Games Against Nature An Eco Cultural History Of The Nunu Of Equatorial Africa:

Games Against Nature Robert W. Harms, Robert Harms, 1987 Africa's equatorial rain forests cover an area roughly the size of continental Western Europe and yet the history of this area remains largely unexplored Robert Harms makes an important advance in this book toward recovering that history by telling the story of the Nunu who live in and around the swampy floodplains of the middle Zaire River A key element in Nunu history has been the small scale short distance migrations that continually led individuals and groups into new micro environments When an increasing population impinged upon the limits of available resources in the late eighteenth century a crisis characterized by drastic change and incessant conflict ensued The Nunu abandoned their ancestral estates to take up new forms of competition in river towns causing a conflict of identity which culminated in civil war in the 1960s

A Companion to Global Historical Thought Prasenjit Duara, Viren Murthy, Andrew Sartori, 2014-01-21 A COMPANION TO GLOBAL HISTORICAL THOUGHT A Companion to Global Historical Thought provides an overview of the development of historical thinking from the earliest times to the present directly addressing issues of historiography in a globalized context Questions concerning the global dissemination of historical writing and the relationship between historiography and other ways of representing the past have become important not only in the academic study of history but also in public arenas in many countries With contributions from leading international scholars the book considers the problem of the global in the multiplicity of traditions of narrating the past in the global dissemination of modern historical writing and of the global as a concept animating historical imaginations It explores the different intellectual approaches that have shaped the discipline of history and the challenges posed by modernity and globalization while illustrating the shifts in thinking about time and the emergence of historical thought Complementing A Companion to Western Historical Thought this book places non Western perspectives on historiography at the center of discussion helping scholars and students alike make sense of the discipline at the start of the twenty first century

The Lunda-Ndembu James Anthony Pritchett, 2001 Pritchett anthropology African studies Boston U presents an account of the Lunda Ndembu people of northwestern Zambia The text is based upon archaeological data travel accounts colonial field reports and the scholarly studies of others as well as his own field research conducted intermittently over the course of 14 years He contends that despite much cultural borrowing in recent decades the Lunda people have an image of themselves that is essentially unchanged He also reflects on continuity and change in Africa c Book News Inc

Accidents in History, 2020-01-29 There is now an extensive literature on the social and environmental consequences of living in the risk society Studies of trauma are also increasingly prominent But scant attention has been paid to perceptions of risk and danger in the past in particular to the history of accidents and the meanings of the accidental This collection of interdisciplinary essays addresses this lacuna providing a theoretically informed historical sociology of the accident and risk It explores the social and cultural contexts in which acts of God calamities catastrophes disasters injuries casualties and other category of mishaps were experienced conceptualized and responded to Drawing on the skills of British European and North American scholars Accidents in History combines philosophical sociological and ecological overviews with in depth historical case studies It spans the period from the eighteenth century to the present probing the epistemological social and political roots of the accidental The authors differentiate between industrial and other forms of injury trace the origins of the normalization of accidents and analyze the interactions and gendered discrepancies between domestic and non domestic mishaps They also investigate the medicalization of sudden injury and discuss the emergence of new socio medical and humanitarian discourses around the organization of relief for victims

Navigating African Maritime History Carina E. Ray, Jeremy Rich, 2017-10-18 This book is a collection of essays addressing multiple aspects of African maritime history in attempt to counter the lack of academic research that exists in comparison to other nations and continents and to assert the value of African topics to the global study of maritime history Each essay addresses African maritime history whilst also demonstrating an inextricable link to the global maritime stage The topics discussed include early human migration to Africa early European contact with Africa the role of West African maritime communities in the Atlantic slave trade New World slaveholders and the exploitation of African maritime skillsets the construction of Atlantic world racial discourses the rise and fall of colonial rule and African immigrant communities in Europe These essays cover maritime topics such as seafaring labour navigational technology swimming diving surfing plus political subjects that include colonisation decolonisation immigration and citizenship The book consists of eight essays and an introduction that evaluates the existing research into African maritime history It includes case studies from every major geographical part of the continent bar North Africa and covers the Early Modern period up to the twentieth century The purpose is not to provide a comprehensive chronological history but rather a diverse collection of topics across a range of periods and locations to reflect the wealth of maritime topics in the history of Africa and their global significance It concludes with a call for further research into non European maritime activity to deepen the global historiography

The Age of Revolutions in Global Context, c. 1760-1840 David Armitage, Sanjay Subrahmanyam, 2009-12-18 A distinguished international team of historians examines the dynamics of global and regional change in the late eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Providing uniquely broad coverage encompassing North and South America the Caribbean Europe Africa the Middle East South and Southeast Asia and China the chapters shed new light on this pivotal period of world history Offering fresh perspectives on The American French and Haitian Revolutions The break up of the Iberian empires The Napoleonic Wars The volume also presents ground breaking treatments of world history from an African perspective of South Asia s age of revolutions and of stability and instability in China The first truly global account of the causes and consequences of the transformative Age of Revolutions this collection presents a strikingly novel and comprehensive view of the revolutionary era as well as rich examples of global history in practice Ecological Imperialism Alfred W. Crosby, 2004-01-12 People of European descent form the bulk of the population in most of the temperate zones of the world North America Australia and New Zealand The military successes of European imperialism are easy to explain in many cases they were a matter of firearms against spears But as Alfred Crosby maintains in this highly original and fascinating book the Europeans displacement and replacement of the native peoples in the temperate zones was more a matter of biology than of military conquest European organisms had certain decisive advantages over their New World and Australian counterparts The spread of European disease flora and fauna went hand in hand with the growth of populations Consequently these imperialists became proprietors of the world s most important agricultural lands Now in a second edition with a new preface Crosby revisits his now classic work and again evaluates the global historical importance of European ecological expansion Nature's Economy Donald Worster, 1994-06-24 Nature s Economy is a wide ranging investigation of ecology s past first published in 1994 It traces the origins of the concept discusses the thinkers who have shaped it and shows how it in turn has shaped the modern perception of our place in nature Our view of the living world is a product of culture and the development of ecology since the eighteenth century has closely reflected society s changing concerns Donald Worster focuses on these dramatic shifts in outlook and on the individuals whose work has expressed and influenced society s point of view The book includes portraits of Linnaeus Gilbert White Darwin Thoreau and such key twentieth century ecologists as Rachel Carson Frederic Clements Aldo Leopold James Lovelock and Eugene Odum The Nature of Disaster in China Chris Courtney, 2018-02-15 In 1931 China suffered a catastrophic flood that claimed millions of lives This was neither a natural nor human made disaster Rather it was created by an interaction between the environment and society Regular inundation had long been an integral feature of the ecology and culture of the middle Yangzi yet by the modern era floods had become humanitarian catastrophes Courtney describes how the ecological and economic effects of the 1931 flood pulse caused widespread famine and epidemics He takes readers into the inundated streets of Wuhan describing the terrifying and disorientating sensory environment He explains why locals believed that an angry Dragon King was causing the flood and explores how Japanese invasion and war with the Communists inhibited both official relief efforts and refugee coping strategies This innovative study offers the first in depth analysis of the 1931 flood and charts the evolution of one of China s most persistent environmental problems South African AIDS Activism and Global Health Politics M. Mbali, 2013-03-29 South Africa has the world s largest number of people living with HIV This book offers a history of AIDS activism in South Africa from its origins in gay and anti apartheid activism to the formation and consolidation of the Treatment Action Campaign TAC including its central role in the global HIV treatment access movement Water Brings No Harm Matthew V. Bender, 2019-04-09 In Water Brings No Harm Matthew V Bender explores the history of community water management on Mount Kilimanjaro in Tanzania Kilimanjaro's Chagga speaking peoples have long managed water by employing diverse knowledge hydrological technological social cultural and political Since the 1850s they have encountered groups from beyond the mountain colonial officials missionaries settlers the independent Tanzanian state development agencies and climate scientists who have understood water differently Drawing on the concept of waterscapes a term that describes how people see water and how physical water resources intersect with their own beliefs needs and expectations Bender argues that water conflicts should be understood as struggles between competing forms of knowledge Water Brings No Harm encourages readers to think about the origins and interpretation of knowledge and development in Africa and the global south It also speaks to the current global water crisis proposing a new model for approaching sustainable water development worldwide

Rethinking South Africa's Past Christopher J. Lee, Andrew Offenburger, 2025-03-18 This book presents key historical scholarship published in Safundi from 1999 to 2024 tracing South Africa's past through approaches of comparative history transnational history and visual history in addition to addressing the importance of topics like gender labor and class dynamics as well as regional historiographies The first section of the book focuses on comparative history as a founding method for Safundi given the journal's origins in American and South African studies while also recalibrating this approach through a variety of topics cities biographies and practices of violence rather than nation states writ large Drawing upon innovative sources of evidence the second section moves beyond the comparative method to address transnational histories as a new narrative technique for storytelling and analysis Whether issues of education immigration or visiting musicians to South Africa these chapters demonstrate the importance of a post national approach for understanding the past The sections that follow fan out into other subject areas including the uses of visual history gender roles class cultures and environmental history all of which illuminate connections between South African history and other parts of the world This book will be an indispensable resource for scholars students activists and policymakers as well as those readers who are generally interested in understanding South Africa's complex history over the past several centuries

Bushmeat

Theodore Trefon, 2023-04-03 In much of Central Africa eating wildlife is seen as a normal desirable and common sense practice Almost all wild animals from the largest mammals to the smallest invertebrates are hunted traded and consumed providing vital income and nutrition for millions of people But as demand for bushmeat grows animal populations are being decimated directly impacting biodiversity local economies and public health Taking an interdisciplinary approach Bushmeat explores questions ranging from deforestation and conservation strategies to infectious diseases urban street food and law enforcement It explains how the popularity of wild meat consumption has spread from rural areas into major cities fuelled by rapid urbanisation poorly defined regulations and developing trade networks whether small scale and informal or commercial and politically connected While unsustainable hunting practices pose clear problems for wildlife conservation they also increase the risk of rural food insecurity and of new infectious diseases emerging as HIV Ebola and Covid 19 have shown But cultural attachment to wild meat and its dietary importance for many communities make the bushmeat crisis difficult to solve. Based on extensive interviews and a comprehensive review of secondary literature, Bushmeat presents a startling account of one of the Anthropocene's catastrophes in the making. The Histories of HIVs William H. Schneider, 2021-08-17. This new collection of essays on HIV viruses spans disciplines to topple popular narratives about the origins of the AIDS pandemic and the impact of the disease on public health policy. With a death toll in the tens of millions, the AIDS pandemic was one of the worst medical disasters of the past century. The disease was identified in 1981 at the height of miraculous postwar medical achievements including effective antibiotics, breakthrough advances in heart surgery and transplantations, and cheap safe vaccines. Smallpox had been eradicated just a few years earlier. Arriving as they did during this era of confidence in modern medicine, the HIV epidemics shook the public's faith in health science. Despite subsequent success in identifying, testing, and treating AIDS, the emergence of epidemics and outbreaks of Ebola, Zika, and the novel coronaviruses SARS and COVID-19 are stark reminders that such confidence in modern medicine is not likely to be restored until the emergence of these viruses is better understood. This collection combines the work of major social science and humanities scholars with that of virologists and epidemiologists to provide a broader understanding of the historical, social, and cultural circumstances that produced the pandemic. The authors argue that the emergence of the HIV viruses and their epidemic spread were not the result of a random mutation but rather broader new influences whose impact depended upon a combination of specific circumstances at different places and times. The viruses emerged and were transmitted according to population movement and urbanization, changes in sexual relations, new medical procedures, and war. In this way, the AIDS pandemic was not a chance natural occurrence but a human-made disaster. Essays by Ernest M. Drucker, Tamara Giles Vernick, Ch. Didier Gondola, Guillaume Lachenal, Amandine Lauro, Preston A. Marx, Stephanie Rupp, François Simon, Jorge Varanda. The Bulldozer in the Countryside Adam Rome, 2001-04-23. The concern today about suburban sprawl is not new. In the decades after World War II, the spread of tract house construction changed the nature of millions of acres of land, and a variety of Americans began to protest against the environmental costs of suburban development. By the mid-1960s, indeed, many of the critics were attempting to institutionalize an urban land ethic. The Bulldozer in the Countryside was the first scholarly work to analyze the successes and failures of the varied efforts to address the environmental consequences of suburban growth from 1945 to 1970. For scholars and students of American history, the book offers a compelling insight into two of the great stories of modern times: the mass migration to the suburbs and the rise of the environmental movement. The book also offers a valuable historical perspective for participants in contemporary debates about the alternatives to sprawl. A Country of Defiance Mark W. Deets, 2023-10-24. A historiographical analysis of human geography and a social history of nationalist separatism and cultural identity in southern Senegal. This book is a spatial history of the conflict in Casamance, the portion of Senegal located south of The Gambia. Mark W. Deets traces the origins of the conflict back to the start of the colonial period in a select group of contested spaces and places where the seeds of nationalism and separatism took root Each chapter examines the development of a different piece of the still unrealized Casamanais nation river rice field forest school and stadium Each of these locations forms a spatial discourse of grievance that transformed space into place rendering a separatist nation from the pieces where a particular Casamanais identity emerged However not every Casamanais identified with these spaces and places in the same way Many refused to tie their beloved culture and landscape to the project of separatism revealing a layer of counter mapping below that of the separatist leaders like Father Augustin Diamacoune Senghor and Mamadou Nkrumah San The Casamance conflict began on December 26 1982 After an oath taking ceremony in a sacred forest on the edge of Ziguinchor hundreds of separatists from the Movement of Democratic Forces of the Casamance MFDC marched into the town to remove the Senegalese flag in front of the regional governor's office and replace it with a white flag The marchers were met by gendarmes who quickly found themselves outnumbered Government surveillance arrests and interrogations followed into the next year when gendarmes went to the sacred forest to stop another MFDC meeting This time the separatists greeted the gendarmes with a burst of violence that left four dead their bodies mutilated Senegalese security responded with force driving the separatists armed only with improvised rifles bows and arrows and machetes into the forest The Casamance conflict continues to the present day so far having left more than five thousand dead four hundred killed or maimed by land mines and another eight hundred thousand living in a state of insecurity with limited possibility for economic development Ordinary Casamanais on the Casamance River in the rice fields in the forests in the schools and in the sports stadiums have demonstrated a diversity of opinions about the separatist project Whether by the Senegalese state or by the separatists these ordinary Casamanais have refused to be mapped They have made the Casamance a country of defiance

Afro-Catholic Festivals in the Americas Cécile Fromont, 2019-04-24 This volume demonstrates how from the beginning of the Atlantic slave trade enslaved and free Africans in the Americas used Catholicism and Christian derived celebrations as spaces for autonomous cultural expression social organization and political empowerment Their appropriation of Catholic based celebrations calls into question the long held idea that Africans and their descendants in the diaspora either resignedly accepted Christianity or else transformed its religious rituals into syncretic objects of stealthy resistance In cities and on plantations throughout the Americas men and women of African birth or descent staged mock battles against heathens elected Christian queens and kings with great pageantry and gathered in festive rituals to express their devotion to saints Many of these traditions endure in the twenty first century The contributors to this volume draw connections between these Afro Catholic festivals observed from North America to South America and the Caribbean and their precedents in the early modern kingdom of Kongo one of the main regions of origin of men and women enslaved in the New World This transatlantic perspective offers a useful counterpoint to the Yoruba focus prevailing in studies of African diasporic religions and reveals how Kongo infused Catholicism constituted a site for the formation of black Atlantic tradition

Afro Catholic Festivals in the Americas complicates the notion of Christianity as a European tool of domination and enhances our comprehension of the formation and trajectory of black religious culture on the American continent. It will be of great interest to scholars of African diaspora religion, Christianity, and performance. In addition to the editor, the contributors include Kevin Dawson, Jeroen Dewulf, Junia Ferreira Furtado, Michael Iyanaga, Dianne M. Stewart, Miguel A. Valerio, and Lisa Voigt.

Naming Colonialism Osumaka Likaka, 2009-12-08

What's in a name? As Osumaka Likaka argues in this illuminating study, the names that Congolese villagers gave to European colonizers reveal much about how Africans experienced and reacted to colonialism. The arrival of explorers, missionaries, administrators, and company agents allowed Africans to observe Westerners' physical appearances, behavior, and cultural practices at close range, often resulting in subtle yet trenchant critiques. By naming Europeans, Africans turned a universal practice into a local mnemonic system, recording and preserving the village's understanding of colonialism in the form of pithy verbal expressions that were easy to remember and transmit across localities, regions, and generations.
