Effective Classroom Teamwork:

Effective Classroom Teamwork Gary Thomas, 2002-03-11 The nature of classroom practice is undergoing change as more and more adults are being brought into classrooms in response to such trends as parental involvement and the integration of children with special educational needs. The parents, teachers, ancillary staff and support workers comprising these new groups probably fail to recognise themselves as teams but nonetheless they are characterised by the same stresses which mark teamwork in any other setting. This book is a guide to working together as an effective team designed to show that they are part of a team and employ strategies to minimise chances of failure. Gary Thomas identifies key areas of concern including poor communication, status barriers and inadequate role definition and offers guidelines for dealing with these stresses and tensions in teamwork.

Effective Classroom Teamwork Gary Thomas, 1992-01-01 A guide for parents, teachers, ancillary staff and support workers that work together as a team in the classroom designed to show that they can function together with great success if team members recognize that they are part of a team and employ strategies to minimize chances of failure.

Dyslexia-Successful Inclusion in the Secondary School Lindsay Peer, Gavin Reid, 2012-10-12 Increasingly dyslexia is becoming a whole school issue. The responsibility for addressing the needs of dyslexic students no longer rests with one individual but is the responsibility of all school staff, subject specialists and school management. This timely book addresses this need by providing specific guidance to secondary school staff on how to support dyslexic students within different subject areas and within the principles and practices of inclusion.

The Practical Guide to Special Educational Needs in Inclusive Primary Classrooms Richard Rose, Marie Howley, 2006-12-19 A well written and thought provoking book for teachers. It offers many ideas to improve inclusive practice in primary schools to the benefit of all pupils, not only those with additional or different learning needs. Special magazine. Written for newly qualified teachers and students approaching the end of their training courses, this practical and accessible text is an introduction to working with children of a range of abilities in inclusive primary classrooms. The book draws on recent research and innovation in the education of pupils with special educational needs to provide practical examples and advice on how to meet the challenges of developing effective teaching and learning in inclusive settings. Chapters cover becoming an inclusive teacher, pupils giving cause for concern, teaching and learning styles, creating inclusive classroom environments and teaching teams, learning from pupils, looking beyond school, developing further as a professional. With advice on building positive attitudes, developing specific teaching strategies and adapting a personalising teaching approach, the book helps teachers to build upon their earlier training in both practical and reflective ways. Richard Rose is Professor of Special and Inclusive Education and Director of the Centre for Special Needs Education and Research at University College Northampton. Marie Howley is senior lecturer in the Centre for Special Needs Education and Research at University College Northampton, teaching on both undergraduate and post graduate courses and in continuing professional development for teachers.

Maximising the Impact of Teaching Assistants Rob Webster,Anthony Russell,Peter Blatchford,2015-10-05

Teaching assistants are an integral part of classroom life yet pioneering research by the authors has shown schools are not making the most of this valued resource

Evidence shows the more support pupils receive from TAs the less academic progress they made

Yet the reason for this has little to do with TAs

It is decisions made about them by school leaders and teachers that best explain this provocative finding

The fully updated second edition of this book draws on the experiences of schools that have put this guidance into action via the Maximising the Impact of Teaching Assistants programme

Revised to reflect the latest research evidence and changes within education including the 2014 SEND Code of

Practice this book will help school leaders and teachers in primary and secondary settings to rethink the role purpose and contribution of TAs and add real value to what can be achieved in classrooms Setting out a field tested process structured around a coherent and empirically sound conceptual framework this book helps school leaders review reform and reenergise their TA workforce provides practical strategies to implement in the classroom illustrates key points with new case studies provides photocopiable templates and resources to support decision making and action Maximising the Impact of Teaching Assistants provides much needed and evidence informed guidance on how to unleash the huge potential of TAs and is essential reading for all school leaders

Transferring the Notion of Good Practice when Working with Pupils with Emotional, Behavioural and Social Difficulties in a Cypriot Educational Context Stella Tryfonos, 2014-11-19 Pupils with Social Emotional and Behaviour Difficulties often known as SEBD and EBD comprise a group of learners who present challenges to their educators and the educational system often working with these pupils can be challenging and stressful for their teachers as well as any professional involved In England research concerning the education and learning of pupils with SEBD has progressed considerably in the past three decades and good practice when working with pupils who present these difficulties has been widely investigated In Cyprus however it is not nearly so widely known about and has not been researched to any great extent This book explores the situation in the Cypriot education system and begins by expanding the reader's knowledge on developments on the education of those pupils whose behaviour raises challenges to the educational system and causes concerns to those involved The book is informed by research which was undertaken by the author in Cyprus and documents the views of educators and professionals on good practice It explores the microsystem of a school and will enrich the knowledge and understanding of those with personal and professional interests in working with these pupils to be ready to accommodate their needs The book also contributes to a better understanding of the nature of SEBD especially since the number of students presenting such difficulties in Cypriot primary education requires practitioners to be ready to provide the best practices possible
