Galaat Albahrain:

Life and Land Use on the Bahrain Islands Curtis E. Larsen, 1983 According to archeological and historical records the Bahrain Islands of the Arabian Gulf were the home of a flourishing civilization four thousand years ago Then as now these islands served as an important locus of maritime trade but they were also characterized as a land of copious artesian springs and fertile fields Modern Bahrain in contrast is beset by environmental and demographic problems the depletion of the artesian water supply abandonment of rural agricultural lands and rapid population growth In this exemplary interdisciplinary study Curtis E Larsen combines archeological geological historical and anthropological methods to reconstruct the paleoenvironmental and socioeconomic context that links Bahrain s present to its past The Burial

Mounds of Bahrain Flemming Højlund, 2007 Burial Mounds of Bahrain Social Complexity in Early Dilmun The Archaeology of Prehistoric Arabia Peter Magee, 2014-05-19 Encompassing a landmass greater than the rest of the Near East and Eastern Mediterranean combined the Arabian peninsula remains one of the last great unexplored regions of the ancient world This book provides the first extensive coverage of the archaeology of this region from c 9000 to 800 BC Peter Magee argues that a unique social system which relied on social cohesion and actively resisted the hierarchical structures of adjacent states emerged during the Neolithic and continued to contour society for millennia later The book also focuses on how the historical context in which Near Eastern archaeology was codified has led to a skewed understanding of the multiplicity of lifeways pursued by ancient peoples living throughout the Middle East Mortuary and Bioarchaeological

Perspectives on Bronze Age Arabia Kimberly D. Williams, Lesley A. Gregoricka, 2019-05-27 This volume brings together an international consortium of archaeologists and bioarchaeologists at the forefront of mortuary archaeology work across Arabia to examine continuity change in death and remembrance While mortuary archaeology and bioarchaeology contribute important perspectives to the interpretation of life death in ancient Arabia these subdisciplines are rarely brought together in this region and only recently have skeletal remains been recognized as a rich source of scientific data complementing burial context Such joint collaboration highlights the novel interdisciplinary perspective proposed in this volume resulting in a synthesis of new ideas and interpretations that will undoubtedly guide future archaeological endeavors in Arabia and beyond

Archaeozoology of the Near East Marjan Mashkour, Mark Beech, 2017-02-28 This two part volume brings together over 60 specialists to present 31 papers on the latest research into archaeozoology of the Near East The papers are wide ranging in terms of period and geographical coverage from Palaeolithic rock shelter assemblages in Syria to Byzantine remains in Palestine and from the Caucasus to Cyprus Papers are grouped into thematic sections examining patterns of Palaeolithic and Neolithic subsistence in northern Mesopotamia Anatolia and the Iranian plateau Palaeolithic to Neolithic faunal remains from Armenia animal exploitation in Bronze Age urban sites new evidence concerning pastoralism nomadism and mobility aspects of domestication and animal exploitation in the Arabian peninsula several case studies on ritual animal deposits and specific analyses of patterns of animal exploitation at urban sites in Turkey Palestine and Jordan This important collection of significant new work builds on the well established foundation of previous ICAZ publications to present the very latest results of archaeozoological research in the prehistory of this formative region in the development of animal exploitation

Remembering the Dead in the Ancient Near East Benjamin W. Porter,Alexis T. Boutin,2014-12-02 Remembering the Dead in the Ancient Near East is among the first comprehensive treatments to present the diverse ways in which ancient Near Eastern civilizations memorialized and honored their dead using mortuary rituals human skeletal remains and embodied identities as a window into the memory work of past societies In six case studies teams of researchers with different skillsets osteological analysis faunal analysis culture history and the analysis of written texts and artifact analysis integrate mortuary analysis with bioarchaeological techniques Drawing upon different kinds of data including human remains ceramics jewelry spatial analysis and faunal remains found in burial sites from across the region s societies the authors paint a robust and complex picture of death in the ancient Near East Demonstrating the still underexplored potential of bioarchaeological analysis in ancient societies Remembering the Dead in the Ancient Near East serves as a model for using multiple lines of evidence to reconstruct commemoration practices It will be of great interest to students and scholars of ancient Near Eastern and Egyptian societies the archaeology of death and burial bioarchaeology and human skeletal biology

The Biology of Sea Turtles, Volume II Peter L. Lutz,John A. Musick,Jeanette Wyneken,2002-12-17 The success of the first volume of The Biology of Sea Turtles revealed a need for broad but comprehensive reviews of major recent advances in sea turtle biology Biology of Sea Turtles Volume II emphasizes practical aspects of biology that relate to sea turtle management and to changes in marine and coastal ecosystems These topics i

The Tropical Turn Sureshkumar Muthukumaran, 2023-03-21 This book chronicles the earliest histories of familiar tropical Asian crops in the ancient Middle East and the Mediterranean from rice and cotton to citrus and cucumbers Drawing on archaeological materials and textual sources in over seven ancient languages The Tropical Turn unravels the breathtaking anthropogenic peregrinations of these familiar crops from their homelands in tropical and subtropical Asia to the Middle East and the Mediterranean showing the significant impact South Asia had on the ecologies dietary habits and cultural identities of peoples across the ancient world In the process Sureshkumar Muthukumaran offers a fresh narrative history of human connectivity across Afro Eurasia from the Bronze Age to the late centuries BCE

The Oxford Handbook of the Hellenistic and Roman Near East Rubina Raja, 2025 The Near East during the Hellenistic and Roman periods has been studied for centuries This Handbook includes fifty chapters written by experts from a variety of disciplines archaeology including classical near eastern and Islamic ancient history anthropology art history data and network science epigraphy and historiography Together these chapters shed a fresh light on the vast regions that made up Hellenistic and later Roman Syria and the Near East The material and written evidence from the region is considered side by side with historical sources as well as scientific data coming out of archaeological science and network science and shows how new knowledge about the region can be brought to the forefront of current literature on the subject The dynamic volatile diverse and culturally rich regions that this volume focuses on have left an abundant cultural heritage and in many places these regions are under constant threat In this Handbook knowledge about the newest research on a myriad of these regions sites and locations is highlighted together with overviews of the centuries long history of research The Handbook is essential for students scholars and the archaeologically inclined reader and constitutes the definitive collection of current research in the field

The Ancient Indus Valley Jane R. McIntosh, 2007-11-12 This work is a revealing study of the enigmatic Indus civilization and how a rich repertoire of archaeological tools is being used to probe its puzzles The Ancient Indus Valley New Perspectives takes readers back to a civilization as complex as its contemporaries in Mesopotamia and Egypt one that covered a far larger region yet lasted a much briefer time less than a millennium and left few visible traces Researchers have tentatively reconstructed a model of Indus life based on limited material remains and despite its virtually indecipherable written record This volume describes what is known about the roots of Indus civilization in farming culture as well as its far flung trading network sophisticated crafts and architecture and surprisingly war free way of life Readers will get a glimpse of both a remarkable piece of the past and the extraordinary methods that have brought it back to life Encyclopedia of Prehistory Peter N. Peregrine, Melvin Ember, 2003-03-31 The Encyclopedia of Prehistory represents temporal dimension Major traditions are an attempt to provide basic information also defined by a somewhat different set of on all archaeologically known cultures sociocultural characteristics than are eth covering the entire globe and the entire nological cultures Major traditions are prehistory of humankind It is designed as defined based on common subsistence a tool to assist in doing comparative practices sociopolitical organization and research on the peoples of the past Most material industries but language ideology of the entries are written by the world s and kinship ties play little or no part in foremost experts on the particular areas their definition because they are virtually and lime periods unrecoverable from archaeological con The Encyclopedia is organized accord texts In contrast language ideology and ing to major traditions A major tradition kinship ties are central to defining ethno is defined as a group of populations sharing logical cultures similar subsistence practices technology There are three types of entries in the and forms of sociopolitical organization 01I Encyclopedia the major tradition entry The Archaeology of the Arabian Gulf Michael Rice, 2002-03-11 The archaeological remains in the Gulf area are astounding and still relatively unexplored Michael Rice has produced the first up to date book which encompasses all the recent work in the area He shows that the Gulf has been a major channel of commerce for millenia and that its ancient culture was rich and complex to be counted with its great contemporaries in Sumer Egypt and south west Persia Seals and Sealing in the Ancient World Marta Ameri, Sarah Kielt Costello, Gregg Jamison, Sarah Jarmer Scott, 2018-05-03 Studies of seals and sealing practices have traditionally investigated aspects of social political economic and ideological systems in ancient societies throughout the Old World Previously scholarship has focused on description and documentation chronology and dynastic histories administrative function iconography and style More recent studies have emphasized context production and use and increasingly identity gender and the social lives of seals their users and the artisans who produced them Using several methodological and theoretical perspectives this volume presents up to date research on seals that is comparative in scope and focus The cross cultural and interdisciplinary approach advances our understanding of the significance of an important class of material culture of the ancient world The volume will serve as an essential resource for scholars students and others interested in glyptic studies seal production and use and sealing practices in the Ancient Near East Egypt Ancient South Asia and the Aegean during the 4th 2nd Millennia BCE Danish Archaeological Investigations on Failaka, Kuwait, Failaka/Dilmun. The Second Millennium Settlements Ann Andersson, 2022-08-01 Excavations in 1958 1963 on the island of Failaka in Kuwait uncovered a small community of Dilmun traders from the second millennium BC Prominent among the finds were 629 beads most of them made of semi precious stone such as different varieties of chalcedony agate carnelian jasper and moss agate and quartz rock crystal milky quartz and smoky quartz and a range of other stone types such as calcite chlorite lapis lazuli turquoise and porphyry Additionally part of the beads was made of glass a new prestige material of the second millennium The study consists of a typology a classification of materials and an analysis of the dating and distribution of the beads Manufacturing techniques including perforation and use wear are also considered In a final discussion the bead corpus from Failaka is compared with similar material from contemporary sites on Failaka and in Bahrain along with some thoughts on connections and trade relations which may be inferred from the materials and forms in the bead assemblage The study proposes far reaching connections with the Indus in the east and the Aegean in the west

Ancient Plants and People Marco Madella, Carla Lancelotti, Manon Savard, 2014-12-11 Mangroves and rice six row brittle barley and einkorn wheat Ancient crops for prehistoric people What do they have in common All tell us about the lives and cultures of long ago as humans cultivated or collected these plants for food Exploring these and other important plants used for millennia by humans Ancient Plants and People presents a wide angle view of the current state of archaeobotanical research methods and theories Food has both a public and a private role and it permeates the life of all people in a society Food choice production and distribution probably represent the most complex indicators of social life and thus a study of foods consumed by ancient peoples reveals many clues about their lifestyles But in addition to yielding information about food production distribution preparation and consumption plant remains recovered from archaeological sites offer precious insights on past landscapes human adaptation to climate change and the relationship between human groups and their environment Revealing important aspects of past human societies these plant driven insights widen the spectrum of information available to archaeologists as we seek to understand our history as a biological and cultural species Often answers raise more questions As a result archaeobotanists are constantly pushed to reflect on the methodological and theoretical aspects of their discipline The contributors discuss timely methodological issues and engage in debates on a wide range of topics from plant utilization by hunter gatherers and agriculturalists to uses of ancient DNA Ancient Plants and People provides a global perspective on archaeobotanical research particularly on the sophisticated interplay between the use of plants and their social or environmental context
