul F. Downton, 2008-12-09 From 2008 for the first time in human history half of the world's population now live in cities Yet despite a wealth of literature on green architecture and planning there is to date no single book which draws together theory from the full range of disciplines from architecture planning and ecology which we must come to grips with if we are to design future cities which are genuinely sustainable Paul Downton's Ecopolis takes a major step along this path It highlights the urgent need to understand the role of cities as both agents of change and means of survival at a time when climate change has finally grabbed world attention and it provides a framework for designing cities that integrates knowledge both academic and practical from a range of relevant disciplines Identifying key theorists practitioners places and philosophies the book provides a solid theoretical context which introduces the concept of urban fractals and goes on to present a series of design and planning tools for achieving Sustainable Human Ecological Development SHED Combining knowledge from diverse fields to present a synthesis of urban ecology the book will provide a valuable resource for students researchers and practitioners in architecture construction planning geography and the traditional life sciences Asset Building & Community Development Gary

Paul Green, Anna Haines, 2012 Employing a broad definition of community development this book shows how asset building can help increase the capacity of residents to improve their quality of life It provides students and practitioners with theoretical and practical guidance on how to mobilize community capital physical human social financial environmental political and cultural to effect positive change Authors Gary Paul Green and Anna Haines show that development controlled by community based organizations provides a better match between these assets and the needs of the communities The Local Agenda 21 Planning Guide International Development Research Centre (Canada), International Council for Local Environmental Initiatives, 1996 Local Agenda 21 Planning Guide An introduction to sustainable development planning

Planning Canadian Regions Gerald Hodge, Ira M. Robinson, 2007-10-01 Planning Canadian Regions is the first book to consolidate the history evolution current practice and future prospects for regional planning in Canada As planners grapple with challenges wrought by globalization the evolution of massive new city regions and the pressures for sustainable and community economic development a deeper understanding of Canada s approaches is invaluable Hodge and Robinson identify the intellectual and conceptual foundations of regional planning and review the history and main modes of regional planning for rural regions economic development regions resource development regions and metropolitan and city regions They draw lessons from Canada s past experience and conclude by proposing a new paradigm addressing the needs of regional planning now and in the future emphasizing regional governance greater inclusiveness and integration of physical planning with planning for economic sustainability and natural ecosystems Planning Canadian Regions will be a much needed text for students and teachers of regional planning and an indispensable reference for planning practitioners It will also find a receptive audience in such disciplines as urban planning environmental studies geography political science public administration and economics

Preserving and Constructing Place Attachment in Europe Oana-Ramona Ilovan, Iwona Markuszewska, 2022-10-10 This book offers a variety of theoretical and methodological approaches to place attachment from a European perspective Starting from a dynamic relational and participatory concept of place attachment the book discusses place making and place attachment processes through place based development and community place driven actions It also presents examples of creating place attachment through nature and culture based contexts and focuses on how sustainable planning and territorial identities enhance place attachment Finally this book presents and discusses re constructing place attachment within transition processes and through strategic solutions for urban recovery and regeneration of post industrial areas By considering the social environmental economic and political effects of building strengthening and maintaining place attachment this book is a valuable read for all those working with and interested in learning more about place attachment geographers landscape planners sociologists psychologists environmental and political scientists and members of community movements

Future is Urban Utpal Sharma, Swati Kothary, Vibha Gajjar, 2024-06-07 Global concerns and local problems are increasing not only in urban areas but also in regions where the human impact is minimal The global consequences of exploiting and irreversibly utilising natural resources are becoming evident Climate change characterised by erratic weather patterns and global warming has become prevalent around the world This has resulted in the increased occurrence of many calamities such as floods droughts heat waves and other related disasters The efficacy of decision making processes determines the alternative methods for discovering solutions and ensuring readiness for future advancements These kinds of difficulties require profound contemplation and reflection on concepts from multiple viewpoints and necessitate engaging discussions By implementing nature based solutions NBS and blue and green infrastructure BGI it is possible to mitigate their occurrences and address concerns

Annual Conference Travel and Tourism Research Association (U.S.), 1997 Ecological Planning Forster Ndubisi, 2003-04-30 Chosen by Choice Magazine as an Outstanding Academic Title for 2003 Ecological planning is the process of understanding evaluating and providing options for the use of landscape to ensure a better fit with human habitation In this ambitious analysis Forster Ndubisi provides a succinct historical and comparative account of the various approaches to this process He then reveals how each of these approaches offers different and uniquely useful perspectives for understanding the dialogue between human and environmental processes Ndubisi begins by examining the philosophies behind and major contributors to ecological thinking during the past 150 years as well as the paradigm shift in planning that occurred in recent decades as a result of a growing global ecological awareness He then turns to landscape suitability analysis and discusses alternative approaches to ecological planning such as applied human ecology applied landscape ecology and others Finally he offers a comparative synthesis of the approaches in order to reveal the theoretical and methodological assumptions inherent when planners choose one approach over the other Ndubisi concludes that no one approach can by itself adequately address the whole spectrum of ecological planning issues For this reason he offers guidance as to when it may be appropriate for landscape architects and planners to emphasize one approach rather than another

Green Technologies: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools and Applications Management Association, Information Resources, 2011-03-31 Green Technologies Concepts Methodologies Tools and Applications assembles the most up to date collection of research results and recent discoveries in environmental and green technology This comprehensive anthology covers a wide range of topics in Interim Planning for a Future Strategic Highway Research Program Ann Margaret Brach, National Cooperative Highway Research Program, 2003 Town & Country Planning, 2003 Designs for the Future of Environmental Education John N. Warfield, 1981 Topics and Methods for Urban and Landscape Design Roberta Ingaramo, Angioletta Voghera, 2017-03-27 This book combines urban planning and architectural tools in an attempt to overcome the limitations of sectoral measures. In this perspective it offers a forum for the debate of different approaches used by schools of planning and architecture. It explores strategies by drawing from the potential contributions of cognitive models for decisions, the role of utopian thinking and retrofitting actions and their interconnectedness, the role of cultural legacy for urban and landscape design, the design perspectives about public spaces and the role of architecture design and urban and regional planning for landscape quality. The book also discusses on design as a process of decision making that operates as an act of empathy that aligns with human and ecological values, emotional, physical and socio-cultural. Each planning and design act has different possible effects able to help making clear strategic and local actions contributing to community empowerment and to landscape and local governance. Design activity along the river and multiple experiences design processes, urban fringe design, agri-urban models, river parks, UNESCO sites, River Contracts, greenbelts and ecological networks through reflection on design roles helping to understand the design process and its results at different scales. Roberta Ingaramo, architect PhD, is Assistant Professor in Architectural and Urban Design Department of Architecture and Design DAD Polytechnic University of Turin, Italy. Master in Conservation of Historic Towns and Buildings Katholieke Universiteit Belgium. roberta.ingaramo@polito.it Angioletta Voghera, architect PhD, is Associate Professor of Urban and Regional Planning, Inter-university Department of Urban and Regional Studies and Planning DIST Polytechnic University of Turin, Italy. angioletta.voghera@polito.it Architectural, Construction, Environmental and Digital Technologies for Future Cities Natalia Potienko, Elena Ahmedova, Antonina Karlina, Vladimir Faerman, 2022-04-27 This book offers an overview of Russian and international experience in developing the concept of future cities and its practical implementation. The concept of future cities is associated with several important trends. The first trend is the sustainable development of the urban environment and the implementation of eco-friendly technologies and materials in civil construction, industrial and power plants. The harmonious coexistence of the citizens with all forms of nature in the urban habitat becomes a great value. The second trend is the individualization of the aesthetical and architectural image of the future cities. The city's unique flavor based on the blending of the historical legacy and architectural traditions is now as important as the utility of the environment. The third trend is the digitalization of the urban environment with the use of state-of-the-art sensors, information and communication technologies and data science. The efficiency of operations and services achieved by the extensive use of complex IoT networks becomes a value as well. The last trend is the adaptation of the urban and social environment for individual demands of a community and a person. Individual comfort and safety are now more important than ever before. By addressing these trends the volume discusses local and international plans practices and technologies aimed at the development and implementation of future cities The Future of Sustainable Urban Planning Olubusayo Aina, 2025-09-08

The world is in the midst of an unprecedented transformation For the first time in history more people live in cities than in rural areas By 2050 nearly seven out of ten people will call an urban area home This massive demographic shift places cities at the very center of the global sustainability challenge They are engines of opportunity and innovation but also sites of inequality environmental stress and climate vulnerability As the climate crisis accelerates the stakes of urban planning have never been higher The choices made in city design infrastructure housing and governance will determine not only the quality of urban life but the health of the planet itself Will future cities deepen existing problems of sprawl congestion and carbon dependency or will they emerge as models of resilience equity and regeneration This book The Future of Sustainable Urban Planning explores this critical question It examines the principles practices and possibilities shaping the next generation of cities Moving from historical context to contemporary challenges from cutting edge innovations to speculative futures it offers a comprehensive guide to understanding how urban environments can transition toward sustainability
